U.S. Pilot Is Held By Eastern Reds

Washington Flier Forced To Bail Out; Held As Hostage

BERLIN (AP)—The East-West dispute over Berlin sharpened Friday with detention of a U.S. Army pilot by the East German Communists.

The capture of Lt. Richard Mackin of Washington, D.C., was belatedly acknowledged two days after he became lost on a flight near the East-West border and radioed he was having to bail out.

An East German official hinted the American might be used as a hostage to aid the satellite regime's drive for recognition by the Western powers. U.S. officials in Berlin at once made clear they would not negotiate with the East Germans.

Centers On Refusal

The explosive issue in the Berlin crisis centers on Western refusal to negotiate with the East Germans—even on the right of access to this isolated city 110 miles inside East Germany.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, in Berlin to rally the West Berliners against the Communist threat, declared that the United States, Britain and France would stick by their pledges to Berlin.

Aside from the promise to defend the city against attack, the Allies are committed to avoid any recognition of the East German regime.

After conferring with Adenauer and Foreign Minister Heinrich von Bretano, West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt said he told the Chancellor his administration will give a clear "no" to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal to make West Berlin a neutral, free city.

In London, the British Foreign Office disclosed Khrushchev had replied to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's note of Nov. 22 declaring Britain intended to stay put in Berlin. No details were disclosed but it was understood there was no change in Khrushchev's position.

Pravda Says Nothing

In Moscow, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said nothing could interfere with the Soviet plans for West Berlin. Pravda accused Adenauer of using the Berlin crisis in an attempt to get control of East Germany and called him "an inspirer of dangerous adventures in Europe."

In Bonn, political officers from the U.S., British and French embassies met with officials of the West German Foreign Office.

The capture of Mackin came at a time when the East Germans already were talking tough about their air space and declaring Western commercial airlines had no right to use it on flights to Berlin.

Rumors Float

Rumors floated around Berlin that two U.S. airliners were buzzed during the day by Communist jet fighters, but Western officials and airline spokesmen denied the reports.

Britain Deaths Jump In Fog

LONDON (AP) — Fog-bound Britain's pneumonia and bronchitis deaths jumped sharply in November, totaling 3,532 against 2,682 the year before.

But air pollution expert Dr. Ernest Williams said Friday he does not believe fog, which has now hit London for 28 days running, was mainly to blame. Wilkins explained the fog has lifted a little every day.

That gives the air time to clear of sulphur and other poisonous products. He said the sulphur content has in consequence shown no dangerous buildup as it did in 1952. That year the fog stayed down five days and 4,000 people died from its choking yellow fumes.

Thor Is Fired As Production Decision Nears

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The Air Force fired its 21st Thor intermediate range missile Friday night in the shadow of an impending Pentagon decision that may halt future production of the 1,500-mile range weapon.

The Thor lifted from its Cape launching pad at 7:41 p.m., e.s.t., rose slowly through light clouds and a few minutes later vanished into the Atlantic night on its research and development flight.

Strobe lights on the missile with several million candlepower began flashing seconds after the powerful missile lifted off with a fiery splash of exhaust. It entered a cloud bank about 10 seconds later, and a spectacular glow from the upward reflection of the Thor's flaming engines illuminated the dark Florida sky for miles.

The Thor was visible for a full three minutes before its engine exhausted its fuel in an apparently successful flight.

The stubby Air Force rocket may soon become a working part of America's first line of defenses in Europe. But military sources in Washington said this week the Defense Department may halt production of both the Thor and Jupiter intermediate range missiles as soon as present procurement contracts expire.

These sources said that in event of such a move, the nation would rely on the intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) to deliver a long-range nuclear punch in case of an all-out war.

Veteran Stunt Man Is Killed

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — Fred Kennedy, 43, character actor and movie stunt man for more than 25 years, was killed Friday when he fell from a horse in a final scene for "The Horse Soldiers."

Kennedy was dead when brought to a hospital.

He was supposed to fall from his horse and Constance Towers, the feminine lead in the picture, was supposed to run over and kiss him and climax a gag that ran through the picture.

Miss Towers leaned over Kennedy and saw he was gasping for breath.

He was given oxygen and rushed to the hospital.

Four Named To Arts Group

NEW YORK (AP) — Four new members were named Friday to the American Academy of Arts and Letters, the small honorary circle of some of the nation's outstanding artists, writers and composers.

The group is limited to 50.

The new members, whose election was announced by writer Mark Van Doren, the academy president, are: composer Samuel Barber, artist Charles Burchfield; theologian Reinhold Neibuhr, and poet William Carlos Williams.

Members of the academy are chosen for special distinction from a parent body, the 250-member National Institute of Arts and Letters. The new members will be inducted at ceremonies next May.

Ex-Con Shoots Self, Ends Siege Against Police

PRINEVILLE, Ore. (AP) — An ex-convict, who shouted to police that he never would go back to prison, chose death rather than surrender after a 10-hour siege.

Stanley Robinson, 27, shot and killed himself Friday at the home of his estranged wife, where he briefly had held his family and a policeman as captives.

Police said they thought Robinson was about to surrender when there was one shot—the only one fired in the night's siege — and Robinson died.

Robinson had permitted a prison psychologist, Wade Scott, to enter the house. Scott told police as he walked out that "It's all over." Policemen were closing in as Robinson killed himself.

The siege began when State Policeman Vern Boyer called at the Robinson home Thursday evening to serve a warrant on a bad check charge. Robinson had been released from Oregon State Prison on Oct. 31 after serving a year on a similar charge.

As Boyer entered the house, Robinson stepped out from behind a door, armed with a loaded and cocked rifle.

Boyer, Robinson's wife and four Robinson children, ranging in age from 5 to 11, were held captive for 30 minutes. Another policeman convinced Robinson he should release the family and Boyer.

Robinson's wife had filed for divorce while he was in prison. He was visiting at her home.

After the release of the six hostages, police began their vigil.

Heartsick Chicago Lays To Rest Innocent Victims Of School Fire

By MARGUERITE DAVIS

CHICAGO (UPI)—The children of Our Lady of the Angels, happy youngsters who looked up from their school desks into the face of death, were buried Friday.

On a cold, bright day when children should be dreaming of Christmas, the heartsick city of Chicago said goodbye to the 87 innocents who died with three nuns in the smoke and flames which swept Our Lady of the Angels School Monday.

Chicago's Archbishop Albert G. Meyer, assisted by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, celebrates a solemn requiem mass at a National Guard armory for 27 of the children.

Three nuns and five of the children were buried Thursday. The heartbroken parents of other children preferred to hold private services in parish churches dotted throughout the city's North and West sides.

The funeral processions crisscrossed each other in the afternoon sunshine. A stream of hearses took 22 of the little caskets to the Holy Innocents Shrine of the Queen of Heaven Cemetery, where two gaping holes awaited them. Others were buried in family plots.

The heartbreak of the dead children's goodbye was more than the living could bear.

Seven thousand persons gathered at the armory, center of the city's mourning which had been turned into a cathedral because no church was big enough.

Their grief was held in check during the requiem mass. But there was no staying the tears when, at the end, National Guardsmen began wheeling the little caskets to the hearses.

A chaplain would read off the name of a dead child and ask "will his family please rise?"

The parents, hard-working people, most of them, who had lived for their children, would stand up and follow their little boy or little girl's coffin as it was pushed down the aisle.

A 16-year-old boy, brother of a dead child, sobbed "why not me?"

Msgr. Joseph Cussen, pastor of the church and school for 22 years, stood in the center of the aisle and sprinkled each coffin with holy water as it passed. He seemed to want to comfort each parent individually. A priest said "it's as though he had lost 87 of his own children."

Newspaper reporters, trained by their profession to look on tragedy without feeling, were weeping Some could not telephone their stories to their offices immediately because their voices choked when they tried to speak.

The nuns and many of the surviving students of Our Lady of the Angels watched from their pews. They were dry-eyed for the most part, even though many of the children in their school had lost a brother or sister.

Several of the guardsmen, veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict, had to leave their posts. Their commander, Lt. Col. J. Ward Morrison, said "they just couldn't take it."

The prayers and ritual of the church appeared to have given some comfort to the sufferers.

To many in Chicago, it seemed that a long nightmare might finally be coming to an end.

Russia Backs U.S. Proposal On Radiation

UN Studies Report Of Scientists On Nuclear Testing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States and Russia got on the same side of the fence for a moment Friday and proposed the United Nations continue its study of the effects of atomic radiation on human beings.

The rare harmony came in the General Assembly's Main Political Committee which began Friday considering a report from scientists of 15 nations warning nuclear weapons tests create health hazards to "present and future populations."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin began his speech with a blast at the United States for its Pacific Ocean tests and for not agreeing to "immediate and unconditional cessation" of such tests as demanded by the Soviet Union.

"Nothing Objectionable"

But in the end Zorin said Russia found "nothing objectionable" in a draft resolution sponsored by the United States and 11 other countries and that his delegation would vote for it.

The West has insisted on a cheat-proof system of controls before agreeing to a nuclear test ban.

The committee of scientists, on which both East and West served, urged "cessation of contamination" by nuclear weapons explosions but it stopped short of demanding an outright ban on nuclear weapons tests. It decided this was a problem for politicians to decide, not scientists.

Calls For Help

The 12-power resolution would have the committee continue its work, in consultation with other related agencies, and it calls on governments to give what help they can.

U. S. Delegate James W. Barco pointed out there still were wide areas of uncertainty about the levels of atomic radiation and the effects of radiation on men because of the need of more research and more collection of radiation samples.

He said the committee's work already had contributed greatly to the international flow of information on radiation and the committee should continue its work.

Ingrid Regains Her Citizenship

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Actress Ingrid Bergman Friday regained the Swedish citizenship she forfeited eight years ago when she was married to Italian movie producer Roberto Rossellini.

A cabinet meeting presided over by King Gustav Adolf VI granted without discussion Miss Bergman's appeal to become a legal citizen of her native land.

Miss Bergman, whose marriage to Rossellini is in the process of annulment by Italian courts, was entitled to reinstatement under a 1951 law stating that Swedish women no longer would lose their citizenship by marrying foreigners.

The actress recently applied for a return of her citizenship after announcing that she planned to marry Swedish businessman Lars Schmidt. She and Schmidt presently are in Paris.

In Rome Friday, the Italian state prosecutor asked a court of appeals to summon Miss Bergman's first husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, to testify in proceedings on the annulment of her marraige to Rossellini in 1950.

$100,000 Suit Filed In Zoo Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $100,000 suit was filed against the government Friday for the death of a Canadian girl in the lions' cage at the National Zoo here last May 16.

Julie Ann Voght, 2½ years old, a visitor from Chilliwack, B. C., was fatally injured when a lion pulled her through the fence at the zoo.

The suit was brought by Margaret Rhinehart Hood of Washington, D.C., a great-aunt of the victim, as administratrix of the child's estate.

U.S. And Britain Differ On Veto

Delegates Draft Articles Of Treaty For Nuclear Weapons Control

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain differed Friday over the veto power which the Soviet Union demands in the proposed commission for policing a nuclear weapons test ban.

Delegates met in a drafting committee to work out the opening articles of a treaty for a controlled suspension of tests.

The three powers clearly have come to an understanding that the commission should permanently reflect their present predominant status in nuclear armaments. But they are split over details.

Others Excluded

The Soviet Union wants all other nations permanently excluded from membership. It also expects each of the Big Three nations to hold veto power over the control system.

The United States and Britain, which favor election of other nations as nonpermanent members, are united in their determination to oppose any Russian veto on inspection teams' movements and reports.

However, the British are sympathetic to the Russian demand for voting equality with the West so far as administrative questions, such as the organization's budget or the appointment of officials, are concerned.

Built-In Veto

The United States considers any voting parity system as giving the Russians a built-in veto. The U.S. delegation believes vetoes on operational or administrative questions to be equally dangerous.

Although details of the voting procedure have not yet been discussed in the conference, the British feel that none of the three powers can be denied a veto at the administrative level.

Felons' Cells Welded Shut

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Convicts who challenged the rule of Warden Frank Eyman were placed in isolation cells Friday in Arizona's venerable state prison.

The cell doors were welded shut until, Eyman said, the 46 rebellious prisoners "learn to behave."

A tough little guy with nerves of steel, Eyman personally led a group of 25 lawmen in an assault on barricades thrown up by the prisoners to rescue two hostage guards Thursday night.

"I thought I was going to have to kill 15 or 20," he said in an interview Friday. "I'm lucky I didn't."

The only casualty was Moises Adams, 33, serving time for statutory rape, who is recovering from a bullet wound in the back.

Unharmed by their experience were guards Calvin Hunt, 33, who came to Arizona from Winthrop, Maine, and Scott Wright, 30, formerly of Ardmore, Okla.

About 300 national guardsmen, deputies, police officers guards and civilian volunteers backed Eyman's move to end the uprising, which began about 8:30 p.m. By 11 p.m. all prisoners were back in their cells.

The riot broke out when Hunt, Wright and a third guard went to the isolation ward to bring a convict medicine. Hunt and Wright were seized. The third guard escaped.

Alabama Judge Defies Rights Group Subpena

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A belligerent Alabama judge Friday defied the Civil Rights Commission to make him surrender voter registration records in his custody.

Circuit Judge George Wallace at Clayton, Ala., threatened to jail any commission agent who tries to get possession of the impounded files for next week's hearing on Negro voting.

Protesting angrily that a subpoena issued by the commission for the voting records of two counties challenged the authority of his court, Wallace said emphatically that he will not answer the summons.

But he declined to say what he might do later if a federal judge orders him to produce the records. The commission can ask the Justice Department to cite a balky witness for contempt in federal court.

Civil Rights Commission officials in Washington declined immediate comment on Judge Wallace's statement.

Registration files dating back three years have been subpoenaed for Monday's hearing from each of the six Alabama counties where the commission is investigating complaints of racial discrimination.

Agents servng the papers in Barbour and Bullock counties found the records had been impounded by Wallace on petitions charging fraud in the registration of some voters and in attempts to register others.

So the commission wrote a new subpoena directed to Wallace and formally demanded the files from him.

Reistance of a less spectacular nature has come also from the other four counties — Dallas, Lowndes, Macon and Wilcox — where Negroes have filed complaints against registration officials.

Sicilian Tailor Hopes To Give Ike Vicuna Overcoat

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—A Sicilian tailor who gave Nikita Khrushchev a camel's hair overcoast last fall hopes now to give a blue vicuna overcoat to President Eisenhower.

Angelo Litrico — only lately aware of how vicuna figured in the Sherman Adams case — took off for New York with the costly coat and a grey cashmere golf jacket as a companion gift.

He plans to take them to Eisenhower after attending a meeting of the International Assn. of Clothing Designers in Chicago next week.

"I just wrote him a letter," Litrico said Friday.

(In Washington, the White House said it had no record of such a letter.)

It was only Thursday, he said, that he had heard of industrialist Bernard Goldfine's gift of a coat of the soft, superfine vicuna wool to Sherman Adams, the presidential assistant who resigned Sept. 22 after being accused of doing favors for Goldfine.

The tailor said he made the overcoat and golf jacket to measurements he obtained from photographs of the President.

The U.S. Embassy announced that it hadn't been consulted. Normally such gifts would be offered though the embassy, subject to White House approval.

Litrico gave Khrushchev the camel's hair overcoat, tailored to a 48-inch waistline, in September 1957 while visiting Moscow as a member of an Italian fashion delegation.

The Soviet leader liked it so much he later bought two Western-style wool overcoats and four suits from Litrico's establishment. The Soviet Embassy in Rome paid the bills.

Four-Stage Juno II To Skirt Moon

23-Inch Vehicle To Measure Band Of Space Radiation

By RICHARD F. ROPER

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A stately four-stage rocket named Juno II thundered off early Saturday in an Army attempt to skirt the moon and stab millions of miles into unexplored space with a 13-pound instrumented nose cone.

The 23-inch long probe vehicle also was designed to measure the intense band of radiation surrounding the earth, a hazard to manned space travel. But the Army hoped the little space voyager would hurtle past the moon and become the first man-made planet orbiting the sun.

The Army called on the same team of missile firing experts who put America's first satellite whirling into orbit around the earth to fire the Army's first try at a moon probe. Three Air Force efforts at a moon shot were not successful.

Peak Speed 24,900 MPH

All four stages of Juno II were to fire within about five minutes, imparting a peak speed of 24,900 miles an hour to the gold-coated probe package. This speed was considered sufficient to hurl the payload to the vicinity of the moon within about 33 hours.

The gleaming, solid-white and delicately-tapered rocket rose from its launching pad into a clear, star-lit Florida sky at 12:45 a.m. e.s.t. Trailing a white-hot cone of flame, it rose steadily, straight up for a full minute and a half before the flame turned to red and purple.

Visible For Brief Period

Three minutes later, watchers on the beach saw what appeared to be the burn-out of the first stage booster. The rocket, then whizzing at a steadily-increasing speed, continued to be visible for another two or three minutes.

Just before its gleam vanished among the stars, there was a faint flash that could have been the igniting of the later propellant stages.

The Air Force released an announcement immediately saying the vehicle had been launched.

An announcement saying whether all stages fired properly was held back for 30 minutes after the firing.

To ground observers along the beach—and there were hundreds strung out on the sand below the cape—the launching seemed to be perfect.

The Army fired Juno II exactly on its previously-planned schedule, indicating that there were apparently no major hitches or delays of any kind.

Complex Aiming Problem

Some idea of the complexity of the aiming problem involved in putting Pioneer III near the moon was the fact that the missile was fired from a platform—the earth—which is whirling at a speed of about 900 miles an hour at Cape Canaveral, aimed at a target that is moving about 2,390 miles an hour, and had to achieve a peak rocket velocity of more than 36,000 feet per second.

Bad Visibility Hampers Search

MADIRD (UPI) — Poor visility and heavy snows frustrated a joint Spanish-American search Friday for a Spanish airliner feared to have crashed in the Gredos Mountains west of Madrid with 21 persons aboard.

Spanish and American planes and Spanish ground parties suspended the search at nightfall with no clues to the disappearance of the four-engined craft. Authorities said the 16 passengers and five crew members all were Spanish.

The French-made Languedoc airliner, operated by Aviaco Airlines, disappeared over the snow-covered mountains Thursday while on a flight to Madrid from Vivo, a port on the Atlantic coast. It was presumed to have crashed about 100 miles west of here.

Old Wound Fatal

ONGAR, England (UPI) — Coroner H. H. Kenshole ruled Friday William G. Willeter, 68, died of pneumonia which was a direct consequence of a shell wound he rceeived fighting in France during World War I.

To many in Chicago, it seemed that a long nightmare might finally be coming to an end.

Russia Backs U.S. Proposal On Radiation

UN Studies Report Of Scientists On Nuclear Testing

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The United States and Russia got on the same side of the fence for a moment Friday and proposed the United Nations continue its study of the effects of atomic radiation on human beings.

The rare harmony came in the General Assembly's Main Political Committee which began Friday considering a report from scientists of 15 nations warning nuclear weapons tests create health hazards to "present and future populations."

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin began his speech with a blast at the United States for its Pacific Ocean tests and for not agreeing to "immediate and unconditional cessation" of such tests as demanded by the Soviet Union.

"Nothing Objectionable"

But in the end Zorin said Russia found "nothing objectionable" in a draft resolution sponsored by the United States and 11 other countries and that his delegation would vote for it.

The West has insisted on a cheat-proof system of controls before agreeing to a nuclear test ban.

The committee of scientists, on which both East and West served, urged "cessation of contamination" by nuclear weapons explosions but it stopped short of demanding an outright ban on nuclear weapons tests. It decided this was a problem for politicians to decide, not scientists.

Calls For Help

The 12-power resolution would have the committee continue its work, in consultation with other related agencies, and it calls on governments to give what help they can.

U. S. Delegate James W. Barco pointed out there still were wide areas of uncertainty about the levels of atomic radiation and the effects of radiation on men because of the need of more research and more collection of radiation samples.

He said the committee's work already had contributed greatly to the international flow of information on radiation and the committee should continue its work.

Ingrid Regains Her Citizenship

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Actress Ingrid Bergman Friday regained the Swedish citizenship she forfeited eight years ago when she was married to Italian movie producer Roberto Rossellini.

A cabinet meeting presided over by King Gustav Adolf VI granted without discussion Miss Bergman's appeal to become a legal citizen of her native land.

Miss Bergman, whose marriage to Rossellini is in the process of annulment by Italian courts, was entitled to reinstatement under a 1951 law stating that Swedish women no longer would lose their citizenship by marrying foreigners.

The actress recently applied for a return of her citizenship after announcing that she planned to marry Swedish businessman Lars Schmidt. She and Schmidt presently are in Paris.

In Rome Friday, the Italian state prosecutor asked a court of appeals to summon Miss Bergman's first husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, to testify in proceedings on the annulment of her marraige to Rossellini in 1950.

$100,000 Suit Filed In Zoo Death

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $100,000 suit was filed against the government Friday for the death of a Canadian girl in the lions' cage at the National Zoo here last May 16.

Julie Ann Voght, 2½ years old, a visitor from Chilliwack, B. C., was fatally injured when a lion pulled her through the fence at the zoo.

The suit was brought by Margaret Rhinehart Hood of Washington, D.C., a great-aunt of the victim, as administratrix of the child's estate.

U.S. And Britain Differ On Veto

Delegates Draft Articles Of Treaty For Nuclear Weapons Control

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Britain differed Friday over the veto power which the Soviet Union demands in the proposed commission for policing a nuclear weapons test ban.

Delegates met in a drafting committee to work out the opening articles of a treaty for a controlled suspension of tests.

The three powers clearly have come to an understanding that the commission should permanently reflect their present predominant status in nuclear armaments. But they are split over details.

Others Excluded

The Soviet Union wants all other nations permanently excluded from membership. It also expects each of the Big Three nations to hold veto power over the control system.

The United States and Britain, which favor election of other nations as nonpermanent members, are united in their determination to oppose any Russian veto on inspection teams' movements and reports.

However, the British are sympathetic to the Russian demand for voting equality with the West so far as administrative questions, such as the organization's budget or the appointment of officials, are concerned.

Built-In Veto

The United States considers any voting parity system as giving the Russians a built-in veto. The U.S. delegation believes vetoes on operational or administrative questions to be equally dangerous.

Although details of the voting procedure have not yet been discussed in the conference, the British feel that none of the three powers can be denied a veto at the administrative level.

Alabama Judge Defies Rights Group Subpena

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A belligerent Alabama judge Friday defied the Civil Rights Commission to make him surrender voter registration records in his custody.

Circuit Judge George Wallace at Clayton, Ala., threatened to jail any commission agent who tries to get possession of the impounded files for next week's hearing on Negro voting.

Protesting angrily that a subpoena issued by the commission for the voting records of two counties challenged the authority of his court, Wallace said emphatically that he will not answer the summons.

But he declined to say what he might do later if a federal judge orders him to produce the records. The commission can ask the Justice Department to cite a balky witness for contempt in federal court.

Civil Rights Commission officials in Washington declined immediate comment on Judge Wallace's statement.

Registration files dating back three years have been subpoenaed for Monday's hearing from each of the six Alabama counties where the commission is investigating complaints of racial discrimination.

Agents servng the papers in Barbour and Bullock counties found the records had been impounded by Wallace on petitions charging fraud in the registration of some voters and in attempts to register others.

So the commission wrote a new subpoena directed to Wallace and formally demanded the files from him.

Reistance of a less spectacular nature has come also from the other four counties — Dallas, Lowndes, Macon and Wilcox — where Negroes have filed complaints against registration officials.

Felons' Cells Welded Shut

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Convicts who challenged the rule of Warden Frank Eyman were placed in isolation cells Friday in Arizona's venerable state prison.

The cell doors were welded shut until, Eyman said, the 46 rebellious prisoners "learn to behave."

A tough little guy with nerves of steel, Eyman personally led a group of 25 lawmen in an assault on barricades thrown up by the prisoners to rescue two hostage guards Thursday night.

"I thought I was going to have to kill 15 or 20," he said in an interview Friday. "I'm lucky I didn't."

The only casualty was Moises Adams, 33, serving time for statutory rape, who is recovering from a bullet wound in the back.

Unharmed by their experience were guards Calvin Hunt, 33, who came to Arizona from Winthrop, Maine, and Scott Wright, 30, formerly of Ardmore, Okla.

About 300 national guardsmen, deputies, police officers guards and civilian volunteers backed Eyman's move to end the uprising, which began about 8:30 p.m. By 11 p.m. all prisoners were back in their cells.

The riot broke out when Hunt, Wright and a third guard went to the isolation ward to bring a convict medicine. Hunt and Wright were seized. The third guard escaped.

Sicilian Tailor Hopes To Give Ike Vicuna Overcoat

By EUGENE LEVIN

ROME (AP)—A Sicilian tailor who gave Nikita Khrushchev a camel's hair overcoast last fall hopes now to give a blue vicuna overcoat to President Eisenhower.

Angelo Litrico — only lately aware of how vicuna figured in the Sherman Adams case — took off for New York with the costly coat and a grey cashmere golf jacket as a companion gift.

He plans to take them to Eisenhower after attending a meeting of the International Assn. of Clothing Designers in Chicago next week.

"I just wrote him a letter," Litrico said Friday.

(In Washington, the White House said it had no record of such a letter.)

It was only Thursday, he said, that he had heard of industrialist Bernard Goldfine's gift of a coat of the soft, superfine vicuna wool to Sherman Adams, the presidential assistant who resigned Sept. 22 after being accused of doing favors for Goldfine.

The tailor said he made the overcoat and golf jacket to measurements he obtained from photographs of the President.

The U.S. Embassy announced that it hadn't been consulted. Normally such gifts would be offered though the embassy, subject to White House approval.

Litrico gave Khrushchev the camel's hair overcoat, tailored to a 48-inch waistline, in September 1957 while visiting Moscow as a member of an Italian fashion delegation.

The Soviet leader liked it so much he later bought two Western-style wool overcoats and four suits from Litrico's establishment. The Soviet Embassy in Rome paid the bills.

Four-Stage Juno II To Skirt Moon

By RICHARD F. ROPER

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—A stately four-stage rocket named Juno II thundered off early Saturday in an Army attempt to skirt the moon and stab millions of miles into unexplored space with a 13-pound instrumented nose cone.

The 23-inch long probe vehicle also was designed to measure the intense band of radiation surrounding the earth, a hazard to manned space travel. But the Army hoped the little space voyager would hurtle past the moon and become the first man-made planet orbiting the sun.

The Army called on the same team of missile firing experts who put America's first satellite whirling into orbit around the earth to fire the Army's first try at a moon probe. Three Air Force efforts at a moon shot were not successful.

Peak Speed 24,900 MPH

All four stages of Juno II were to fire within about five minutes, imparting a peak speed of 24,900 miles an hour to the gold-coated probe package. This speed was considered sufficient to hurl the payload to the vicinity of the moon within about 33 hours.

The gleaming, solid-white and delicately-tapered rocket rose from its launching pad into a clear, star-lit Florida sky at 12:45 a.m. e.s.t. Trailing a white-hot cone of flame, it rose steadily, straight up for a full minute and a half before the flame turned to red and purple.

Visible For Brief Period

Three minutes later, watchers on the beach saw what appeared to be the burn-out of the first stage booster. The rocket, then whizzing at a steadily-increasing speed, continued to be visible for another two or three minutes.

Just before its gleam vanished among the stars, there was a faint flash that could have been the igniting of the later propellant stages.

The Air Force released an announcement immediately saying the vehicle had been launched.

An announcement saying whether all stages fired properly was held back for 30 minutes after the firing.

To ground observers along the beach—and there were hundreds strung out on the sand below the cape—the launching seemed to be perfect.

The Army fired Juno II exactly on its previously-planned schedule, indicating that there were apparently no major hitches or delays of any kind.

Complex Aiming Problem

Some idea of the complexity of the aiming problem involved in putting Pioneer III near the moon was the fact that the missile was fired from a platform—the earth—which is whirling at a speed of about 900 miles an hour at Cape Canaveral, aimed at a target that is moving about 2,390 miles an hour, and had to achieve a peak rocket velocity of more than 36,000 feet per second.

Bad Visibility Hampers Search

MADIRD (UPI) — Poor visility and heavy snows frustrated a joint Spanish-American search Friday for a Spanish airliner feared to have crashed in the Gredos Mountains west of Madrid with 21 persons aboard.

Spanish and American planes and Spanish ground parties suspended the search at nightfall with no clues to the disappearance of the four-engined craft. Authorities said the 16 passengers and five crew members all were Spanish.

The French-made Languedoc airliner, operated by Aviaco Airlines, disappeared over the snow-covered mountains Thursday while on a flight to Madrid from Vivo, a port on the Atlantic coast. It was presumed to have crashed about 100 miles west of here.

Demos Reject Move To Oust Camille Gravel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Credentials Committee rejected 7-2 Friday night a move to oust Camille F. Gravel Jr. as Louisiana national committeeman.

In a decision reflecting national committee views on the explosive civil rights issue, the credentials group turned down a plea to seat Jett M. Talbot as Louisiana committeeman.

Previously the Louisiana State Committee had voted to oust Gravel because it contended he was out of step with Louisiana Democrats' opposition to integration. The state committee had chosen Talbot to succeed Gravel.

The credentials committee's decision, taken behind closed doors after a four-hour public hearing, was announced by Calvin Rawlings Jr., Utah national committeeman, and chairman of the group.

Rawlings declined to name the two who supported the move to oust Gravel. It was learned from other committee members, however, that the two who supported the seating of Talbot were Edgar A. Brown of South Carolina and Mrs. John Garland Pollard of Virginia.

Besides Rawlings, other committee members who voted to retain Gravel as a member of the national committee included Donald J. Mitchell of Iowa, Willa Mae Roberts of Missouri, Tracy S. McCraken of Wyoming, Mrs. U.D. Sawyer of New Mexico, Carmine De Sapio of New York and Elizabeth Stanton of Massachusetts.

Rawlings said the credentials group is drafting a report to be made to the national committee Saturday. At Saturday's session most Southern members are expected to vote against retaining Gravel as a member of the committee but the Louisiana member seems likely to get sufficient support from other sections to retain his post.

Opposing factions in the Louisiana battle traded charges of political murder in arguments before the credentials committee. Warnings were voiced that another party rupture may be in the making that could endanger Democratic victory chances in 1960.

Ill-concealed threats of a Southern rebellion were sounded mainly by Sam H. Jones, former Louisiana governor, who made no attempt to deny that he had not supported the Democratic presidential slates in 1948, 1952, and 1956.

Jones told the credentials committee that what is done here "may well be the signal that determines what the South does in 1960."

Boy 6, Killed By School Bus He Just Left

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A six-year-old Herald Harbor boy was fatally injured Thursday night when he was struck by a school bus from which he had alighted moments earlier.

Anne Arundel County police identified the victim as Jack Chavis.

The accident occurred a short distance from the boy's home.

Police have placed a technical charge of manslaughter against the bus driver, identified as Mathis Owens, 31, of Crownsville. He was released under $1,000 bond pending a hearing Dec. 12.

According to police, the boy darted into the path of the bus as it started off and began a left turn.

Star Wins Court Injunction To Bar Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Evening Star, hit by an American Newspaper Guild strike, won a court order Friday night barring the Guild from all acts of violence on its picket lines.

The Star went to court after it was able to print only a 14-page paper. Thursday it had 88 and it had planned on 84 pages Friday.

U.S. District Judge David A. Pine issued a temporary restraining order after hearing testimony that violence on the picket lines had kept mechanical employes from going to work.

The Star blamed the smallness of the paper on the unwillingness of some members of the mechanical unions to cross the Guild's lines.

Judge Pine's order, in addition to barring "all acts of violence" or threats of violence, stipulated that the pickets must not march so close together as to bar access to the Star's plant. Disregard of the order would be punishable as contempt of the court.

John H. Kauffmann, business manager of the Star, was asked about the chances of publishing Saturday. He said: "I am afraid we will not be able to do so."

A front page box in Friday's Star said:

"The abbreviated condition of Friday's Star is the result of the unwillingness of some members of the Star's mechanical unions to cross picket lines."

The Guild represents non-mechanical workers—reporters, photographers, copy editors and commercial workers. Guild members voted 104-46 early this morning to go on strike rather than accept the management's latest offer on wages and the length of the work week.

Harry Bacas, chairman of the Guild unit at the Star, said in a statement:

"The great majority of union employes in the mechanical departments have stayed outside the plant in protest against the company's refusal to grant the Guild contract conditions enjoyed by every other union at the Star."

The Star management said it had offered what it regards as a fair and liberal package of terms for a new contract in "an earnest effort to bring these negotiations to a successful conclusion."

Bacas said he had been assured that members of the Teamsters union would not cross Guild picket lines Saturday. The Teamsters deliver newsprint, which the Star needs to receive every day in order to publish. One load was delivered Friday.

When the strike began, the size of pay raises was the main thing in dispute.

Kerosene Stove Explodes, Fire Kills 10 People

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A kerosene stove exploded starting a flash fire which took the lives of nine children and an adult in a rural home Thursday night.

Two other adults and a child were injured in the holocaust. Firemen discovered them fleeing down a road crying for help. The child was reported in critical condition.

When firemen reached the two-story frame house, the roof had collapsed and the walls were nearly gone.

Fifteen Negroes, all related, lived in the house located in central Delaware about 15 miles from Dover. The home had neither electricity nor running water.

Five-year-old Valerie K. Wilson managed to stumble from the flaming house. She was in critical condition with burns over 60 per cent of her body. Her six brothers and sisters, aged 4 months to 9 years, perished in the blaze.

The other victims were Levie Cuyler, 5; William Archer, 12, an uncle of the Wilson children; Lydia Archer, 10 months, a cousin; and Margaret Bessix, about 22, a visitor from nearby Smyrna.

Woman, 82, "Dreaming" As She Awaits Wedding

SALISBURY (AP) — "I feel like it's a dream and I'll wake up and find it isn't so," Mrs. Oliver Cordrey said Friday.

She was referring to her marriage tomorrow to an old friend, William S. Davis.

Mrs. Cordrey is 82. She has been a widow for 28 years. Davis, a retired producer broker is 84 and has been a widower for three years.

An apartment fire in which the bride-to-be lost all her possessions two weeks ago is responsible for the happy occasion.

Davis heard about Mrs. Cordrey's plight. He informed a mutual friend he'd be glad to give her a home if she'd consider it. The word got to Mrs. Cordrey almost immediately.

"I thought about it, talked about it with my friends, and stayed awake all night," she said.

The next day she paid Davis a visit and "I decided to stay."

The couple, quite alert and in good health for their years, became engaged immediately and went quietly about planning for the ceremony.

The wedding will be tomorrow in Davis' home with the Rev. O. H. Connelly of nearby Pittsville officiating. The only witnesses will be the groom's brother, Tom Davis, and Mrs. Davis.

A quiet dinner for four will follow at a Salisbury hotel.

A honeymoon is out. Later, the couple plan an auto trip through Maryland's Eastern Shore. The bride will do the driving. His eyesight isn't too good, and he hasn't been behind the wheel in sometime.

Mrs. Cordrey has two children, both of whom are married. A daughter, Mrs. Shannon Nimms, lives in New York City. A son, Randall Cordrey, resides in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Davis' only child, a daughter, died five years ago.

La. Segregation Leader Arrested

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Louisiana segregation leader was arrested Friday by vice squad men who said he was living in a downtown hotel with a 16-year-old Maryland beauty.

Police Inspector W. P. Huston said Dale E. Birdsell, 37, of Baton Rouge, La., would be held without immediate charge for full investigation. He said Birdsell and the girl were registered as man and wife.

Huston said Birdsell told officers he is a segregationist publisher and had come to Memphis "to contact Ku Klux Klan members and strong segregationists."

The girl, whose identity was withheld, gave Harwood, Anne Arundel County, Md., as her hometown. She was turned over to juvenile court custody. Officers said her parents were en route here from Maryland.

Several suitcases full of race segregation literature were found in Birdsell's hotel room, Huston said.

Court Upholds Bank Robbers' Conviction

BALTIMORE (AP)—The conviction of two men for a $17,000 bank robbery in suburban Washington has been upheld by the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The opinion written by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff stated that evidence concerning a sawed off shotgun barrel was properly admitted. It also held that the trial before Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins last May was impartial and fair.

Seeking to overturn their convictions and 25-year jail sentences were Tyrus F. Jones, 28, of Capitol Heights, and Robert W. Princeler, 27, of Mount Rainier.

They were found guilty of abducting the teller of the Marlow Heights branch of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland from his Silver Spring home. While one gunman forced the teller to accompany him to the bank, another kept a gun on the man's wife.

Defense attorneys argued that part of a gun barrel found in a river and linked to a sawed off shotgun found in some woods was not properly admitted into evidence.

The appeals court termed it a "pertinent piece of evidence" along with other prosecution exhibits.

Attorneys filing the appeals action also contended the trial lawyers were incompetent. But the higher court found them to be "reputable members of the bar, skillful and exceptionally experienced in trial of criminal cases."

Crash Kills Truck Driver

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Mervin M. Clark, a Lancaster, Pa., truck driver, was killed Thursday night in a spectacular two semi-truck collision which resulted in a fire. The dead man's body was run over by a car.

The other driver, Shelby Ellerburg, 27, Postelle, Ark., was brought to an Iowa City hospital, where attendants said his condition was fair. He suffered numerous cuts and bruises.

State Highway Patrolman Lyle Hansen said both drivers were thrown out, and that this probably saved Ellerburg's life, because his truck cab caught fire. Nearby Riverside firemen extinguished the blaze, and there was no damage to the cargo of meat products.

Hansen said also that after Clark was thrown out his body was run over by a car driven by Robert Lilgedahl, 67, Columbus Junction, Iowa. Lilgedahl told Hansen he did not see Clark's body lying on the highway, and only heard the thump as his car hit something.

Service Station Operator Robbed, Shot By Hikers

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — An Arlington, Va., service station operator, shot in the abdomen and left arm, was found wandering on Route 71 near the Delaware-Maryland state line before dawn Friday.

Joseph T. Pollard, 48, is in critical condition in Wilmington Memorial Hospital. He told police he was robbed of $125, shot and dumped out by two hitchhikers whom he picked up near Fredericksburg, Va.

Pollard said he picked up the men yesterday afternoon while en route to North Carolina. They forced him to turn the car around and head north.

State Jobless Pay Increases

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland industries hired more workers last week and fewer persons filed claims for jobless pay benefits, but the change had "no economic significance," the Department of Employment Security reported Friday.

The total hired and the number out of work varied only slightly from the week ended Nov. 22, the department explained.

Director Robert B. Kimble noted in the report a substantial increase in the number actually drawing benefits. He said this was due to a seasonal decline in the food processing industry, which is shutting down later than usual after a good season.

The department said 32,563 filed compensation claims last week, a drop of 0.6 per cent from the 32,762 listed in the previous week. Of these, the department reported, 24,717 actually drew benefits, an increase of 3 per cent over the week ended Nov. 22.

Employers reported hiring and rehiring of 16,605 workers, up 0.9 per cent over the 16,465 of the previous week.

Woman Sought In Case Of 3 Suspended Cops

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Chief Wilbur C. Wade said Friday the Anne Arundel County police department is trying to locate a woman who may have some pertinent information in the case of three suspended officers.

One of those temporarily relieved of his duties is the chief's son, Warren Wade, 33. The others are Charles Mace, 42, and George Bartlett, 34.

Chief Wade announced the suspensions Friday. The men, relieved "until further notice," are accused of conduct unbecoming an officer.

They allegedly came to the station several months ago while intoxicated and acted in a disorderly manner. All were off duty at the time, said Wade.

The woman wanted for questioning was found intoxicated last Sept. 29 near a tavern on Hammonds Ferry Road. She was taken to a Baltimore hospital, released after an examination, and then brought to Ferndale police headquarters and booked as a "lodger."

The police chief said, after suspending the trio:

"I am deeply shocked and hurt about the whole thing. As chief of police, anything that hurts the department hurts me and everyone in it. The fact that all three officers were good policemen, and one of them my son, just makes it that much more difficult."

Ill-concealed threats of a Southern rebellion were sounded mainly by Sam H. Jones, former Louisiana governor, who made no attempt to deny that he had not supported the Democratic presidential slates in 1948, 1952, and 1956.

Jones told the credentials committee that what is done here "may well be the signal that determines what the South does in 1960."

The Louisiana row was the big item on Friday's agenda of a four-day Democratic get-together to draft plans and strategy looking to the 1960 presidential election.

Boy 6, Killed By School Bus He Just Left

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A six-year-old Herald Harbor boy was fatally injured Thursday night when he was struck by a school bus from which he had alighted moments earlier.

Anne Arundel County police identified the victim as Jack Chavis.

The accident occurred a short distance from the boy's home.

Police have placed a technical charge of manslaughter against the bus driver, identified as Mathis Owens, 31, of Crownsville. He was released under $1,000 bond pending a hearing Dec. 12.

According to police, the boy darted into the path of the bus as it started off and began a left turn.

Star Wins Court Injunction To Bar Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Evening Star, hit by an American Newspaper Guild strike, won a court order Friday night barring the Guild from all acts of violence on its picket lines.

The Star went to court after it was able to print only a 14-page paper. Thursday it had 88 and it had planned on 84 pages Friday.

U.S. District Judge David A. Pine issued a temporary restraining order after hearing testimony that violence on the picket lines had kept mechanical employes from going to work.

The Star blamed the smallness of the paper on the unwillingness of some members of the mechanical unions to cross the Guild's lines.

Judge Pine's order, in addition to barring "all acts of violence" or threats of violence, stipulated that the pickets must not march so close together as to bar access to the Star's plant. Disregard of the order would be punishable as contempt of the court.

John H. Kauffmann, business manager of the Star, was asked about the chances of publishing Saturday. He said: "I am afraid we will not be able to do so."

A front page box in Friday's Star said:

"The abbreviated condition of Friday's Star is the result of the unwillingness of some members of the Star's mechanical unions to cross picket lines."

The Guild represents non-mechanical workers—reporters, photographers, copy editors and commercial workers. Guild members voted 104-46 early this morning to go on strike rather than accept the management's latest offer on wages and the length of the work week.

Harry Bacas, chairman of the Guild unit at the Star, said in a statement:

"The great majority of union employes in the mechanical departments have stayed outside the plant in protest against the company's refusal to grant the Guild contract conditions enjoyed by every other union at the Star."

The Star management said it had offered what it regards as a fair and liberal package of terms for a new contract in "an earnest effort to bring these negotiations to a successful conclusion."

Bacas said he had been assured that members of the Teamsters union would not cross Guild picket lines Saturday. The Teamsters deliver newsprint, which the Star needs to receive every day in order to publish. One load was delivered Friday.

When the strike began, the size of pay raises was the main thing in dispute.

Kerosene Stove Explodes, Fire Kills 10 People

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A kerosene stove exploded starting a flash fire which took the lives of nine children and an adult in a rural home Thursday night.

Two other adults and a child were injured in the holocaust. Firemen discovered them fleeing down a road crying for help. The child was reported in critical condition.

When firemen reached the two-story frame house, the roof had collapsed and the walls were nearly gone.

Fifteen Negroes, all related, lived in the house located in central Delaware about 15 miles from Dover. The home had neither electricity nor running water.

Five-year-old Valerie K. Wilson managed to stumble from the flaming house. She was in critical condition with burns over 60 per cent of her body. Her six brothers and sisters, aged 4 months to 9 years, perished in the blaze.

The other victims were Levie Cuyler, 5; William Archer, 12, an uncle of the Wilson children; Lydia Archer, 10 months, a cousin; and Margaret Bessix, about 22, a visitor from nearby Smyrna.

Woman, 82, "Dreaming" As She Awaits Wedding

SALISBURY (AP) — "I feel like it's a dream and I'll wake up and find it isn't so," Mrs. Oliver Cordrey said Friday.

She was referring to her marriage tomorrow to an old friend, William S. Davis.

Mrs. Cordrey is 82. She has been a widow for 28 years. Davis, a retired producer broker is 84 and has been a widower for three years.

An apartment fire in which the bride-to-be lost all her possessions two weeks ago is responsible for the happy occasion.

Davis heard about Mrs. Cordrey's plight. He informed a mutual friend he'd be glad to give her a home if she'd consider it. The word got to Mrs. Cordrey almost immediately.

"I thought about it, talked about it with my friends, and stayed awake all night," she said.

The next day she paid Davis a visit and "I decided to stay."

The couple, quite alert and in good health for their years, became engaged immediately and went quietly about planning for the ceremony.

The wedding will be tomorrow in Davis' home with the Rev. O. H. Connelly of nearby Pittsville officiating. The only witnesses will be the groom's brother, Tom Davis, and Mrs. Davis.

A quiet dinner for four will follow at a Salisbury hotel.

A honeymoon is out. Later, the couple plan an auto trip through Maryland's Eastern Shore. The bride will do the driving. His eyesight isn't too good, and he hasn't been behind the wheel in sometime.

Mrs. Cordrey has two children, both of whom are married. A daughter, Mrs. Shannon Nimms, lives in New York City. A son, Randall Cordrey, resides in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Davis' only child, a daughter, died five years ago.

La. Segregation Leader Arrested

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Louisiana segregation leader was arrested Friday by vice squad men who said he was living in a downtown hotel with a 16-year-old Maryland beauty.

Police Inspector W. P. Huston said Dale E. Birdsell, 37, of Baton Rouge, La., would be held without immediate charge for full investigation. He said Birdsell and the girl were registered as man and wife.

Huston said Birdsell told officers he is a segregationist publisher and had come to Memphis "to contact Ku Klux Klan members and strong segregationists."

The girl, whose identity was withheld, gave Harwood, Anne Arundel County, Md., as her hometown. She was turned over to juvenile court custody. Officers said her parents were en route here from Maryland.

Several suitcases full of race segregation literature were found in Birdsell's hotel room, Huston said.

Court Upholds Bank Robbers' Conviction

BALTIMORE (AP)—The conviction of two men for a $17,000 bank robbery in suburban Washington has been upheld by the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The opinion written by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff stated that evidence concerning a sawed off shotgun barrel was properly admitted. It also held that the trial before Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins last May was impartial and fair.

Seeking to overturn their convictions and 25-year jail sentences were Tyrus F. Jones, 28, of Capitol Heights, and Robert W. Princeler, 27, of Mount Rainier.

They were found guilty of abducting the teller of the Marlow Heights branch of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland from his Silver Spring home. While one gunman forced the teller to accompany him to the bank, another kept a gun on the man's wife.

Defense attorneys argued that part of a gun barrel found in a river and linked to a sawed off shotgun found in some woods was not properly admitted into evidence.

The appeals court termed it a "pertinent piece of evidence" along with other prosecution exhibits.

Attorneys filing the appeals action also contended the trial lawyers were incompetent. But the higher court found them to be "reputable members of the bar, skillful and exceptionally experienced in trial of criminal cases."

Crash Kills Truck Driver

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Mervin M. Clark, a Lancaster, Pa., truck driver, was killed Thursday night in a spectacular two semi-truck collision which resulted in a fire. The dead man's body was run over by a car.

The other driver, Shelby Ellerburg, 27, Postelle, Ark., was brought to an Iowa City hospital, where attendants said his condition was fair. He suffered numerous cuts and bruises.

State Highway Patrolman Lyle Hansen said both drivers were thrown out, and that this probably saved Ellerburg's life, because his truck cab caught fire. Nearby Riverside firemen extinguished the blaze, and there was no damage to the cargo of meat products.

Hansen said also that after Clark was thrown out his body was run over by a car driven by Robert Lilgedahl, 67, Columbus Junction, Iowa. Lilgedahl told Hansen he did not see Clark's body lying on the highway, and only heard the thump as his car hit something.

Service Station Operator Robbed, Shot By Hikers

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — An Arlington, Va., service station operator, shot in the abdomen and left arm, was found wandering on Route 71 near the Delaware-Maryland state line before dawn Friday.

Joseph T. Pollard, 48, is in critical condition in Wilmington Memorial Hospital. He told police he was robbed of $125, shot and dumped out by two hitchhikers whom he picked up near Fredericksburg, Va.

Pollard said he picked up the men yesterday afternoon while en route to North Carolina. They forced him to turn the car around and head north.

State Jobless Pay Increases

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland industries hired more workers last week and fewer persons filed claims for jobless pay benefits, but the change had "no economic significance," the Department of Employment Security reported Friday.

The total hired and the number out of work varied only slightly from the week ended Nov. 22, the department explained.

Director Robert B. Kimble noted in the report a substantial increase in the number actually drawing benefits. He said this was due to a seasonal decline in the food processing industry, which is shutting down later than usual after a good season.

The department said 32,563 filed compensation claims last week, a drop of 0.6 per cent from the 32,762 listed in the previous week. Of these, the department reported, 24,717 actually drew benefits, an increase of 3 per cent over the week ended Nov. 22.

Employers reported hiring and rehiring of 16,605 workers, up 0.9 per cent over the 16,465 of the previous week.

Woman Sought In Case Of 3 Suspended Cops

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Chief Wilbur C. Wade said Friday the Anne Arundel County police department is trying to locate a woman who may have some pertinent information in the case of three suspended officers.

One of those temporarily relieved of his duties is the chief's son, Warren Wade, 33. The others are Charles Mace, 42, and George Bartlett, 34.

Chief Wade announced the suspensions Friday. The men, relieved "until further notice," are accused of conduct unbecoming an officer.

They allegedly came to the station several months ago while intoxicated and acted in a disorderly manner. All were off duty at the time, said Wade.

The woman wanted for questioning was found intoxicated last Sept. 29 near a tavern on Hammonds Ferry Road. She was taken to a Baltimore hospital, released after an examination, and then brought to Ferndale police headquarters and booked as a "lodger."

The police chief said, after suspending the trio:

"I am deeply shocked and hurt about the whole thing. As chief of police, anything that hurts the department hurts me and everyone in it. The fact that all three officers were good policemen, and one of them my son, just makes it that much more difficult."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Keep Your Spirits Soaring

Come the end of winter, will you be wan, woeful and wanting in desire to get the most out of life? Not if you take steps right now to preserve the vim, vigor and verve that you gained from your summer vacation and hours spent in the great outdoors! Don't let these precious qualities slide from you. This is the crucial moment. Plan now to embark on a program that will keep you at par and your spirits soaring.

See to it that you get your daily eight hours of sleep. See to it that you get your daily eight glasses of water. Walk outdoors at least fifteen minutes a day — and walk briskly so that you really get your circulation going. Breathe deeply during the entire period. If you can, do your walking when the sun is highest. Select a few exercises designed to trim your figure into the kind you'd most like to have. And start each morning with a brief workout with those exercises.

Now all of that is just plain common sense, isn't it? Certainly nothing that will tax your energy or force you to crowd your schedule in order to carry out the program.

Right along with this, make a little check of your eating habits. Check to make sure that you are getting all the vitamins you need. Are you getting your share of both yellow and green vegetables every day. Are you incorporating fruit in your daily diet? Getting your quota of calcium in skim milk or cottage cheese?

Most important of all, are you getting enough protein — the vital food needed by your body to rebuild and renew your cells that are being worn out and discarded daily?

Even though you are interested in reducing and doing some figure trimming and slimming, there's no excuse for not getting your daily quota of each of these foods. In fact, the best reducing diets are built right around them.

Remember that as you eat, sleep and exercise today. Don't allow yourself to drift into a faulty pattern of living. Don't just take the line of least resistance and live an unplanned kind of existence. Make each day contribute something to your beauty, vigor and enjoyment of life.

MONDAY: Make Your Popularity Last.

YOUR COLOR TYPE. Here's your personal colorscope, scientifically designed to determine just which colors keep you looking complexion-perfect and charming in dress. A copy of "Your Color Type," is on its way to you for 25c and a stamped, return envelope sent to "Secrets of Charm," c/o this paper.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Keep Your Spirits Soaring

Come the end of winter, will you be wan, woeful and wanting in desire to get the most out of life? Not if you take steps right now to preserve the vim, vigor and verve that you gained from your summer vacation and hours spent in the great outdoors! Don't let these precious qualities slide from you. This is the crucial moment. Plan now to embark on a program that will keep you at par and your spirits soaring.

See to it that you get your daily eight hours of sleep. See to it that you get your daily eight glasses of water. Walk outdoors at least fifteen minutes a day — and walk briskly so that you really get your circulation going. Breathe deeply during the entire period. If you can, do your walking when the sun is highest. Select a few exercises designed to trim your figure into the kind you'd most like to have. And start each morning with a brief workout with those exercises.

Now all of that is just plain common sense, isn't it? Certainly nothing that will tax your energy or force you to crowd your schedule in order to carry out the program.

Right along with this, make a little check of your eating habits. Check to make sure that you are getting all the vitamins you need. Are you getting your share of both yellow and green vegetables every day. Are you incorporating fruit in your daily diet? Getting your quota of calcium in skim milk or cottage cheese?

Most important of all, are you getting enough protein — the vital food needed by your body to rebuild and renew your cells that are being worn out and discarded daily?

Even though you are interested in reducing and doing some figure trimming and slimming, there's no excuse for not getting your daily quota of each of these foods. In fact, the best reducing diets are built right around them.

Remember that as you eat, sleep and exercise today. Don't allow yourself to drift into a faulty pattern of living. Don't just take the line of least resistance and live an unplanned kind of existence. Make each day contribute something to your beauty, vigor and enjoyment of life.

MONDAY: Make Your Popularity Last.

Demos Reject Move To Oust Camille Gravel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Credentials Committee rejected 7-2 Friday night a move to oust Camille F. Gravel Jr. as Louisiana national committeeman.

In a decision reflecting national committee views on the explosive civil rights issue, the credentials group turned down a plea to seat Jett M. Talbot as Louisiana committeeman.

Previously the Louisiana State Committee had voted to oust Gravel because it contended he was out of step with Louisiana Democrats' opposition to integration. The state committee had chosen Talbot to succeed Gravel.

The credentials committee's decision, taken behind closed doors after a four-hour public hearing, was announced by Calvin Rawlings Jr., Utah national committeeman, and chairman of the group.

Rawlings declined to name the two who supported the move to oust Gravel. It was learned from other committee members, however, that the two who supported the seating of Talbot were Edgar A. Brown of South Carolina and Mrs. John Garland Pollard of Virginia.

Besides Rawlings, other committee members who voted to retain Gravel as a member of the national committee included Donald J. Mitchell of Iowa, Willa Mae Roberts of Missouri, Tracy S. McCraken of Wyoming, Mrs. U.D. Sawyer of New Mexico, Carmine De Sapio of New York and Elizabeth Stanton of Massachusetts.

Rawlings said the credentials group is drafting a report to be made to the national committee Saturday. At Saturday's session most Southern members are expected to vote against retaining Gravel as a member of the committee but the Louisiana member seems likely to get sufficient support from other sections to retain his post.

Opposing factions in the Louisiana battle traded charges of political murder in arguments before the credentials committee. Warnings were voiced that another party rupture may be in the making that could endanger Democratic victory chances in 1960.

Ill-concealed threats of a Southern rebellion were sounded mainly by Sam H. Jones, former Louisiana governor, who made no attempt to deny that he had not supported the Democratic presidential slates in 1948, 1952, and 1956.

Jones told the credentials committee that what is done here "may well be the signal that determines what the South does in 1960."

The Louisiana row was the big item on Friday's agenda of a four-day Democratic get-together to draft plans and strategy looking to the 1960 presidential election.

Boy 6, Killed By School Bus He Just Left

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A six-year-old Herald Harbor boy was fatally injured Thursday night when he was struck by a school bus from which he had alighted moments earlier.

Anne Arundel County police identified the victim as Jack Chavis.

The accident occurred a short distance from the boy's home.

Police have placed a technical charge of manslaughter against the bus driver, identified as Mathis Owens, 31, of Crownsville. He was released under $1,000 bond pending a hearing Dec. 12.

According to police, the boy darted into the path of the bus as it started off and began a left turn.

Star Wins Court Injunction To Bar Violence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Evening Star, hit by an American Newspaper Guild strike, won a court order Friday night barring the Guild from all acts of violence on its picket lines.

The Star went to court after it was able to print only a 14-page paper. Thursday it had 88 and it had planned on 84 pages Friday.

U.S. District Judge David A. Pine issued a temporary restraining order after hearing testimony that violence on the picket lines had kept mechanical employes from going to work.

The Star blamed the smallness of the paper on the unwillingness of some members of the mechanical unions to cross the Guild's lines.

Judge Pine's order, in addition to barring "all acts of violence" or threats of violence, stipulated that the pickets must not march so close together as to bar access to the Star's plant. Disregard of the order would be punishable as contempt of the court.

John H. Kauffmann, business manager of the Star, was asked about the chances of publishing Saturday. He said: "I am afraid we will not be able to do so."

A front page box in Friday's Star said:

"The abbreviated condition of Friday's Star is the result of the unwillingness of some members of the Star's mechanical unions to cross picket lines."

The Guild represents non - mechanical workers—reporters, photographers, copy editors and commercial workers. Guild members voted 104-46 early this morning to go on strike rather than accept the management's latest offer on wages and the length of the work week.

Harry Bacas, chairman of the Guild unit at the Star, said in a statement:

"The great majority of union employes in the mechanical departments have stayed outside the plant in protest against the company's refusal to grant the Guild contract conditions enjoyed by every other union at the Star."

The Star management said it had offered what it regards as a fair and liberal package of terms for a new contract in "an earnest effort to bring these negotiations to a successful conclusion."

Bacas said he had been assured that members of the Teamsters union would not cross Guild picket lines Saturday. The Teamsters deliver newsprint, which the Star needs to receive every day in order to publish. One load was delivered Friday.

When the strike began, the size of pay raises was the main thing in dispute.

Kerosene Stove Explodes, Fire Kills 10 People

DOVER, Del. (AP)—A kerosene stove exploded starting a flash fire which took the lives of nine children and an adult in a rural home Thursday night.

Two other adults and a child were injured in the holocaust. Firemen discovered them fleeing down a road crying for help. The child was reported in critical condition.

When firemen reached the two-story frame house, the roof had collapsed and the walls were nearly gone.

Fifteen Negroes, all related, lived in the house located in central Delaware about 15 miles from Dover. The home had neither electricity nor running water.

Five-year-old Valerie K. Wilson managed to stumble from the flaming house. She was in critical condition with burns over 60 per cent of her body. Her six brothers and sisters, aged 4 months to 9 years, perished in the blaze.

The other victims were Levie Cuyler, 5; William Archer, 12, an uncle of the Wilson children; Lydia Archer, 10 months, a cousin; and Margaret Bessix, about 22, a visitor from nearby Smyrna.

Woman, 82, "Dreaming" As She Awaits Wedding

SALISBURY (AP) — "I feel like it's a dream and I'll wake up and find it isn't so," Mrs. Oliver Cordrey said Friday.

She was referring to her marriage tomorrow to an old friend, William S. Davis.

Mrs. Cordrey is 82. She has been a widow for 28 years. Davis, a retired producer broker is 84 and has been a widower for three years.

An apartment fire in which the bride-to-be lost all her possessions two weeks ago is responsible for the happy occasion.

Davis heard about Mrs. Cordrey's plight. He informed a mutual friend he'd be glad to give her a home if she'd consider it. The word got to Mrs. Cordrey almost immediately.

"I thought about it, talked about it with my friends, and stayed awake all night," she said.

The next day she paid Davis a visit and "I decided to stay."

The couple, quite alert and in good health for their years, became engaged immediately and went quietly about planning for the ceremony.

The wedding will be tomorrow in Davis' home with the Rev. O. H. Connelly of nearby Pittsville officiating. The only witnesses will be the groom's brother, Tom Davis, and Mrs. Davis.

A quiet dinner for four will follow at a Salisbury hotel.

A honeymoon is out. Later, the couple plan an auto trip through Maryland's Eastern Shore. The bride will do the driving. His eyesight isn't too good, and he hasn't been behind the wheel in some time.

Mrs. Cordrey has two children, both of whom are married. A daughter, Mrs. Shannon Nimms, lives in New York City. A son, Randall Cordrey, resides in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Davis' only child, a daughter, died five years ago.

La. Segregation Leader Arrested

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A Louisiana segregation leader was arrested Friday by vice squad men who said he was living in a downtown hotel with a 16-year-old Maryland beauty.

Police Inspector W. P. Huston said Dale E. Birdsell, 37, of Baton Rouge, La., would be held without immediate charge for full investigation. He said Birdsell and the girl were registered as man and wife.

Huston said Birdsell told officers he is a segregationist publisher and had come to Memphis "to contact Ku Klux Klan members and strong segregationists."

The girl, whose identity was withheld, gave Harwood, Anne Arundel County, Md., as her hometown. She was turned over to juvenile court custody. Officers said her parents were en route here from Maryland.

Several suitcases full of race segregation literature were found in Birdsell's hotel room, Huston said.

Court Upholds Bank Robbers' Conviction

BALTIMORE (AP)—The conviction of two men for a $17,000 bank robbery in suburban Washington has been upheld by the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The opinion written by Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff stated that evidence concerning a sawed off shotgun barrel was properly admitted. It also held that the trial before Federal Judge R. Dorsey Watkins last May was impartial and fair.

Seeking to overturn their convictions and 25-year jail sentences were Tyrus F. Jones, 28, of Capitol Heights, and Robert W. Princeler, 27, of Mount Rainier.

They were found guilty of abducting the teller of the Marlow Heights branch of the First National Bank of Southern Maryland from his Silver Spring home. While one gunman forced the teller to accompany him to the bank, another kept a gun on the man's wife.

Defense attorneys argued that part of a gun barrel found in a river and linked to a sawed off shotgun found in some woods was not properly admitted into evidence.

The appeals court termed it a "pertinent piece of evidence" along with other prosecution exhibits.

Attorneys filing the appeals action also contended the trial lawyers were incompetent. But the higher court found them to be "reputable members of the bar, skillful and exceptionally experienced in trial of criminal cases."

Crash Kills Truck Driver

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Mervin M. Clark, a Lancaster, Pa., truck driver, was killed Thursday night in a spectacular two semi-truck collision which resulted in a fire. The dead man's body was run over by a car .

The other driver, Shelby Ellerburg, 27, Postelle, Ark., was brought to an Iowa City hospital, where attendants said his condition was fair. He suffered numerous cuts and bruises.

State Highway Patrolman Lyle Hansen said both drivers were thrown out, and that this probably saved Ellerburg's life, because his truck cab caught fire. Nearby Riverside firemen extinguished the blaze, and there was no damage to the cargo of meat products.

Hansen said also that after Clark was thrown out his body was run over by a car driven by Robert Lilgedahl, 67, Columbus Junction, Iowa. Lilgedahl told Hansen he did not see Clark's body lying on the highway, and only heard the thump as his car hit something.

Service Station Operator Robbed, Shot By Hikers

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — An Arlington, Va., service station operator, shot in the abdomen and left arm, was found wandering on Route 71 near the Delaware-Maryland state line before dawn Friday.

Joseph T. Pollard, 48, is in critical condition in Wilmington Memorial Hospital. He told police he was robbed of $125, shot and dumped out by two hitchhikers whom he picked up near Fredericksburg, Va.

Pollard said he picked up the men yesterday afternoon while en route to North Carolina. They forced him to turn the car around and head north.

State Jobless Pay Increases

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland industries hired more workers last week and fewer persons filed claims for jobless pay benefits, but the change had "no economic significance," the Department of Employment Security reported Friday.

The total hired and the number out of work varied only slightly from the week ended Nov. 22, the department explained.

Director Robert B. Kimble noted in the report a substantial increase in the number actually drawing benefits. He said this was due to a seasonal decline in the food processing industry, which is shutting down later than usual after a good season.

The department said 32,563 filed compensation claims last week, a drop of 0.6 per cent from the 32,762 listed in the previous week. Of these, the department reported, 24,717 actually drew benefits, an increase of 3 per cent over the week ended Nov. 22.

Employers reported hiring and rehiring of 16,605 workers, up 0.9 per cent over the 16,465 of the previous week.

Woman Sought In Case Of 3 Suspended Cops

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Chief Wilbur C. Wade said Friday the Anne Arundel County police department is trying to locate a woman who may have some pertinent information in the case of three suspended officers.

One of those temporarily relieved of his duties is the chief's son, Warren Wade, 33. The others are Charles Mace, 42, and George Bartlett, 34.

Chief Wade announced the suspensions Friday. The men, relieved "until further notice," are accused of conduct unbecoming an officer.

They allegedly came to the station several months ago while intoxicated and acted in a disorderly manner. All were off duty at the time, said Wade.

The woman wanted for questioning was found intoxicated last Sept. 29 near a tavern on Hammonds Ferry Road. She was taken to a Baltimore hospital, released after an examination, and then brought to Ferndale police headquarters and booked as a "lodger."

The police chief said, after suspending the trio:

"I am deeply shocked and hurt about the whole thing. As chief of police, anything that hurts the department hurts me and everyone in it. The fact that all three officers were good policemen, and one of them my son, just makes it that much more difficult."

Demos Reject Move To Oust Camille Gravel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Credentials Committee rejected 7-2 Friday night a move to oust Camille F. Gravel Jr. as Louisiana national committeeman.

In a decision reflecting national committee views on the explosive civil rights issue, the credentials group turned down a plea to seat Jett M. Talbot as Louisiana committeeman.

Previously the Louisiana State Committee had voted to oust Gravel because it contended he was out of step with Louisiana Democrats' opposition to integration. The state committee had chosen Talbot to succeed Gravel.

The credentials committee's decision, taken behind closed doors after a four-hour public hearing, was announced by Calvin Rawlings Jr., Utah national committeeman, and chairman of the group.

Rawlings declined to name the two who supported the move to oust Gravel. It was learned from other committee members, however, that the two who supported the seating of Talbot were Edgar A. Brown of South Carolina and Mrs. John Garland Pollard of Virginia.

Besides Rawlings, other committee members who voted to retain Gravel as a member of the national committee included Donald J. Mitchell of Iowa, Willa Mae Roberts of Missouri, Tracy S. McCraken of Wyoming, Mrs. U.D. Sawyer of New Mexico, Carmine De Sapio of New York and Elizabeth Stanton of Massachusetts.

Rawlings said the credentials group is drafting a report to be made to the national committee Saturday. At Saturday's session most Southern members are expected to vote against retaining Gravel as a member of the committee but the Louisiana member seems likely to get sufficient support from other sections to retain his post.

Opposing factions in the Louisiana battle traded charges of political murder in arguments before the credentials committee. Warnings were voiced that another party rupture may be in the making that could endanger Democratic victory chances in 1960.

Ill-concealed threats of a Southern rebellion were sounded mainly by Sam H. Jones, former Louisiana governor, who made no attempt to deny that he had not supported the Democratic presidential slates in 1948, 1952, and 1956.

The total hired and the number out of work varied only slightly from the week ended Nov. 22, the department explained.

Director Robert B. Kimble noted in the report a substantial increase in the number actually drawing benefits. He said this was due to a seasonal decline in the food processing industry, which is shutting down later than usual after a good season.

The department said 32,563 filed compensation claims last week, a drop of 0.6 per cent from the 32,762 listed in the previous week. Of these, the department reported, 24,717 actually drew benefits, an increase of 3 per cent over the week ended Nov. 22.

Employers reported hiring and rehiring of 16,605 workers, up 0.9 per cent over the 16,465 of the previous week.

Woman Sought In Case Of 3 Suspended Cops

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Chief Wilbur C. Wade said Friday the Anne Arundel County police department is trying to locate a woman who may have some pertinent information in the case of three suspended officers.

One of those temporarily relieved of his duties is the chief's son, Warren Wade, 33. The others are Charles Mace, 42, and George Bartlett, 34.

Chief Wade announced the suspensions Friday. The men, relieved "until further notice," are accused of conduct unbecoming an officer.

They allegedly came to the station several months ago while intoxicated and acted in a disorderly manner. All were off duty at the time, said Wade.

The woman wanted for questioning was found intoxicated last Sept. 29 near a tavern on Hammonds Ferry Road. She was taken to a Baltimore hospital, released after an examination, and then brought to Ferndale police headquarters and booked as a "lodger."

The police chief said, after suspending the trio:

"I am deeply shocked and hurt about the whole thing. As chief of police, anything that hurts the department hurts me and everyone in it. The fact that all three officers were good policemen, and one of them my son, just makes it that much more difficult."

Secrets Of Charm

Keep Your Spirits Soaring

Come the end of winter, will you be wan, woeful and wanting in desire to get the most out of life? Not if you take steps right now to preserve the vim, vigor and verve that you gained from your summer vacation and hours spent in the great outdoors! Don't let these precious qualities slide from you. This is the crucial moment. Plan now to embark on a program that will keep you at par and your spirits soaring.

See to it that you get your daily eight hours of sleep. See to it that you get your daily eight glasses of water. Walk outdoors at least fifteen minutes a day — and walk briskly so that you really get your circulation going. Breathe deeply during the entire period. If you can, do your walking when the sun is highest. Select a few exercises designed to trim your figure into the kind you'd most like to have. And start each morning with a brief workout with those exercises.

Now all of that is just plain common sense, isn't it? Certainly nothing that will tax your energy or force you to crowd your schedule in order to carry out the program.

Right along with this, make a little check of your eating habits. Check to make sure that you are getting all the vitamins you need. Are you getting your share of both yellow and green vegetables every day. Are you incorporating fruit in your daily diet? Getting your quota of calcium in skim milk or cottage cheese?

Most important of all, are you getting enough protein — the vital food needed by your body to rebuild and renew your cells that are being worn out and discarded daily?

Even though you are interested in reducing and doing some figure trimming and slimming, there's no excuse for not getting your daily quota of each of these foods. In fact, the best reducing diets are built right around them.

Remember that as you eat, sleep and exercise today. Don't allow yourself to drift into a faulty pattern of living. Don't just take the line of least resistance and live an unplanned kind of existence. Make each day contribute something to your beauty, vigor and enjoyment of life.

And start each morning with a brief workout with those exercises.

Now all of that is just plain common sense, isn't it? Certainly nothing that will tax your energy or force you to crowd your schedule in order to carry out the program.

Right along with this, make a little check of your eating habits. Check to make sure that you are getting all the vitamins you need. Are you getting your share of both yellow and green vegetables every day. Are you incorporating fruit in your daily diet? Getting your quota of calcium in skim milk or cottage cheese?

Most important of all, are you getting enough protein — the vital food needed by your body to rebuild and renew your cells that are being worn out and discarded daily?

Even though you are interested in reducing and doing some figure trimming and slimming, there's no excuse for not getting your daily quota of each of these foods. In fact, the best reducing diets are built right around them.

Remember that as you eat, sleep and exercise today. Don't allow yourself to drift into a faulty pattern of living. Don't just take the line of least resistance and live an unplanned kind of existence. Make each day contribute something to your beauty, vigor and enjoyment of life.

With them they are wearing slippers matching the velvet and Juliet caps of taffeta with matching veils. They will carry cascade bouquets of white carnations. Miss Newman's is red; Miss Haines' aqua and Miss Bland's salmon.

Mrs. Bland has chosen a blue velvet suit with white hat for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Farrell's is a blue silk dress with white. Both will have corsages of white carnations.

FIRST SNOW

The first snow of the season! What excitement—what delight is written in her shining eyes! To her, the world has suddenly become a wonderland of white enchantment—a miracle.

A child accepts the miracle, and finds in it pure, unblemished joy. An adult finds it increasingly difficult to accept anything as miraculous—and his joys are dimmed by life's myriad complexities.

Yet, within every adult's grasp is the greatest miracle of all—the story of Christ and the message he left the world. This is the inheritance of every man and woman who will reach out to accept it. It waits for you . . . in the Church.

Go to church this Sunday. Discover, again, what Christ did for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FIRST SNOW

The first snow of the season! What excitement—what delight is written in her shining eyes! To her, the world has suddenly become a wonderland of white enchantment—a miracle.

A child accepts the miracle, and finds in it pure, unblemished joy. An adult finds it increasingly difficult to accept anything as miraculous—and his joys are dimmed by life's myriad complexities.

Yet, within every adult's grasp is the greatest miracle of all—the story of Christ and the message he left the world. This is the inheritance of every man and woman who will reach out to accept it. It waits for you . . . in the Church.

Go to church this Sunday. Discover, again, what Christ did for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

National Guard Officials Meet In Charleston

W.Va. May Lose 12 Of 45 Units

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia National Guard officials will meet here Dec. 14 to make further plans for reorganization in line with an Army-ordered cutback that will cost the state 12 of its present 45 units.

State Adj. Gen. William E. Blake, guard commander, said tentative plans call for elimination of 10 units and consolidation of two with other units.

Thirty-one West Virginia communities have units, and Blake said the changeover probably will mean relocation of some in order to distribute units as evenly as possible over the state.

A protest campaign has been started at Fairmont over the projected transfer of the headquarters of the 102st Armored Field Artillery Battalion from Fairmont to Huntington.

Fairmont Mayor William G. Meyer said letters of protest were being sent to Blake, Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, members of the Legislature and to the state's delegation in Congress.

Underwood and other state officials protested strongly after the Department of the Army announced plans for the Guard cutback several months ago.

Brode Named County Roads Unit Clerk

John W. Brode, RD 1, Frostburg, yesterday was selected by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to become the clerk in the County Roads Department office at the Union Street County Building effective February 1.

He will replace Walter Fuller, who will leave office at the end of January. Brode's appointment was unanimous and it was pointed out he will work along with Fuller for several weeks prior to February 1 to familiarize himself with the job.

Brode's name was included on an eligible list which had been submitted to the former county commissioners in the spring. He is a brother of William J. Brode, who finished fourth in the six-man race for the three county commissioner positions in the November general elections.

John H. Tressler Jr., of the Oldtown area appeared before the board to ask that he be named constable for that section. He said he had taken the examination and physical test and passed some time ago.

A letter from Magistrate Dayton M. Lewis of Oldtown was read in which he cited the need for a constable and requested that Tressler be selected. Commissioner John J. Rowan informed Tressler that the board would take the matter under advisement and a decision would be made soon.

The board referred a letter from Estelle S. Bradley of Baltimore to Harry Skelly, roads supervisor. The woman said her family owned 242 acres of land along Cresap Mill Road and she requests that it be repaired.

Skelly said the roadway is a county road and has been maintained. The property owners with two exceptions have granted the county 30-foot rights of ways, he added. The county could not engage in any widening of the roadway without the necessary rights-of-way, he added.

The clerk to the board, James G. Stevenson, was instructed to n ify the woman of the situation. It was brought out in the letter that the property has been in the family for more than 100 years. The Bradley woman also said it had been hoped to develop the property.

Commissioner William A. Wilson said the county was not interested in road projects simply to provide property owners with a roadway which would benefit private developments.

County To Seek Road Jobs Data

A meeting will be sought by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners with C. L. Wannen, comptroller of the State Roads Commission, to discuss financial matters pertaining to county roads.

Commissioner John Tucker Mason, Leslie Clark, attorney to the board, and Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, will meet with Wannen sometime early next January in Baltimore. Mason suggested the meeting so the board could ascertain how some of the financial programs work.

Skelly informed the board that as far he knows there are no road construction projects planned. The entire matter of federal aid matching funds, state loans and other financial matters will be included in the discussion with Wannen, according to Mason.

Skelly told the board that it costs the county $762 per mile to maintain county roads and in return $800 is received in gasoline tax monies. He explained that maintenance consists of building culverts, oiling and chipping roads, grading, ditching and cutting brush along roads.

The last federal aid roads project in which the county took part was the access road into the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's Works 7 in the North Branch section. The roadway into Mt. Savage High School was also a recent federal aid project, Skelly explained.

Luther Childs Cromwell was the inventor of paper bags. He obtained a patent for them in May, 1867.

County Asks Budget Data By January 15

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners, with two Democratic members, yesterday embarked on a new system of handling various county affairs.

Among these changes is one calling on all department heads to submit preliminary budgets by next January 15 in order to allow the board time to consider the various items in the budget request. Commissioner John J. Rowan, president of the board, said this would eliminate some of the last-minute decisions which occurred in former years and also would remove much of the load imposed on the Finance Department in handling the budget items.

Also requested yesterday was an organization chart from each department head showing the number of employes, their responsibilities and how the chain of organizational procedure is followed.

The board will also ask for an inventory of the equipment and location of each piece by the Roads Department. Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, yesterday gave a list of each employe in his department with the names, addresses, phone numbers and their classification under the Civil Service Board system.

It was also decided to discuss with an official of the Welfare Board and clerk to the county commissioners the procedures followed in reference to financial statements and admittance to the Allegany County Infirmary.

The board also passed an order designating the First National Bank of Cumberland, The Liberty Trust Company, Second National Bank, Cumberland Savings Bank, Frostburg National Bank and Fidelity Savings Bank of Frostburg as depositories of county money.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for surgery was William L. Jewell of 54 National Highway. Attaches said he was wounded in the right thigh. He is reported in "fair" condition.

Troopers Charles Snow and Bruce Diehl, who are investigating, said the Jewell youth was among a number of hunters who were driving a deer down off a ridge of Dan's Mountain in the McCoole area.

Jewell was wounded when other hunters at the bottom of the ridge began firing at a deer. No charges have been preferred pending completion of the investigation.

Roads Bureau Approves Local Street Project

The Bureau of Public Roads of the U.S. Department of Commerce has put its final stamp of approval on the Frederick Street improvements.

This was learned yesterday when City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum received a copy of the report. It was indicated the inspection was the final hurdle in the federal government's releasing of aid funds withheld from the State Roads Commission until certain requirements concerning the project were met.

The inspection was made October 28 by J. A. Richard, highway engineer, accompanied by George Geary.

In the final analysis, it was pointed out the project complied with all terms set forth in the agreement and as amended in reference to parking and one-way traffic. Richard said as a result it was recommended the project be accepted.

Total cost of the project was listed at $517,119.05. It was started in 1954 and accepted by the city November 3, 1955.

Several weeks ago, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC, had informed council that the project met all requirements and that he was so informing the federal bureau. Chaires' report followed city action in making both Frederick and Bedford Streets one-way and allowing parking on only one side of the two streets.

Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, yesterday gave a list of each employe in his department with the names, addresses, phone numbers and their classification under the Civil Service Board system.

It was also decided to discuss with an official of the Welfare Board and clerk to the county commissioners the procedures followed in reference to financial statements and admittance to the Allegany County Infirmary.

The board also passed an order designating the First National Bank of Cumberland, The Liberty Trust Company, Second National Bank, Cumberland Savings Bank, Frostburg National Bank and Fidelity Savings Bank of Frostburg as depositories of county money.

Young Deer Hunter Is Wounded In Leg

An 18-year-old hunter was shot in the leg yesterday to become the first casualty of the week-long deer season.

Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital for surgery was William L. Jewell of 54 National Highway. Attaches said he was wounded in the right thigh. He is reported in "fair" condition.

Troopers Charles Snow and Bruce Diehl, who are investigating, said the Jewell youth was among a number of hunters who were driving a deer down off a ridge of Dan's Mountain in the McCoole area.

Jewell was wounded when other hunters at the bottom of the ridge began firing at a deer. No charges have been preferred pending completion of the investigation.

LIFE MASTER—Dr. Paul B. Castelle, a charter member of the Western Maryland Bridge Association, has become the second member of the organization to qualify as a life master in bridge. Dr. Castelle attained the last of 300 required master points while playing with Mrs. Castelle as a partner in a recent game here. He had previously scored the required number of red points which must be won in national or regional competition. A. J. Feigus, president of the Western Maryland Bridge Club, is the only other player in this area who is a life master.

Roads Bureau Approves Local Street Project

The Bureau of Public Roads of the U.S. Department of Commerce has put its final stamp of approval on the Frederick Street improvements.

This was learned yesterday when City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum received a copy of the report. It was indicated the inspection was the final hurdle in the federal government's releasing of aid funds withheld from the State Roads Commission until certain requirements concerning the project were met.

The inspection was made October 28 by J. A. Richard, highway engineer, accompanied by George Geary.

In the final analysis, it was pointed out the project complied with all terms set forth in the agreement and as amended in reference to parking and one-way traffic. Richard said as a result it was recommended the project be accepted.

Total cost of the project was listed at $517,119.05. It was started in 1954 and accepted by the city November 3, 1955.

Several weeks ago, G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC, had informed council that the project met all requirements and that he was so informing the federal bureau. Chaires' report followed city action in making both Frederick and Bedford Streets one-way and allowing parking on only one side of the two streets.

Good News In Our Missile Program

Almost unnoticed, the Air Force took a significant step when it ordered the Fifteenth Air Force, part of the Strategic Air Command, to take operational control of the two strategic missile wings. The Strategic Air Command is the Air Force's heavy bomber department. Its big planes—B52s and B47s—are capable of delivering nuclear weapons anywhere. The planes are on constant alert.

Now SAC has taken the first step toward replacing some of its manned bombers with guided missiles. In effect, this is a "marriage" between long-range missiles and manned bombers in the defense structure of the nation.

The order puts the 706th strategic missile wing (Atlas missiles, capable of delivering an H-bomb 6,300 miles) of Warren Air Force Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., and the 703d strategic missile wing (Titan missiles, long-range weapon launched from underground) of Lowry Air Force Base at Denver under direct 15th Air Force control.

"This transfer," the Air Force said, "marks the start of SAC's program to integrate its strategic missile wing with its bomber force, capitalizing on the best performance characteristics of both weapons systems to provide greater, more flexible striking power."

Americans will be glad to know that our missile development has reached the stage where it can be put on an operational basis. But they also will be reassured by the Air Force reminder that heavy bombers still are being relied upon.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

It Sounds Good

Miss Pauline Frederick who does radio commentating about the United Nations and such matters, went up to Elmira, New York, and lectured the audience upon various and sundry topics. In due course, a reader sent me a clipping reporting the lecture from the "Star-Gazette," and in it were these noble sentiments:

"Why don't we have a crash education program for peace—in learning to walk humbly and practicing brotherly love—in creating thinkers, philosophers, and humanists who will make a contribution, not to greater violence, but to bring unity out of chaos.

> "Why do we not dedicate our education to abolish the war habit and war thinking so that those who come after us will readily turn to the conference table?"

To disagree is to say that peace is bad, that brotherly love is unwise and that thinkers and philosophers are a bore. I shall not be guilty of such nihilistic generalizations. On the other hand, it is difficult to understand how anyone can ignore 40 years of history and still ask us to turn the other cheek after we have been kicked in the groin by Soviet Russia. Surely it would be a pleasant world if there were no wars a-going. Unfortunately, we no more got through with Lebanon than Quemoy came upon us; we no more got through with Quemoy than the Berlin ultimatum was hurled at us. When we shall have got through with the Berlin ultimatum, there will be another episode, as there has been some trouble now, practically every day since 1945.

> Precisely, what would Miss Frederick have us do? Give in to every demand that Soviet Russia makes upon us? Does she want the thinkers, philosophers and humanists, whom she would have us create, kow-tow to Khrushchev, drunk or sober, at all times?

Incidentally and by the way, the word, humanist, in the above, is used incorrectly. A person can be a thinker and a philosopher and not a humanist. The term humanist is the opposite of the word, theist.

A theist or deist, as he is sometimes called, is one who believes that God is the center of life; a humanist is one who believes that man is the center of all things. It strikes me that the word in the above quotation that Miss Frederick would have preferred the reporter to use is humanitarian. And if that is so, is there or has there ever been a nation which is more humanitarian than the United States which has given billions of its wealth to all the world, often with no strings attached, out of the goodness of the heart of the American people?

As humanitarians, we do better than as politicians or as soldiers. We go to the trouble of rebuilding our enemies, as we have done for Japan and for West Germany. We even gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 and some Americans probably would prefer that we go on giving even though Soviet Russia has become our principal enemy and Khrushchev says: "We will bury you," meaning to do it by 1970 by economic means if he can.

Miss Frederick's speech at Elmira must have been very interesting, particularly when she described the United Nations:

> "Reduced to its simplest terms, the United Nations is a conference table. It is offered as a substitute for the battlefield. It is always available."

But why are so many of the most important conferences held elsewhere? For instance, at this moment we are holding a conference with Soviet Russia about surprise attacks in Geneva. Is not the answer that with 81 nations in the United Nations, some as small as the Bronx, the place has become an elocution salon in which each local gargler of the enormous phrase speaks for the ears of his own countrymen while other United Nations delegates sit around waiting their turn to do the same? How can the major nations confer there when every little country, with even smaller responsibility, can butt into every argument?

How much actual business can be transacted by this method? The reason that so many conferences are held outside is that real power still exists among those who can shoot to kill. Of these, the principals are the United States and Soviet Russia.

Army, Navy Gang Up In Effort To Have Air Force Budget Cut

By Jack Anderson

(While Drew Pearson is news-gathering in Mexico, his column is written by his assistant, Jack Anderson).

WASHINGTON—Caught in the new economy squeeze, the Army and Navy ganged up on the Air Force last week and tried to save their own budgets by urging a $6 billion slash in air power. This would have left the Air Force with virtually no money to buy new planes.

The original budget requests from the three services added up to $57 billion. After one glance at the total, Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy sent the requests back for further whittling.

Meanwhile, budget boss Maurice Stans set a drastic $39.8 billion limit on what the armed forces should spend next year. They were still $6 billion over the limit when the top brass from each service were summoned to McElroy's office last week to present their final figures.

Taking turns on th carpeted battlefield, fiscal forces from the Army, Navy, and Air Force fought to the last decimal point for their budgets. The most stubborn resistance was put up by Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief, who pleaded eloquently that the Army's wants couldn't be cut.

"Max, you know better than to tell me your budget is so perfect my boys can't find anything to trim," McElroy chided. "You don't expect me to believe that the other services goofed and only your budget is faultless."

Air Power Slash?

But with scarcely a splutter, Taylor kept up the verbal attack. He insisted that airplanes are obsolete; therefore the $6 billion should be taken out of aircraft procurement. Although he urged more money for missiles, he called for a reversal in priority from total-war to brush-fire weapons. He argued that Russia would not risk World War III but might attempt piecemeal aggression.

Following the Army behind McElroy's doors, Secretary of the Navy Thomas Gates and Adm. Arleigh Burke pounded the same theme. They stressed the need for naval power to fight limited wars, although they did not belittle air power.

Speaking later for the Air Force, Secretary James Douglas and Gen. Curtis LeMay warned against weakening our Sunday punch. Only our ability to retaliate can prevent Russian from risking total war, they reminded McElroy. Gen. Thomas Power, commander of our bomber fleet, pleaded that he needed more, not fewer planes.

"You aren't being much help," complained McElroy. "I have to cut, and you aren't helping me."

In the end, McElroy decided to trim the budget wtih a three-edged knife. Rather than take the full $6 billion cut out of the Air Force, he slashed all the services. He acted on the advice of the Joint Chiefs' weapons evaluation experts who claimed planes would be the backbone of our striking force for another five years.

Triple Cut

What to cut hasn't been finally determined. However, here is how the economy edict will likely affect the three services:

1. The Army's modernization program will be sharply curtailed, despite the fact that Arab rebels in Lebanon had better rifles than our own GIs. At least one division will have to be deactivated, leaving only 14 divisions to match the Red Army's 175.

2. The Navy will probably scrap or mothball three dozen ships. The admirals will also have to decide whether to sacrifice an atomic-powered carrier or cut down on atomic submarines. They will probably choose to retain the carrier, which is more vulnerable to attack but more glittering to command. This will leave our submarine strength at one-sixth the size of Russia's undersea fleet.

3. The Air Force will slow down production of the Bomarc, a remarkable anti-aircraft missile which has actually scored hits against X-10 rockets streaking into the atmosphere at ultra-sonic speeds. The production of F-108 long-range interceptors and B-58 medium-range bombers will also be curtailed.

All three services will also try to save money by reducing repairs and replacements. Already pilots have complained that they have been forced to bail out of their planes because of inadequate maintenance. Before Adm. Felix Stump left the Pacific command, he complained bitterly that his equipment was wearing out.

President Eisenhower has ordered these defense cuts despite alarming evidence that Russia is ahead of us in military strength. The 6,325-mile flight of our giant Atlas missile only dramatized the fact that Russia fired her first intercontinental missile two summers ago. The Soviets also launched a 3,000-pound sputnik a year ago, a feat we won't be able to duplicate until late 1959. Now reports from behind the Iron Curtain indicate Russia has developed an atomic-powered bomber while our own project has been strangled by red tape and budget cuts.

In conventional weapons, Soviet strength is even more overwhelming. Our top military men are far more alarmed than they are permitted to admit to the public over the increasing signs that the USA is fast becoming a second-class power.

Union, Corporate Politicking Defies U.S. Laws

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The biggest scandal in Washington never emerges above the surface to make the headlines. The federal laws forbidding labor unions and corporations from making political campaign contributions are being constantly violated. Although the present law has been on the statute books for eleven years, there have been only four prosecutions by the Department of Justice. Due to technicalities, it has failed to get any convictions.

The New York Herald Tribune on Wednesday of this week published a brief dispatch from Washington which said:

"The Senate Rackets Committee is having some second thoughts about a projected investigation of union political contributions. Such a probe, it is felt, might well disclose that a good many Senators from both parties — including even some committee members — were recipients of campaign gifts obtained from union dues in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act."

It has been conceded that in the recent Congressional election 172 of the winning candidates for the House of Representatives got labor union support of a financial nature. Many millions of dollars collected from union members were spent. Will people begin to think that there is something questionable about the Congressional set-up? One would suppose that the members of Congress themselves would wish to have their names cleared of any scandal. Many of them doubtless would argue conscientiously that they believe the law is unconstitutional. If it is unconstitutional, then they should be advocating its repeal so that corporations as well as labor unions would have the opportunity to spend their money freely in political campagns.

When the four cases involving prosecutions for violation of the federal law were tried, the Supreme Court of the United States did not clarify the Constitutional issues but turned the cases back to the lower courts on technical grounds.

In a pamphlet analyzing the status of the present law and court decisions, a prominent law firm here Gall, Lane & Howe, states the following conclusions:

"The statute has been so rewritten by the Supreme Court — primarily out of Constitutional considerations — that it is now difficult to identify the former statute with the present law.

"As to particular union political activities and the expenditures therefore, the law now appears to be:

"(A) Union 'contributions' of general union funds directly to candidates for federal office or their political committees are forbidden.

"(B) Regular union periodicals or newspapers financed from union funds may contain political material and be distributed to those accustomed to receiving copies. This is not a violation of Section 313.

"(C) Nor — at least in the Second Circuit — is it is violation for a union without a regular periodical to buy newspaper advertising or radio time to endorse Congressional candidates, but

"(D) It is a violation of Section 313 for a union to 'expend' union funds for commercial television broadcasts or other political activities with the intent to influence the general electorate in federal elections, and

"(E) The primary distinction between (B) and (D) is that (B) involved a 'house organ' not directed to the public at large whereas (D) involves (as the Supreme Court said) 'the evil at which Congress has struck in Section 313,' namely 'the use of corporate or union dues to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party' but nevertheless,

"(F) General union funds made available to union political action committees such as C.O.P.E. may be illegally 'expended' or 'contributed' if the funds have been involuntarily exacted from union members."

Section 313 of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act unequivocally makes it a federal crime for any labor organization or corporation "to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any (federal) election."

The same law defines "contribution" as "anything of value." Yet, with all the hue and cry about "civil rights" and "filibuster rules," none of those who are articulate on such subjects are calling for obedience to or compliance with the "law of the land" governing clean elections. Isn't it a basic "civil right" for the nation to be assured that elections are honestly conducted? One would suppose that something that affects the integrity of government itself would be in the forefront of attention and that the Department of Justice, which is so busy with antitrust suits based on the most complex of legal statutes, would find some way to bring more than four prosecutions in eleven years in relation to corrupt practices in federal elections.

How can Americans criticize the lawless methods of the Soviets and their interference with free elections when in this country corruption and violation of the "law of the land" are countenanced in the very selection of members to the nation's top legislative body? It's a question to which the answer is simple — politics and expediency.

An Intelligent Approach To Rectal Bleeding

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A business executive was traveling from New York to Los Angeles. As his train approached Chicago, he picked up the paper and began reading this health column. The topic for the day was rectal bleeding, not a pleasant subject but of interest to the traveling man because only that morning he had noted the symptom.

Among the possible causes he read the word cancer, and decided to see a physician in Chicago. He called the teaching hospital of a local medical school and got an immediate appointment with one of their proctologists. In less than an hour the business man learned he had cancer.

Rectal bleeding has various origins and the physician prefers to do a complete examination before rendering a decision on the cause. In the past, hemorrhoids usually were blamed and the possibility of a more serious condition frequently was overlooked.

Hemorrhoids are a common cause of bleeding but we no longer blame them routinely. All too often, bleeding continues after hemorrhoids are removed and eventually a tumor high in the rectum is found.

Nowadays we take a more mature attitude, realizing that lives can be saved by detecting malignancy in the curable stage. Few mistakes are made when modern devices are coupled with physical examination. This is more expensive and time consuming but there is no other way to determine whether rectal bleeding is due to hemorrhoids, ulcer, fissure, fistula, tear, polyp, tumor, or infection.

The sigmoidoscope is invaluable for inspecting the rectum. The instrument is a hollow tube with a light on one end and a magnifying lens at the other. A proctologist, when asked how a physician could see the inside, likened the procedure to a locomotive headlight piercing the darkness as the train goes through the tunnel. The instrument has its limitations because it is only 10 inches long and is too rigid to go around corners. X-ray studies are needed to complete the job.

OVERBREATHING

F. D. writes: How can hyperventilation syndrome be cured?

REPLY

In this condition, the individual unconsciously breathes too rapidly. The accumulated carbon dioxide leads to dizziness, numbness, tingling and palpitation. Control of the syndrome requires that the person realize what is happening and make a conscious effort to stop breathing too fast, especially when nervous. When an attack comes on, try breathing into a paper bag.

MINIATURE X-RAYS

R. W. writes: Can lung cancer be diagnosed by an X-ray taken at a moblie unit?

REPLY

Yes, but other tests would be needed to prove whether a suspicious lesion or shadow is cancer, tuberculosis, or scar tissue. Mobile units help to screen out a variety of lung and heart conditions.

SKIN COLOR

R. W. writes: Can the color of the skin be changed?

REPLY

Yes, with cosmetics and exposure to ultraviolet light. Overindulgence in carrots imparts a yellowish tinge and so does jaundice. Certain metals such as silver, used in medicines, may darken the skin. Loss of pigment occurs in vitiligo.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The head of a great hotel chain was whizzing around the hemisphere inspecting his properties, and paused in the stainless kitchen of his newest and nicest hostelry. Noticing a tear in the eye of a dishwasher, he slapped him jovially on the back and said, "Courage, my boy! I began as a dish-washer like you, and now look at me! That's America!"

The melancholy one sighed, "I'm looking! And I started as the boss, and am now washing dishes. That's America, too!"

Poet Ogden Nash had a chance to correct his obituary when a reporter showed him the biography kept on file for the day after O. N. kicked off. Nash approved it with one small exception. A couplet credited to him was written by a Los Angeles publicist. It goes like this:

"I do not love Louse Angeles;
I came here all agog
To find myself a lone DP, invisible in smog."

If--If--If--

By Joseph Alsop

BAGHDAD, Iraq

These are breathless times, but this reporter cannot remember any purely political situation more breathless than the one here in Iraq. It lies in one man's power to insure the victory or cause the defeat of the new Communist drive into the Arab lands. Which will he do? Only he can say.

But even if no one else can foretell the choice of Iraq's new revolutionary leader, Brig. Abdel Karim Kassem, it is at least possible to foretell the consequences of his choice.

If Kassem finally accepts the role the Communists have allotted to him — the role of the Kremlin's Nuri Pasha — the consequences will be very serious indeed. The first effects will appear in Syria, where the Communists are already growing daily bolder and more defiant of Gamal Abdel Nasser. But in the end, the Lebanon and Jordan and Egypt herself and the countries of the Arabian peninsula and the Arab lands in North African will also be explosively affected.

At the present stage of Arab development, in short, the trend in all the Arab lands will be deformed and twisted if Kassem makes the Iraqi choice in favor of the Communists. Gamal Abdel Nasser himself is not strong enough to prevent this result. For Nasser is too much the prisoner of his own past dealings with the Kremlin to defend the non-Communist Arab nationalism, which he really believes in, against the impact of a wrong choice by Kassem.

But what if Kassem makes the other choice, as this reporter thinks more probable? That is the really exciting question. And the best answer is that the Iraqi revolution will then have a good chance of being remembered as the dawn of sanity in Arab affairs.

The reason for this is rather simple. The essential point about the Iraqi revolution is that it shattered the foundations of the Western policy in the Arab lands and of Nasser's policy too. The old Western policy was deeply influenced by Britain's economic vulnerability. It was therefore founded on the principle of maintaining positions of strength, in the form of pro-Wester: governments. These were in turn expected to protect Britain's and the West's Middle Eastern oil jugular.

There is no use arguing any longer about whether the Western politicy might have been made to work, by greater courage and adroitness in Washington. The fact is that the Western policy of positions of strength was defeated, for good and all, when the old regime in Iraq was bloodily wiped out. Furthermore, the Iraqi revolution has raised an obvious question about the necessity for this defeated policy; for the revolutionary government here has most conspicuously refrained from nationalizing the Iraq Petroleum Company.

The shattered foundations of the Western policy are, so to say, lying about in the open for all the world to see. The shattered foundations of Nasser's policy are not so easy to observe, but the collapse has occurred all the same.

The mere promotion of Arab nationalism, the mere expulsion of foreign influences from the Middle East, were not the real foundations of Nasser's policy. Nasser's policy was squarely founded on the claim to be Arab nationalism's unique, all-deciding leader. All or nothing was the rule. Other Arabs were called upon to acknowledge Nasser's unchallenged authority, or they were venomously denounced as traitors to the Arab nation. "I am Arab Union," was Nasser's version of Louis XIV's famous remark about the state.

The Western policy may have been impractical from the outset, but so was Nasser's. It was always predictable that if Nasser became emperor of pan-Arabia the next morning, he would start losing provinces from his empire only a few mornings later. The Arab lands are too various. They are too differentiated by local interests and habits. They could never been successfully ruled by an Egyptian dictator without great military force at his disposal.

The Iraqi revolution has now returned a rude answer to Nasser's assertion, "I am Arab Union." Brig. Kassem earnestly desires the most intimate Arab cooperation, but he also insists, as he laconically remarked to me, that "Baghdad is the capital of Iraq." And while it was wonderfully easy for Nasser to whack away at the old regime in Iraq, as a parcel of traitors to Arab unity, whacking at Kassem is quite another problem.

Nasser has publicly acknowledged as much. For the first time, he has abandoned his former claim of unique leadership and authority. For the first time, he has publicly acknowledged that all the Arab states must develop in their own way, within the broader framework of "Arab brotherhood." Characteristically, he has also self-righteously denied that he ever made the now-abandoned claim anyway.

In these circumstances, there is a chance for a wholly new start here in the Middle East. The old Western policy and the old Nasser policy, which clashed so sharply with one another, have both been defeated. The debris can therefore be cleared away. An effort can begin to work out new relationships, both between the Arab states and between the Arab states and the West.

A hard-headed re-examination of the West's relations with Nasser himself is the first requirement for a sensible new start. Another is an effort, sustained and not damp-handed and ever eager, to ease Kassem's choice in Iraq. By these means, if-if-if—Kassem makes the right choice, progress towards Middle Eastern stability and sanity is at las possible.

Now SAC has taken the first step toward replacing some of its manned bombers with guided missiles. In effect, this is a "marriage" between long-range missiles and manned bombers in the defense structure of the nation.

The order puts the 706th strategic missile wing (Atlas missiles, capable of delivering an H-bomb 6,300 miles) of Warren Air Force Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., and the 703d strategic missile wing (Titan missiles, long-range weapon launched from underground) of Lowry Air Force Base at Denver under direct 15th Air Force control.

"This transfer," the Air Force said, "marks the start of SAC's program to integrate its strategic missile wing with its bomber force, capitalizing on the best performance characteristics of both weapons systems to provide greater, more flexible striking power."

Americans will be glad to know that our missile development has reached the stage where it can be put on an operational basis. But they also will be reassured by the Air Force reminder that heavy bombers still are being relied upon.

It Sounds Good

Miss Pauline Frederick who does radio commentating about the United Nations and such matters, went up to Elmira, New York, and lectured the audience upon various and sundry topics. In due course, a reader sent me a clipping reporting the lecture from the "Star-Gazette," and in it were these noble sentiments:

"Why don't we have a crash education program for peace—in learning to walk humbly and practicing brotherly love—in creating thinkers, philosophers, and humanists who will make a contribution, not to greater violence, but to bring unity out of chaos.

"Why do we not dedicate our education to abolish the war habit and war thinking so that those who come after us will readily turn to the conference table?"

To disagree is to say that peace is bad, that brotherly love is unwise and that thinkers and philosophers are a bore. I shall not be guilty of such nihilistic generalizations. On the other hand, it is difficult to understand how anyone can ignore 40 years of history and still ask us to turn the other cheek after we have been kicked in the groin by Soviet Russia. Surely it would be a pleasant world if there were no wars a-going. Unfortunately, we no more got through with Lebanon than Quemoy came upon us; we no more got through with Quemoy than the Berlin ultimatum was hurled at us. When we shall have got through with the Berlin ultimatum, there will be another episode, as there has been some trouble now, practically every day since 1945.

Precisely, what would Miss Frederick have us do? Give in to every demand that Soviet Russia makes upon us? Does she want the thinkers, philosophers and humanists, whom she would have us create, kow-tow to Khrushchev, drunk or sober, at all times?

Incidentally and by the way, the word, humanist, in the above, is used incorrectly. A person can be a thinker and a philosopher and not a humanist. The term humanist is the opposite of the word, theist.

A theist or deist, as he is sometimes called, is one who believes that God is the center of life; a humanist is one who believes that man is the center of all things. It strikes me that the word in the above quotation that Miss Frederick would have preferred the reporter to use is humanitarian. And if that is so, is there or has there ever been a nation which is more humanitarian than the United States which has given billions of its wealth to all the world, often with no strings attached, out of the goodness of the heart of the American people?

As humanitarians, we do better than as politicians or as soldiers. We go to the trouble of rebuilding our enemies, as we have done for Japan and for West Germany. We even gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 and some Americans probably would prefer that we go on giving even though Soviet Russia has become our principal enemy and Khrushchev says: "We will bury you," meaning to do it by 1970 by economic means if he can.

Miss Frederick's speech at Elmira must have been very interesting, particularly when she described the United Nations:

"Reduced to its simplest terms, the United Nations is a conference table. It is offered as a substitute for the battlefield. It is always available."

But why are so many of the most important conferences held elsewhere? For instance, at this moment we are holding a conference with Soviet Russia about surprise attacks in Geneva. Is not the answer that with 81 nations in the United Nations, some as small as the Bronx, the place has become an elocution salon in which each local gargler of the enormous phrase speaks for the ears of his own countrymen while other United Nations delegates sit around waiting their turn to do the same? How can the major nations confer there when every little country, with even smaller responsibility, can butt into every argument?

How much actual business can be transacted by this method? The reason that so many conferences are held outside is that real power still exists among those who can shoot to kill. Of these, the principals are the United States and Soviet Russia.

Union, Corporate Politicking Defies U.S. Laws

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The biggest scandal in Washington never emerges above the surface to make the headlines. The federal laws forbidding labor unions and corporations from making political campaign contributions are being constantly violated. Although the present law has been on the statute books for eleven years, there have been only four prosecutions by the Department of Justice. Due to technicalities, it has failed to get any convictions.

The New York Herald Tribune on Wednesday of this week published a brief dispatch from Washington which said:

"The Senate Rackets Committee is having some second thoughts about a projected investigation of union political contributions. Such a probe, it is felt, might well disclose that a good many Senators from both parties — including even some committee members — were recipients of campaign gifts obtained from union dues in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act."

It has been conceded that in the recent Congressional election 172 of the winning candidates for the House of Representatives got labor union support of a financial nature. Many millions of dollars collected from union members were spent. Will people begin to think that there is something questionable about the Congressional set-up? One would suppose that the members of Congress themselves would wish to have their names cleared of any scandal. Many of them doubtless would argue conscientiously that they believe the law is unconstitutional. If it is unconstitutional, then they should be advocating its repeal so that corporations as well as labor unions would have the opportunity to spend their money freely in political campagns.

When the four cases involving prosecutions for violation of the federal law were tried, the Supreme Court of the United States did not clarify the Constitutional issues but turned the cases back to the lower courts on technical grounds.

In a pamphlet analyzing the status of the present law and court decisions, a prominent law firm here, Gall, Lane & Howe, states the following conclusions:

"The statute has been so rewritten by the Supreme Court — primarily out of Constitutional considerations — that it is now difficult to identify the former statute with the present law.

"As to particular union political activities and the expenditures therefore, the law now appears to be:

"(A) Union 'contributions' of general union funds directly to candidates for federal office or their political committees are forbidden.

"(B) Regular union periodicals or newspapers financed from union funds may contain political material and be distributed to those accustomed to receiving copies. This is not a violation of Section 313.

"(C) Nor — at least in the Second Circuit — is it is violation for a union without a regular periodical to buy newspaper advertising or radio time to endorse Congressional candidates, but

"(D) It is a violation of Section 313 for a union to 'expend' union funds for commercial television broadcasts or other political activities with the intent to influence the general electorate in federal elections, and

"(E) The primary distinction between (B) and (D) is that (B) involved a 'house organ' not directed to the public at large whereas (D) involves (as the Supreme Court said) 'the evil at which Congress has struck in Section 313,' namely 'the use of corporate or union dues to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party' but nevertheless,

"(F) General union funds made available to union political action committees such as C.O.P.E. may be illegally 'expended' or 'contributed' if the funds have been involuntarily exacted from union members."

Section 313 of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act unequivocally makes it a federal crime for any labor organization or corporation "to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any (federal) election."

The same law defines "contribution" as "anything of value." Yet, with all the hue and cry about "civil rights" and "filibuster rules," none of those who are articulate on such subjects are calling for obedience to or compliance with the "law of the land" governing clean elections. Isn't it a basic "civil right" for the nation to be assured that elections are honestly conducted? One would suppose that something that affects the integrity of government itself would be in the forefront of attention and that the Department of Justice, which is so busy with antitrust suits based on the most complex of legal statutes, would find some way to bring more than four prosecutions in eleven years in relation to corrupt practices in federal elections.

How can Americans criticize the lawless methods of the Soviets and their interference with free elections when in this country corruption and violation of the "law of the land" are countenanced in the very selection of members to the nation's top legislative body? It's a question to which the answer is simple — politics and expediency.

An Intelligent Approach To Rectal Bleeding

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A business executive was traveling from New York to Los Angeles. As his train approached Chicago, he picked up the paper and began reading this health column. The topic for the day was rectal bleeding, not a pleasant subject but of interest to the traveling man because only that morning he had noted the symptom.

Among the possible causes he read the word cancer, and decided to see a physician in Chicago. He called the teaching hospital of a local medical school and got an immediate appointment with one of their proctologists. In less than an hour the business man learned he had cancer.

Rectal bleeding has various origins and the physician prefers to do a complete examination before rendering a decision on the cause. In the past, hemorrhoids usually were blamed and the possibility of a more serious condition frequently was overlooked.

Hemorrhoids are a common cause of bleeding but we no longer blame them routinely. All too often, bleeding continues after hemorrhoids are removed and eventually a tumor high in the rectum is found.

Nowadays we take a more mature attitude, realizing that lives can be saved by detecting malignancy in the curable stage. Few mistakes are made when modern devices are coupled with physical examination. This is more expensive and time consuming but there is no other way to determine whether rectal bleeding is due to hemorrhoids, ulcer, fissure, fistula, tear, polyp, tumor, or infection.

The sigmoidoscope is invaluable for inspecting the rectum. The instrument is a hollow tube with a light on one end and a magnifying lens at the other. A proctologist, when asked how a physician could see the inside, likened the procedure to a locomotive headlight piercing the darkness as the train goes through the tunnel. The instrument has its limitations because it is only 10 inches long and is too rigid to go around corners. X-ray studies are needed to complete the job.

OVERBREATHING

F. D. writes: How can hyperventilation syndrome be cured?

REPLY

In this condition, the individual unconsciously breathes too rapidly. The accumulated carbon dioxide leads to dizziness, numbness, tingling and palpitation. Control of the syndrome requires that the person realize what is happening and make a conscious effort to stop breathing too fast, especially when nervous. When an attack comes on, try breathing into a paper bag.

MINIATURE X-RAYS

R. W. writes: Can lung cancer be diagnosed by an X-ray taken at a moblie unit?

REPLY

Yes, but other tests would be needed to prove whether a suspicious lesion or shadow is cancer, tuberculosis, or scar tissue. Mobile units help to screen out a variety of lung and heart conditions.

SKIN COLOR

R. W. writes: Can the color of the skin be changed?

REPLY

Yes, with cosmetics and exposure to ultraviolet light. Overindulgence in carrots imparts a yellowish tinge and so does jaundice. Certain metals such as silver, used in medicines, may darken the skin. Loss of pigment occurs in vitiligo.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The head of a great hotel chain was whizzing around the hemisphere inspecting his properties, and paused in the stainless kitchen of his newest and nicest hostelry. Noticing a tear in the eye of a dishwasher, he slapped him jovially on the back and said, "Courage, my boy! I began as a dish-washer like you, and now look at me! That's America!"

The melancholy one sighed, "I'm looking! And I started as the boss, and am now washing dishes. That's America, too!"

Poet Ogden Nash had a chance to correct his obituary when a reporter showed him the biography kept on file for the day after O. N. kicked off. Nash approved it with one small exception. A couplet credited to him was written by a Los Angeles publicist. It goes like this:

"I do not love Louse Angeles;
I came here all agog

Army, Navy Gang Up In Effort To Have Air Force Budget Cut

By Jack Anderson

(While Drew Pearson is news-gathering in Mexico, his column is written by his assistant, Jack Anderson).

WASHINGTON—Caught in the new economy squeeze, the Army and Navy ganged up on the Air Force last week and tried to save their own budgets by urging a $6 billion slash in air power. This would have left the Air Force with virtually no money to buy new planes.

The original budget requests from the three services added up to $57 billion. After one glance at the total, Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy sent the requests back for further whittling.

Meanwhile, budget boss Maurice Stans set a drastic $39.8 billion limit on what the armed forces should spend next year. They were still $6 billion over the limit when the top brass from each service were summoned to McElroy's office last week to present their final figures.

Taking turns on th carpeted battlefield, fiscal forces from the Army, Navy, and Air Force fought to the last decimal point for their budgets. The most stubborn resistance was put up by Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the Army chief, who pleaded eloquently that the Army's wants couldn't be cut.

"Max, you know better than to tell me your budget is so perfect my boys can't find anything to trim," McElroy chided. "You don't expect me to believe that the other services goofed and only your budget is faultless."

Air Power Slash?

But with scarcely a splutter, Taylor kept up the verbal attack. He insisted that airplanes are obsolete; therefore the $6 billion should be taken out of aircraft procurement. Although he urged more money for missiles, he called for a reversal in priority from total-war to brush-fire weapons. He argued that Russia would not risk World War III but might attempt piecemeal aggression.

Following the Army behind McElroy's doors, Secretary of the Navy Thomas Gates and Adm. Arleigh Burke pounded the same theme. They stressed the need for naval power to fight limited wars, although they did not belittle air power.

Speaking later for the Air Force, Secretary James Douglas and Gen. Curtis LeMay warned against weakening our Sunday punch. Only our ability to retaliate can prevent Russian from risking total war, they reminded McElroy. Gen. Thomas Power, commander of our bomber fleet, pleaded that he needed more, not fewer planes.

"You aren't being much help," complained McElroy. "I have to cut, and you aren't helping me."

In the end, McElroy decided to trim the budget wtih a three-edged knife. Rather than take the full $6 billion cut out of the Air Force, he slashed all the services. He acted on the advice of the Joint Chiefs' weapons evaluation experts who claimed planes would be the backbone of our striking force for another five years.

Triple Cut

What to cut hasn't been finally determined. However, here is how the economy edict will likely affect the three services:

1. The Army's modernization program will be sharply curtailed, despite the fact that Arab rebels in Lebanon had better rifles than our own GIs. At least one division will have to be deactivated, leaving only 14 divisions to match the Red Army's 175.

2. The Navy will probably scrap or mothball three dozen ships. The admirals will also have to decide whether to sacrifice an atomic-powered carrier or cut down on atomic submarines. They will probably choose to retain the carrier, which is more vulnerable to attack but more glittering to command. This will leave our submarine strength at one-sixth the size of Russia's undersea fleet.

3. The Air Force will slow down production of the Bomarc, a remarkable anti-aircraft missile which has actually scored hits against X-10 rockets streaking into the atmosphere at ultra-sonic speeds. The production of F-108 long-range interceptors and B-58 medium-range bombers will also be curtailed.

All three services will also try to save money by reducing repairs and replacements. Already pilots have complained that they have been forced to bail out of their planes because of inadequate maintenance. Before Adm. Felix Stump left the Pacific command, he complained bitterly that his equipment was wearing out.

President Eisenhower has ordered these defense cuts despite alarming evidence that Russia is ahead of us in military strength. The 6,325-mile flight of our giant Atlas missile only dramatized the fact that Russia fired her first intercontinental missile two summers ago. The Soviets also launched a 3,000-pound sputnik a year ago, a feat we won't be able to duplicate until late 1959. Now reports from behind the Iron Curtain indicate Russia has developed an atomic-powered bomber while our own project has been strangled by red tape and budget cuts.

In conventional weapons, Soviet strength is even more overwhelming. Our top military men are far more alarmed than they are permitted to admit to the public over the increasing signs that the USA is fast becoming a second-class power.

If--If--If--

By Joseph Alsop

BAGHDAD, Iraq

These are breathless times, but this reporter cannot remember any purely political situation more breathless than the one here in Iraq. It lies in one man's power to insure the victory or cause the defeat of the new Communist drive into the Arab lands. Which will he do? Only he can say.

But even if no one else can foretell the choice of Iraq's new revolutionary leader, Brig. Abdel Karim Kassem, it is at least possible to foretell the consequences of his choice.

If Kassem finally accepts the role the Communists have allotted to him — the role of the Kremlin's Nuri Pasha — the consequences will be very serious indeed. The first effects will appear in Syria, where the Communists are already growing daily bolder and more defiant of Gamal Abdel Nasser. But in the end, the Lebanon and Jordan and Egypt herself and the countries of the Arabian peninsula and the Arab lands in North African will also be explosively affected.

At the present stage of Arab development, in short, the trend in all the Arab lands will be deformed and twisted if Kassem makes the Iraqi choice in favor of the Communists. Gamal Abdel Nasser himself is not strong enough to prevent this result. For Nasser is too much the prisoner of his own past dealings with the Kremlin to defend the non-Communist Arab nationalism, which he really believes in, against the impact of a wrong choice by Kassem.

But what if Kassem makes the other choice, as this reporter thinks more probable? That is the really exciting question. And the best answer is that the Iraqi revolution will then have a good chance of being remembered as the dawn of sanity in Arab affairs.

The reason for this is rather simple. The essential point about the Iraqi revolution is that it shattered the foundations of the Western policy in the Arab lands and of Nasser's policy too. The old Western policy was deeply influenced by Britain's economic vulnerability. It was therefore founded on the principle of maintaining positions of strength, in the form of pro-Western governments. These were in turn expected to protect Britain's and the West's Middle Eastern oil jugular.

There is no use arguing any longer about whether the Western politicy might have been made to work, by greater courage and adroitness in Washington. The fact is that the Western policy of positions of strength was defeated, for good and all, when the old regime in Iraq was bloodily wiped out. Furthermore, the Iraqi revolution has raised an obvious question about the necessity for this defeated policy; for the revolutionary government here has most conspicuously refrained from nationalizing the Iraq Petroleum Company.

The shattered foundations of the Western policy are, so to say, lying about in the open for all the world to see. The shattered foundations of Nasser's policy are not so easy to observe, but the collapse has occurred all the same.

The mere promotion of Arab nationalism, the mere expulsion of foreign influences from the Middle East, were not the real foundations of Nasser's policy. Nasser's policy was squarely founded on the claim to be Arab nationalism's unique, all-deciding leader. All or nothing was the rule. Other Arabs were called upon to acknowledge Nasser's unchallenged authority, or they were venomously denounced as traitors to the Arab nation. "I am Arab Union," was Nasser's version of Louis XIV's famous remark about the state.

The Western policy may have been impractical from the outset, but so was Nasser's. It was always predictable that if Nasser became emperor of pan-Arabia the next morning, he would start losing provinces from his empire only a few mornings later. The Arab lands are too various. They are too differentiated by local interests and habits. They could never been successfully ruled by an Egyptian dictator without great military force at his disposal.

The Iraqi revolution has now returned a rude answer to Nasser's assertion, "I am Arab Union." Brig. Kassem earnestly desires the most intimate Arab cooperation, but he also insists, as he laconically remarked to me, that "Baghdad is the capital of Iraq." And while it was wonderfully easy for Nasser to whack away at the old regime in Iraq, as a parcel of traitors to Arab unity, whacking at Kassem is quite another problem.

Nasser has publicly acknowledged as much. For the first time, he has abandoned his former claim of unique leadership and authority. For the first time, he has publicly acknowledged that all the Arab states must develop in their own way, within the broader framework of "Arab brotherhood." Characteristically, he has also self-righteously denied that he ever made the now-abandoned claim anyway.

In these circumstances, there is a chance for a wholly new start here in the Middle East. The old Western policy and the old Nasser policy, which clashed so sharply with one another, have both been defeated. The debris can therefore be cleared away. An effort can begin to work out new relationships, both between the Arab states and between the Arab states and the West.

A hard-headed re-examination of the West's relations with Nasser himself is the first requirement for a sensible new start. Another is an effort, sustained and not damp-handed and ever eager, to ease Kassem's choice in Iraq. By these means, if-if-if—Kassem makes the right choice, progress towards Middle Eastern stability and sanity is at last possible.

Jordan Decisions Akins To Capture Welter Title

Los Angeles Boxer Wins 15-Round Go Before 6,000 Fans

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International

Jordan, 24, and an underdog at 3 - 1, rode Negro Akins "like a horse" during most of the bout and gave valiant Virgil, of St. Louis, no punching room until the closing rounds when the challenger began to tire.

Winner Is Cheered

Jordan, the first Los Angeles-born welterweight ruler, gashed the 30-year-old champion on the right eye and had a menacing balcony of bruised flesh bulging from above the right brow.

Jordan, weighing 145 pounds to Akins' 145½, was cheered by the estimated crowd of 6,000 when the decision was announced, although there had been little doubt that Don had won by a good margin.

Akins Gets Boos

Akins was booed as he left the ring and he was booed in nearly every round because of his roughhouse tactics of holding and hitting, butting and striking low. Referee Lee Grossman took a point away from Akins in the eighth round for a low blow and another point from him in the 14th for butting.

The three ring officials favored Jordan on a 10-point-must basis as follows: Grossman, 145 - 138; judge Mush Callahan, 145-132, and judge Tommy Hart, 146-136.

The United Press International agreed, 1.4-139.

Wins 9th In Row

Jordan, a former helper in a Los Angeles produce market, registered his ninth straight victory and his 44th in 55 fights.

Akins, making his first defense of the title he had won by knocking out Vince Martinez in the fourth round on June 6, suffered his 19th defeat in 68 professional fights.

$45,510 Allocated To Rebuild School

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The federal government Friday allocated $45,510 to Anderson County, Tenn., to help rebuild the Clinton, Tenn., High School which was wrecked by a dynamite blast several weeks ago.

Trautman Says Majors' TV Leads Minors To Graveyard

Calls New Sunday Telecasts Another Nail In The Coffin

WASHINGTON (AP) — George M. Trautman, head of the minor leagues, said Friday the major leagues and national television networks are leading the minors toward baseball's graveyard.

Trautman denounced plans for a second network to televise a big league game every Sunday as "just another nail in the coffin."

With support from Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, Trautman long has charged that loss of gate receipts attributable to free home television is destroying the minors.

The majors have replied that any agreement to restrict television coverage would violate federal antitrust laws.

Thursday the National Broadcasting Co. confirmed it would inaugurate Sunday big league game-of-the-week telecasts this season. Boston, Detroit, Baltimore and Washington of the American League and Milwaukee, Pittsburgh and St. Louis in the National are signing up for the Sunday programs.

The Columbia Broadcasting System televised a Sunday game throughout last season and presumably plans to repeat next year. Both networks also carry a Saturday game.

Armchair Fans To See Miami Battle Oregon

Holy Cross-Boston Also Tangle Today

United Press International

The nation's armchair quarterbacks get a chance to warm up for the Jan. 1 bowl games by watching Saturday telecasts of two college football contests.

Miami of Florida plays host to Oregon and Holy Cross visit Boston College to provide the NBC-TV network's final two 1958 college football telecasts. TV time for the games is 1:15 p.m., e.s.t.

The Boston College-Holy Cross telecast will be seen in New England and Middle Atlantic states while the rest of the nation's TV viewers will see the Florida game. Oregon is favored by six points and Holy Cross by five.

Wide Open Football

The Oregon - Miami encounter should furnish some wide-open football. Oregon uses about a dozen variations of the basic T, shooting double-wingbacks, flankers and men in motion at the opposition. Willie West is the key man in the Oregon offense. He is the team's leading ground-gainer and pass catcher.

Miami, which will attempt to end its worst season in years with a victory, depends heavily upon the passes of quarterbacks Fran Curci and Bonnie Yarbrough, two left-handers. Curci has completed 85 for 854 yards and eight touchdowns but the team has won only one of nine games. Oregon has a 4-5 record.

Greene To Toss

Holy Cross (6-2) and Boston College (6-3) also are expected to throw plenty of passes. Tom Greene will do the tossing for Holy Cross while little John Amabile, a substitute for Don Allard, will throw for Boston College. Allard, rated one of the college game's top passers this season, is sidelined with a broken collarbone.

Jordan Decisions Akins To Capture Welter Title

Los Angeles Boxer Wins 15-Round Go Before 6,000 Fans

By JACK CUDDY
United Press International

Jordan, 24, and an underdog at 3 - 1, rode Negro Akins "like a horse" during most of the bout and gave valiant Virgil, of St. Louis, no punching room until the closing rounds when the challenger began to tire.

Winner Is Cheered

Jordan, the first Los Angeles-born welterweight ruler, gashed the 30-year-old champion on the right eye and had a menacing balcony of bruised flesh bulging from above the right brow.

Jordan, weighing 145 pounds to Akins' 145½, was cheered by the estimated crowd of 6,000 when the decision was announced, although there had been little doubt that Don had won by a good margin.

Akins Gets Boos

Akins was booed as he left the ring and he was booed in nearly every round because of his rough-house tactics of holding and hitting, butting and striking low. Referee Lee Grossman took a point away from Akins in the eighth round for a low blow and another point from him in the 14th for butting.

The three ring officials favored Jordan on a 10-point-must basis as follows: Grossman, 145 - 138; judge Mush Callahan, 145-132, and judge Tommy Hart, 146-136.

The United Press International agreed, 1.4-139.

Wins 9th In Row

Jordan, a former helper in a Los Angeles produce market, registered his ninth straight victory and his 44th in 55 fights.

Akins, making his first defense of the title he had won by knocking out Vince Martinez in the fourth round on June 6, suffered his 19th defeat in 68 professional fights.

Trautman Says Majors' TV Leads Minors To Graveyard

Calls New Sunday Telecasts Another Nail In The Coffin

WASHINGTON (AP) — George M. Trautman, head of the minor leagues, said Friday the major leagues and national television networks are leading the minors toward baseball's graveyard.

Trautman denounced plans for a second network to televise a big league game every Sunday as "just another nail in the coffin."

With support from Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, Trautman long has charged that loss of gate receipts attributable to free home television is destroying the minors.

The majors have replied that any agreement to restrict television coverage would violate federal antitrust laws.

Thursday the National Broadcasting Co. confirmed it would inaugurate Sunday big league game-of-the-week telecasts this season. Boston, Detroit, Baltimore and Washington of the American League and Milwaukee, Pittsburgh and St. Louis in the National are signing up for the Sunday programs.

The Columbia Broadcasting System televised a Sunday game throughout last season and presumably plans to repeat next year. Both networks also carry a Saturday game.

The nation's armchair quarterbacks get a chance to warm up for the Jan. 1 bowl games by watching Saturday telecasts of two college football contests.

Miami of Florida plays host to Oregon and Holy Cross visit Boston College to provide the NBC-TV network's final two 1958 college football telecasts. TV time for the games is 1:15 p.m., e.s.t.

The Boston College-Holy Cross telecast will be seen in New England and Middle Atlantic states while the rest of the nation's TV viewers will see the Florida game. Oregon is favored by six points and Holy Cross by five.

Wide Open Football

The Oregon - Miami encounter should furnish some wide-open football. Oregon uses about a dozen variations of the basic T, shooting double-wingbacks, flankers and men in motion at the or position. Willie West is the key man in the Oregon offense. He is the team's leading ground-gainer and pass catcher.

Miami, which will attempt to end its worst season in years with a victory, depends heavily upon the passes of quarterbacks Fran Curci and Bonnie Yarbrough, two left-handers. Curci has completed 85 for 854 yards and eight touchdowns but the team has won only one of nine games. Oregon has a 4-5 record.

Greene To Toss

Holy Cross (6-2) and Boston College (6-3) also are expected to throw plenty of passes. Tom Greene will do the tossing for Holy Cross while little John Amabile, a substitute for Don Allard, will throw for Boston College. Allard, rated one of the college game's top passers this season, is sidelined with a broken collarbone.

Petersburg Loses To Bayard, 51-40

PETERSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 5 — The invading Bayard High School five spoiled the opener here tonight of the Vikings of Petersburg, as they downed the locals by the score of 51 to 40.

The locals enjoyed a one-point lead at the end of the first quarter, but the visitors took command early in the second frame and never were headed.

Lonnie Kuhn hit for 16 points and substitute Jim Tephaback chipped in with 14 markers. High man for the Vikings was Ernie Nelson with 12 points.

The contest was marked with a total of 69 fouls being shot by the two teams. Petersburg had four men exit on fouls in the contest and Bayard had a man foul out.

Three Cumberland Basketball Leagues Will Open Monday

27 Teams Are Enrolled For Annual Grind

City, High School And Men's Leagues Ready For Openers

Opening games in the City, Men's and High School Recreation Basketball League are set for Monday night. There is a total of 27 teams in the three circuits.

The City League will launch its third year of operation. Through cooperation of the Board of Education the games are played at school gymnasiums and no admission is charged.

The Old Germans were the first champions of the league when they defeated Peskin's Shoe Store for top honors. The Loyal Order of Moose beat the Old Germans in the best-of-three playoffs last season.

Season play is split with each teams playing ten games a half. The first and second half winners meet in a best-of-three series for the title.

Six Teams Entered

The league will operate with six teams as in previous seasons. They are: Forty & Eight Club, Dave Ritter; K. of C., Bob Christ; Old Exports, Bob Pence; Moose, Herman Lewis; Chaney's Transportation, Bill Ryan; Moran's Five, Don Moran. Each team must furnish a scorekeeper and timer.

Moran's Five has replaced the Old Germans as the No. 6 team this year.

The league plays two games each night on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday at 7 and 8:30 o'clock.

Jack Klosterman and Bob Young have been signed to officiate the majority of the league games.

Nine In Men's Loop

Carolan's Tavern, John Reitmeier; Hafer House Furniture, Buddy Meade; Bernie's Atlantic, Carl Stump; Ballard's Cleaners, Jim Weakley; Wilson's Wrecks, Lee Cover; Carney Auto Parts, Wayne Holly; Yoder's Plumbers, Dick Niner; Peskin's Shoes, Bill Rice; Robinson's Plumbers, Tom Shaw.

Rosters in the Men's League are limited to 15 players per team, and each team in the league will play 16 games during the seasons with a Shaughnessy playoff among the top four teams.

In the High School League the teams and representatives are:

Tri-State Roofers, Jim Davis; Lovers Leap Esso, Carl Petenbrink; Wilkinson's Five, Jerry Langham; Malin's Chiros, Dr. Harold Malin; Police Boys Club, John Daum; Green Ridge Boys, Mr. Twigg; Diamond Bowling, Gary Crabtree; Tri-State Discount, Roger Saliga; Sander's Gulf, Rod Sanders; DeMolay, Wayne Couter; Vandegrift's Music Shop and Fort Hill Hi-Y.

Ten players per team is the limit in the High School League and at the end of the season a Shaughnessy playoff will be conducted with the four top teams participating.

Games in both the Men's Rec and High School leagues will be played at local high school gymnasiums.

Last season Hafer House Furniture won the title in the Men's League and Lover's Leap Esso won in the High School circuit.

West Virginia Opens Sale Of Licenses

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Hunting and fishing licenses for next year have been put on sale throughout West Virginia.

The Conservation Department announced Friday that, as usual, the licenses are being offered because of the demand as Christmas presents.

A half million licenses have been printed. This year, 350,000 were sold.

The 453 agents, including all county clerks, are charging the regular prices: $2 for a hunting license, $2 for a fishing license, and $3 for a combination hunting-fishing permit. In addition, there are small vendors' fees.

Trainer Lee Fined $100

First Choices Take Beating At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Dec. 5 (AP) — Becoming favorite continues to prove the "kiss of death" at Pimlico's race meeting. Not a single first choice graced the winner's circle during today's eight-race program.

It was Priscilla D. Willis' Little Tytus who wrought a mild upset in the featured Hampton Purse, sixth race, when he won by a nose from Joseph Serio Jr.'s Dr. Herb, who placed two-and-a-half lengths to the good of J. Graham Brown's Tacking.

Moving strongly on the turn, Little Tytus was third turning for home, took the lead at the furlong marker and then fought off Dr. Herb to be timed for the five-and-a-half furlongs in 1.11. He paid $10.80 straight.

Karl Korte handled Little Tytus in faultless style and was aboard his fifteenth winner of the meeting. He is now only two winners behind Steve Brooks, leading rider of the meeting, who left for Florida early in the week.

Early in the program the officials announced that Trainer Carroll D. Lee, who holds the riding contract on apprentice Larry Reynolds, was fined $100 for "ignoring numerous summonses to appear before the stewards."

Carroll Lee was the leading winning trainer at Fairgo in September. Larry Reynolds' two winners yesterday gave him a total of 12 and put him in third place in the jockey standings at Pimlico. The Ohio lad paced the riders at Fairgo this year with 25 winners in 12 days.

Iowa Coach Slated For Salary Boost

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa football Coach Forest Evashevski is in line for a sizeable increase in his $17,500 salary, one that might make him the highest paid coach in the Big Ten.

One figure mentioned—$20,000 a year—would make him a step ahead of Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes who is believed to be slightly under that figure.

A university source said also that Evashevski's assistants are expected to be recommended for salary increases.

Evashevski, whose Iowa teams twice have won Big Ten championships and trips to the Rose Bowl, has eight more years to go on his 10-year contract.

Design New Buggy

The British have designed a buggy that folds up like a suitcase, weighs only 700 pounds, seats four and can be set up in 60 seconds.

It's said to do 60 mph on a two cylinder engine and was designed primarily for airborne troops.

Smith, A $75,000 Bonus Pitcher, Can Afford To Blow Own Clarinet

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland band has a $75,000 clarinet player.

His value, though, is as a prospective big league baseball pitcher.

Dick Smith, from the little town of Walkersville in Western Maryland, was given the $75,000 by the Philadelphia Phillies. He also wangled all expenses for a college education.

It's going to take him eight years to get it. He started at Maryland and plans to finish at the University of Missouri. He wants to be a sports writer.

Meanwhile, he's playing the clarinet in the band. He also can play the piano and organ.

The 18-year-old southpaw pitcher will go to college only the first semester of each year. In February, he'll start spring training and play baseball in the summer.

Smith began his professional pitching in Class D competition last summer with Brunswick, Ga., and Johnson City, Tenn. He had a 3-2 record and a respectable earned run average of 2.74.

"I gotta learn from the ground up," he said in accepting his minor league assignment.

What sent a stream of baseball scouts to Walkersville last June was Smith's fantastic high school strikeout record. He fanned 123 out of a possible 147 in 49 innings. He walked only 10 and gave up the same number of hits.

Gray Phantom Ties Six Furlongs Mark At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 5 ¾ — Wheatley Stable's Gray Phantom equalled the Tropical Park track record for six furlongs while winning the featured seventh race today at Tropical Park.

The $4.10 favorite of the 6,780 bettors ran the sprint in 1:09 under Mike Kay's able handling. Dark Ruler, a one-time Wheatley runner, set the track standard in 1957.

Gray Phantom outfinished E. A. DeAngelo's What Record by three quarters of a length. What Record was a length and three quarters ahead of E. A. Dust's Royal Jester which led R. B. Walters' Paris All by a length and a quarter.

Innishowen, owned by Bernard K. Hatskin, smashed the track record for a mile and a sixteenth in the eighth. He was timed in 1.41, a second faster than Hoop Band's standard set last year.

Howie Johnson of Glenwoodie, Ill., held 141 and third place.

Eighteen hole rounds Saturday and Sunday will complete this tourney, the first major golf event event held in this part of the Caribbean.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Billy Cannon, who averaged six yards per carry while sparking Louisiana State to a perfect season, Friday was named college football's "Back of the Year" in the annual United Press International poll.

Cannon, a triple - threat back and all-around athlete who has run 100 yards in 9.5 seconds, won the poll in a walk. He received the votes of 99 of the 297 sports writers and broadcasters who took part in the nationwide balloting.

Pete Dawkins, Army halfback, was runner-up with 59 votes and Randy Duncan, Iowa quarterback, was third with 49. These three stars accounted for 207 of the votes cast.

The remaining 90 were scattered among 17 players with Joe Kapp, California quarterback, fourth with 30. Dick Bass, College of Pacific halfback, and Bob White, Ohio State fullback, tied for fifth with 10 each.

Cannon and Dawkins also ran 1-2 last week in the voting for the UPI All-America team with the LSU star topping the Army back by a slight margin.

Browns Face Sunday Test With Eagles

Giants At Detroit, Los Angeles Rams Host Colts Today

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Brown, the rugged, rushing mainstay of the Cleveland Browns, experienced his worst two games just after he had broken the National Football League's one-season ground gaining record. If the Philadelphia Eagles can halt him again Sunday, it may be the turning point in the league's Eastern Division race.

Cleveland won both games although Brown was limited to 66 yards by the Eagles Nov. 23 and to 12 yards by the Washington Redskins last Sunday. He had piled up 1,163 yards in eight previous games, wiping out the record 1,146 made by Philadelphia's Steve Van Buren in 12 games in 1949.

Browns' Lead Slim

The Browns go into their next to last game of the season one game ahead of the New York Giants and with a chance to clinch their second straight Eastern Division title. While Cleveland is playing the Eagles in Philadelphia, the Giants visit Detroit, always a troublesome opponent for the New Yorkers.

Cleveland's record is 8-2, New York's 7-3 with two games to go. The third-place Pittsburgh Steelers (6-4) play the Redskins at Washington, hoping to preserve their outside chance of making it a three-way tie.

Colts Play Today

The Baltimore Colts, who already have clinched the Western Division title with nine victories in 10 games, play the Rams at Los Angeles Saturday in a nationally televised game (CBS, 4:30 p.m., EST). Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas can beat Cecil Isbell's NFL record of passing for touchdowns in 23 consecutive games.

The Rams (6-4) are tied for second in the West with the Chicago Bears, who stage their annual hometown donnybrook with the Cardinals Sunday. The other Sunday game sends the West's last-place Green Bay Packers to San Francisco to meet the 49ers.

Yankees Will Buy Richmond Franchise

RICHMOND (AP) — The World Champion New York Yankees will buy and operate the Richmond franchise of the International League.

The announcement, made jointly Friday by Richmond President E. Claiborne Robins and the Yankees, made no mention of the sale price.

The sale will give the Yankees, who have had a working agreement with the triple A team for the past three years, ownership of three minor league clubs. The Detroit Tigers are the only other American League club that owns three minor teams.

Five high school teams in the tri-state area will open their basketball season tonight in games set for Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, Accident, Oakland and Romney.

Coach John C. Meyers' Valley High Black Knights kick off the lid by playing host to the LaSalle High School Explorers, who got off to a good start on Wednesday by whipping Fort Ashby, 71-68.

Valley lost Gordon Green, Dave Hobel, Jerry Llewellyn and Billy Dye of last season's team that won 16 and lost seven and this year's quint will be built around the 230-pound George Lauder, who is on the squad for the fourth season, and Hank Winner. Lauder paced the Knights in scoring last season with 412 points in 20 contests.

Joe Stanislawczyk and Dee Cessare will officiate in the game at Valley set for 8 o'clock. Jayvee teams will tangle in the prelim at 6:45.

Oldtown plays at Mt. Savage, Piedmont High's Lions will be gunning for their second win of the week in the Potomac Valley Conference when they battle the Highlanders of Southern in Oakland, Northern High's Huskies host the Alumni and the West Virginia School for the Deaf battles the Alumni at Romney.

LaSalle-Valley Game Seats Not Reserved

Seats will not be reserved for the Valley-LaSalle game tonight on the Valley High School court, Coach John C. Meyers announced last night.

Bleachers that will accommodate an additional 200 spectators have been installed at the Valley gym and there are still plenty of seats available for tonight's contest, Meyers said.

Patterson Willing To Meet Johansson

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson wants to fight Sweden's Ingemar Johansson.

"And I hope soon," said Patterson. "He's the No. 1."

The 23-year-old champ has been out of action since Aug. 18, when he stopped Texan Roy Harris in the 12th round, and he's itching to fight.

After he had whipped Harris, Patterson said he hoped to fight again soon. His manager, Cus D'Amato, wouldn't comment. D'Amato recently conferred with Johansson and his Swedish "adviser", Edwin Ahlquist, about a title fight, but D'Amato said nothing had been settled.

Touch Grid Title Games Sunday

Wageley's Clowns and the Old Exports will battle it out for the championship of the Adult Touch Football League Sunday at 3 p.m., instead of 2 p.m., as previously announced, at Post Field.

The league is sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

Mountaineers Battle Penn State Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Victors in narrow escapes from underrated southern opponents, West Virginia begins play in friendly Mountaineer Field House Saturday night against arch rival Penn State.

Tickets are still available for the 54th meeting of these teams. Penn State has won 28 of the battles and West Virginia, 25. But the Mountaineers swept five of the previous six.

West Virginia has won 22 straight home contests since Pitt won at Morgantown in 1956. Penn State won three times in the Field House with Jesse Arnelle in the lineup.

Maryland's Deer Kills Total 2,680 First Four Days

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland hunters are thinning out the state's deer population at a record clip.

Game officials reported a Thursday kill of 330. This was 32 less than the fourth day report last year, but raised the four-day total to 2,680, or 18 over last year's pace.

No serious accidents have been reported during the season which ends Saturday.

Thursday's kill was the lowest of the season and marked the first day that a county other than Garrett or Allegany led the report.

Harford was tops with 109 deer. All but nine were shot in the hunting grounds at Edgewood Arsenal and Aberdeen Proving Ground.

Figures of the Department of Game and Inland Fish show these four day totals for the 19 counties open to deer hunting:

Garrett 548, Allegany 479, Harford 337, Washington 258, Worcester 205, Frederick 175, Cecil 149, Dorchester 135, Kent 114, Somerset 51, Wicomico 37, Charles 36, Baltimore 35, Talbot 31, Queen Annes 29, Carroll 26, Calvert 16, Caroline 14 and St. Marys 5.

The Harford County total includes 160 at Aberdeen and 127 at Edgewood.

In the High School League the teams and representatives are:

Tri-State Roofers, Jim Davis; Lovers Leap Esso, Carl Petenbrink; Wilkinson's Five, Jerry Langham; Malin's Chiros, Dr. Harold Malin; Police Boys Club, John Daum; Green Ridge Boys, Mr. Twigg; Diamond Bowling, Gary Crabtree; Tri-State Discount, Roger Saliga; Sander's Gulf, Rod Sanders; DeMolay, Wayne Couter; Vandegrift's Music Shop and Fort Hill Hi-Y.

Ten players per team is the limit in the High School League and at the end of the season a Shaughnessy playoff will be conducted with the four top teams participating.

Last season Hafer House Furniture won the title in the Men's League and Lover's Leap Esso won in the High School circuit.

West Virginia Opens Sale Of Licenses

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Hunting and fishing licenses for next year have been put on sale throughout West Virginia.

The Conservation Department announced Friday that, as usual, the licenses are being offered because of the demand as Christmas presents.

Trainer Lee Fined $100

First Choices Take Beating At Pimlico

BALTIMORE, Dec. 5 (AP) — Becoming favorite continues to prove the "kiss of death" at Pimlico's race meeting. Not a single first choice graced the winner's circle during today's eight-race program.

It was Priscilla D. Willis' Little Tytus who wrought a mild upset in the featured Hampton Purse, sixth race, when he won by a nose from Joseph Serio Jr.'s Dr. Herb, who placed two-and-a-half lengths to the good of J. Graham Brown's Tacking.

Moving strongly on the turn, Little Tytus was third turning for home, took the lead at the furlong marker and then fought off Dr. Herb to be timed for the five-and-a-half furlongs in 1.11. He paid $10.80 straight.

Karl Korte handled Little Tytus in faultless style and was aboard his fifteenth winner of the meeting. He is now only two winners behind Steve Brooks, leading rider of the meeting, who left for Florida early in the week.

Early in the program the officials announced that Trainer Carroll D. Lee, who holds the riding contract on apprentice Larry Reynolds, was fined $100 for "ignoring numerous summonses to appear before the stewards."

Carroll Lee was the leading winning trainer at Fairgo in September. Larry Reynolds' two winners yesterday gave him a total of 12 and put him in third place in the jockey standings at Pimlico. The Ohio lad paced the riders at Fairgo this year with 25 winners in 12 days.

Iowa Coach Slated For Salary Boost

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa football Coach Forest Evashevski is in line for a sizeable increase in his $17,500 salary, one that might make him the highest paid coach in the Big Ten.

One figure mentioned—$20,000 a year—would make him a step ahead of Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes who is believed to be slightly under that figure.

A university source said also that Evashevski's assistants are expected to be recommended for salary increases.

Evashevski, whose Iowa teams twice have won Big Ten championships and trips to the Rose Bowl, has eight more years to go on his 10-year contract.

Design New Buggy

The British have designed a buggy that folds up like a suitcase, weighs only 700 pounds, seats four and can be set up in 60 seconds.

It's said to do 60 mph on a two cylinder engine and was designed primarily for airborne troops.

Smith, A $75,000 Bonus Pitcher, Can Afford To Blow Own Clarinet

By GEORGE BOWEN

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The University of Maryland band has a $75,000 clarinet player.

His value, though, is as a prospective big league baseball pitcher.

Dick Smith, from the little town of Walkersville in Western Maryland, was given the $75,000 by the Philadelphia Phillies. He also wangled all expenses for a college education.

It's going to take him eight years to get it. He started at Maryland and plans to finish at the University of Missouri. He wants to be a sports writer.

Meanwhile, he's playing the clarinet in the band. He also can play the piano and organ.

The 18-year-old southpaw pitcher will go to college only the first semester of each year. In February, he'll start spring training and play baseball in the summer.

Smith began his professional pitching in Class D competition last summer with Brunswick, Ga., and Johnson City, Tenn. He had a 3-2 record and a respectable earned run average of 2.74.

"I gotta learn from the ground up," he sa; in accepting his minor league assignment.

What sent a stream of baseball scouts to Walkersville last June was Smith's fantastic high school strikeout record. He fanned 123 out of a possible 147 in 49 innings. He walked only 10 and gave up the same number of hits.

Gray Phantom Ties Six Furlongs Mark At Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 5 (AP) — Wheatley Stable's Gray Phantom equalled the Tropical Park track record for six furlongs while winning the featured seventh race today at Tropical Park.

The $4.10 favorite of the 6,780 bettors ran the sprint in 1:09 under Mike Kay's able handling. Dark Ruler, a one-time Wheatley runner, set the track standard in 1957.

Gray Phantom outfinished E. A. DeAngelo's What Record by three quarters of a length. What Record was a length and three quarters ahead of E. A. Dust's Royal Jester which led R. B. Walters' Paris All by a length and a quarter.

Innishowen, owned by Bernard K. Hatskin, smashed the track record for a mile and a sixteenth in the eighth. He was timed in 1.41, a second faster than Hoop Band's standard set last year.

Cannon Voted Back Of Year

Dawkins Runner-Up In Annual UPI Poll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Billy Cannon, who averaged six yards per carry while sparking Louisiana State to a perfect season, Friday was named college football's "Back of the Year" in the annual United Press International poll.

Cannon, a triple - threat back and all-around athlete who has run 100 yards in 9.5 seconds, won the poll in a walk. He received the votes of 99 of the 297 sports writers and broadcasters who took part in the nationwide balloting.

Pete Dawkins, Army halfback, was runner-up with 59 votes and Randy Duncan, Iowa quarterback, was third with 49. These three stars accounted for 207 of the votes cast.

The remaining 90 were scattered among 17 players with Joe Kapp, California quarterback, fourth with 30. Dick Bass, College of Pacific halfback, and Bob White, Ohio State fullback, tied for fifth with 10 each.

Cannon and Dawkins also ran 1-2 last week in the voting for the UPI All-America team with the LSU star topping the Army back by a slight margin.

Browns Face Sunday Test With Eagles

Giants At Detroit, Los Angeles Rams Host Colts Today

By The Associated Press

Jimmy Brown, the rugged, rushing mainstay of the Cleveland Browns, experienced his worst two games just after he had broken the National Football League's one-season ground gaining record. If the Philadelphia Eagles can halt him again Sunday, it may be the turning point in the league's Eastern Division race.

Cleveland won both games although Brown was limited to 66 yards by the Eagles Nov. 23 and to 12 yards by the Washington Redskins last Sunday. He had piled up 1,163 yards in eight previous games, wiping out the record 1,146 made by Philadelphia's Steve Van Buren in 12 games in 1949.

Browns' Lead Slim

The Browns go into their next to last game of the season one game ahead of the New York Giants and with a chance to clinch their second straight Eastern Division title. While Cleveland is playing the Eagles in Philadelphia, the Giants visit Detroit, always a troublesome opponent for the New Yorkers.

Cleveland's record is 8-2, New York's 7-3 with two games to go. The third-place Pittsburgh Steelers (6-4) play the Redskins at Washington, hoping to preserve their outside chance of making it a three-way tie.

Colts Play Today

The Baltimore Colts, who already have clinched the Western Division title with nine victories in 10 games, play the Rams at Los Angeles Saturday in a nationally televised game (CBS, 4:30 p.m., EST). Colt quarterback Johnny Unitas can beat Cecil Isbell's NFL record of passing for touchdowns in 23 consecutive games.

The Rams (6-4) are tied for second in the West with the Chicago Bears, who stage their annual hometown donnybrook with the Cardinals Sunday. The other Sunday game sends the West's last-place Green Bay Packers to San Francisco to meet the 49ers.

Yankees Will Buy Richmond Franchise

RICHMOND (AP) — The World Champion New York Yankees will buy and operate the Richmond franchise of the International League.

The announcement, made jointly Friday by Richmond President E. Claiborne Robins and the Yankees, made no mention of the sale price.

The sale will give the Yankees, who have had a working agreement with the triple A team for the past three years, ownership of three minor league clubs. The Detroit Tigers are the only other American League club that owns three minor teams.

Valley Opens Season With LaSalle Tonight

Piedmont Invades Oakland; Oldtown Faces Mt. Savage

Five high school teams in the tri-state area will open their basketball season tonight in games set for Lonaconing, Mt. Savage, Accident, Oakland and Romney.

Coach John C. Meyers' Valley High Black Knights kick off the lid by playing host to the LaSalle High School Explorers, who got off to a good start on Wednesday by whipping Fort Ashby, 71-68.

Valley lost Gordon Green, Dave Hobel, Jerry Llewellyn and Billy Dye of last season's team that won 16 and lost seven and this year's quint will be built around the 230-pound George Lauder, who is on the squad for the fourth season, and Hank Winner. Lauder paced the Knights in scoring last season with 412 points in 20 contests.

Joe Stanislawczyk and Dee Cessare will officiate in the game at Valley set for 8 o'clock. Jayvee teams will tangle in the prelim at 6:45.

Oldtown plays at Mt. Savage.

Piedmont High's Lions will be gunning for their second win of the week in the Potomac Valley Conference when they battle the Highlanders of Southern in Oakland. Northern High's Huskies host the Alumni and the West Virginia School for the Deaf battles the Alumni at Romney.

Frederick and South Hagerstown's Rebels of the Cumberland Valley Athletic League play in non-league contests tonight. Homer Brooks' Cadets entertain Musselman High School and Nick Scallion's South High floormen host Greencastle High of Franklin County, Pa.

LaSalle-Valley Game Seats Not Reserved

Seats will not be reserved for the Valley-LaSalle game tonight on the Valley High School court, Coach John C. Meyers announced last night.

Bleachers that will accommodate an additional 200 spectators have been installed at the Valley gym and there are still plenty of seats available for tonight's contest, Meyers said.

Patterson Willing To Meet Johansson

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson wants to fight Sweden's Ingemar Johansson.

"And I hope soon," said Patterson. "He's the No. 1."

The 23-year-old champ has been out of action since Aug. 18, when he stopped Texan Roy Harris in the 12th round, and he's itching to fight.

After he had whipped Harris, Patterson said he hoped to fight again soon. His manager, Cus D'Amato, wouldn't comment. D'Amato recently conferred with Johansson and his Swedish "adviser", Edwin Ahlquist, about a title fight, but D'Amato said nothing had been settled.

Touch Grid Title Games Sunday

Wageley's Clowns and the Old Exports will battle it out for the championship of the Adult Touch Football League Sunday at 3 p.m., instead of 2 p.m., as previously announced, at Post Field.

The league is sponsored by the City Recreation Department.

Mountaineers Battle Penn State Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — Victors in narrow escapes from underrated southern opponents, West Virginia begins play in friendly Mountaineer Field House Saturday night against arch rival Penn State.

Tickets are still available for the 54th meeting of these teams. Penn State has won 28 of the battles and West Virginia, 25. But the Mountaineers swept five of the previous six.

West Virginia has won 22 straight home contests since Pitt won at Morgantown in 1956. Penn State won three times in the Field House with Jesse Arnelle in the lineup.

Maryland's Deer Kills Total 2,680 First Four Days

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland hunters are thinning out the state's deer population at a record clip.

Game officials reported a Thursday kill of 330. This was 32 less than the fourth day report last year, but raised the four-day total to 2,680, or 18 over last year's pace.

No serious accidents have been reported during the season which ends Saturday.

Thursday's kill was the lowest of the season and marked the first day that a county other than Garrett or Allegany led the report.

Harford was tops with 109 deer. All but nine were shot in the hunting grounds at Edgewood Arsenal and Aberdeen Proving Ground.

Figures of the Department of Game and Inland Fish show these four day totals for the 19 counties open to deer hunting:

Garrett 548, Allegany 479, Harford 337, Washington 258, Worcester 205, Frederick 175, Cecil 149, Dorchester 135, Kent 114, Somerset 51, Wicomico 37, Charles 36, Baltimore 35, Talbot 31, Queen Annes 29, Carroll 26, Calvert 16, Caroline 14 and St. Marys 5.

The Harford County total includes 160 at Aberdeen and 127 at Edgewood.

Hawkins Named Player Of Year

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Big, durable Alex Hawkins who came from the West Virginia hills to become a devastating halfback at South Carolina Friday was named the Atlantic Coast Conference's "football player of the year."

"The Hawk," from South Charleston, W. Va., led the balloting for the annual all-ACC team chosen by the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Assn. For player of the year he polled 146 points in the voting by 68 ACSWA members, and was named on 22 first place ballots.

Quarterback Jack Cummings of North Carolina was second with 121 points and halfback Wray Carlton of Duke was third with 112.

Child Study Conference Ends

Bids Sought For Additional Work At ABL

The Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks is advertising for bids on more construction work at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Rear Adm. A. J. Fay, officer in charge of the Fifth Naval District, said bids on the miscellaneous work will be received until 2 p. m. December 30 at the District, Norfolk Naval Base.

The work calls for miscellaneous building facilities and exterior services for three existing buildings.

It also includes additions, concrete work, built-up roofing, sprinkler systems, heating and cooling equipment, control apparatus, masonry, hoists, water, electrical and other incidental related work.

The estimated cost range of the group of projects is from $25,000 to $1000,000, according to Adm. Fay.

This rehabilitation work plus the additions is another in the series of construction jobs that have been undertaken at the plant which is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy.

Recently, an addition was made to the main office building. Other structures relating to the highly classified rocket research work have been built in the past year.

Just last month, the Charles Tompkins Company of Washington was named subcontractor on Phase 2 of a new building program.

The bid of $1,886,322 was the lowest one received and the work is in connection with the Polaris project. The Polaris is a Navy submarine-launched missile.

Phase 2 consists of the construction of four buildings with associated service facilities.

ABL produces, among other propellants, the solid fuel that was used for the third stage of the Air Force moon rocket.

Senior Citizens Plan Yule Party

The Senior Citizens Club sponsored by the Recreation Department will hold its annual Christmas party Thursday at 2 p. m. in the home of BPO Elks Lodge 63, South Centre Street.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, assisted by Mrs. Maxine Zehrbaugh, volunteer worker, is supervising the program. It will include a number of selections by the "Kingsley-aires" of Kingsley Methodist Church whose appearance was arranged through John Bennett; a Christmas reading by Hattie Bergdoll and group singing with Mrs. Lawrence Middlekamp as pianist.

Holiday games will be played and jingle gifts exchanged. Ladies of the club are to bring homemade cookies and candies and decorations will be in the holiday motif.

for mechanics at Luke. He added that this program is to be worked out at the Luke mill by the company and the union.

The company is not asking for any change in seniority rules at any of the three mills in the bargaining unit, he said.

Four Changes Offered

In response to the union demands, the company offered four contract changes, including call-ins, bumping rights for people on leave of absence, extension of departmental recall rights in certain situations and extension of leaves of absence in sickness and accident cases.

Another change is the elimination of contract coverage of hourly-rated supervision, if the National Labor Relations Board rules that these jobs are to be excluded from the bargaining unit.

The wage increase, Mr. Valentine said, will become effective on the Monday following the day on which the contract is ratified and signed. The contract will run until November 17, 1959.

Officials To Attend Shrine Ceremonial

Officials from nearby temples will be here today to participate in the Fall Ceremonial of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S.

Expected are William Jacobs, immediate past president of the Mid-Atlantic Shrine Association, and Latimer Barkley, potentate, from Almas Temple, Washington; Howard Murphy, past potentate, Rajah Temple, Altoona, and Arthur Kromer, Recorder Jesse Nicodemus and Chief Rabban Charles Hendricks, all of Jaffa Temple, Altoona.

Orville F. Rush, imperial captain of the guard, Alexandria, Va., has indicated he hopes to attend.

Some three dozen candidates will be initiated during the festivities at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The class is being named for A. Wayne Reed, Frostburg, grand master of Masons in Maryland.

County Employes Get Pay Dec. 23

On motion of Commissioner William A. Wilson the Allegany yesterday ordered that the payroll of county employes be issued December 23 in time for Christmas.

The board received the reports of the two county dog wardens for November.

Merwin Hast, warden for the eastern section of the county, listed $262.50 receipts for dog tags, $26 for adopted dogs and boarding fees, 192 dogs picked up, 158 dogs destroyed, 17 dogs reclaimed and 17 dogs adopted. He traveled 1,161 miles during the month answering calls.

Burza Hanlin, the warden for the western area, listed $67.25 for dog tags, five dogs killed on highways, 108 dogs picked up and 48 complaints investigated. He traveled 980 miles in his work during the month.

Gamble Attends Baltimore Session

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools, is ending a two-day stay in Baltimore today, where the Board of Control of the Maryland Music Educators Association is beginning to map plans for the 1959 meeting of the State Teachers Association next October.

Dr. Gamble has been designated to head the junior high school and senior high school music section at the State Teachers Convention in October.

Commercial Press Gets Printing Job

Other bids came from Monarch Printing Company, this city, $21, and Cook Printing Company, Frostburg, $24.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

Just 25 years ago, along about this time of day, Utah became the 36th state to ratify the 21st Amendment to the federal Constitution. Repeal was a legal fact. A majority of the people of the nation and their representatives had decreed what most of them knew all along—that individual tastes cannot effectively be legislated out of existence.

The end of Prohibition came at the end of the nation's disgust with the evils it had occasioned. This 13-year-long drought forced upon the land had been conclusively proved unworkable. No one can compute the amount of taxpayers' money spent on trying to enforce it—though the nation was on the brink of bankruptcy and 12,000,000 were out of work when its life span ended. No electronic brain could tote the extent of the corruption of police, enforcement officers, or the blindness and deaths caused from bad booze, or the untaxed dollars earned by criminals, or the casualty rates among the bootlegging tongs.

The public disgust reached its crest in the St. Valentine's Day massacre in 1929, when a group of Dion O'Banon's lodge members were perforated permanently by some employes of Al Capone. But this was but a publicized skirmish in a war of relentless greed which cost the lives of thousands. It would be difficult to guess at what the toll would be by this time if repeal had not been voted.

The licensed beverages industry is one of the least applauded in our land, yet it is difficult to locate one which has had a more profound influence on the course of our events. Repeal cut corruption, social deterioration, scofflawing and crimes of violence. It eliminated a sagging drain on the federal budget, made jobs, provided breathtaking income.

The industry today directly employs 1,200,000 persons with a payroll of more than $4.4 billion. Its 1,280 producing plants, 7,500 wholesalers and 400,000 retailers represent an investment of $9.3 billion in the country's economy. Last year, producers paid out more than $1 billion to American farmers, container manufacturers, utility companies and allied causes. Wholesalers put $1.5 billion into their home communities, and the people who work in the industry spent about $4 billion for goods and services.

It is taxed up to its ears. Whatever you pay for a bottle, 55 per cent of that sum at least is for taxes. The federal excise tax alone on distilled spirits has leaped 854 per cent since repeal—from $1.10 a gallon to $10.50.

During these past 25 years the industry has paid $62 billion in taxes to federal, state and local governments. That's as much as the U.S. government spent from 1798 through World War I. It is a bigger sum than the cost of all veterans' benefits since World War II PLUS the entire cost of the atomic energy program.

The incredible fact is that the government which has been the beneficiary of this colossal income loses untold additional sums by not cracking down more severely on moonshiners. Industry spokesmen say that at least one out of every four gallons of grog consumed in the U.S. these days was cooked in an illicit still. Some 25,000 of these stills were knocked off last year by the revenooers but thousands more survive as a simmering menace to public health and welfare.

The federal and state governments may be losing at least $1 billion a year through the tax evasions of moonshiners. They peddle their stuff under labels you never heard of, offering the jump—steady at prices no honest producer could hope to match with pure and regulated products.

Twenty-five years after it was a crime to sell or take even a non-poisonous drink, nearly every state depends on its whisky taxes for the partial operation of schools, hospitals, old age assistance, aid to crippled children, blind benefits, pensions for policemen and firemen, veterans' relief, debt retirement, property tax relief and the like.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Over night Debbie Reynolds has matured and instead of little Debbie she may be called Deborah Reynolds. Personally, I don't want her to change her name but Bill Perlberg, who signed her for "The Rat Race," the Garson Kanin Broadway play, says it is such a strong dramatic role he feels that "Debbie" sounds too youthful.

He raved over Debbie and thinks she and Tony Curtis will be a great team in the Kanin play. It will be directed by Bob Mulligan, who did Tony Perkins' first picture "Fear Strikes Out."

Now don't for a minute think that the old reliable team of Perlberg-Seaton is breaking up. George will be busy on something else while "The Rat Race" is being brought to the screen. Meanwhile, Debbie first reports Monday morning for wardrobe at 20th for the Bing Crosby picture, "Say One for Me."

Mike Todd Jr., is in town for a few days with Bill Doll who was closely associated with Mike Sr., for many years. Young Todd goes to Spain in March for "Scent of Mystery," his first motion picture, and in this Elizabeth Taylor will be associated only in a financial way.

One thing Mike Jr., refuses to do is discuss the Eddie Fisher-Elizabeth Taylor romance, but he does talk to his father's widow very often and he will see her while he's here. He's a very nice boy, and a very capable one, and he has the good wishes of everyone in his production efforts.

Producer Victor Saville planes out of London this week end for Munich to see Maria Schell about his "Legacy of a Spy", an International espionage thriller.

One thing that will about cinch the deal with Maria is that Saville is asking her husband, Horst Haechler, to do the directing. When Maria and her bridegroom were in Hollywood they were devoted honeymooners and so in love they were separated only when Maria was actually in front of the MGM cameras.

Exteriors on "Legacy of a Spy" will be filmed in Switzerland, a very nice place to be during the winter holidays, another good reason for Maria and Horst to accept.

The name of Dean Martin came up for discussion the other night and it was the consensus that at the close of the year, Dean will be put down as one, if not THE actor, who has made the greatest stride in 1958.

I was sorry to hear that Dean won't be able to appear in "Oceans 11", with Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford. This is the picture the boys were scheduled to make on location in Las Vegas starting April 15. That's how far ahead Dean is tied up. He has a commitment with Columbia for "The Beach Boy", also at that time, and now Frank Sinatra, who was greatly disappointed, put in a bid for Jack Lemmon, to replace Dean.

That reminds me—"Slice of Lemmon," Jack's record, is building and building.

The unexpected trip of Marlon Brando's to New York was to see France Nuyen and her play "The World of Suzy Wong." This friendship is by no means over as has been printed. Even though the very attractive France's friends have begged her to give up Marlon, I am reliably informed that she has refused to end her friendship with the inscrutable Marlon.

He also worked while he was away, on ideas for "One-Eyed Jacks," and came home with so many new ideas, that he promptly called for a secretary to take notes on his new thoughts.

James Mason and National Telefilm Associates couldn't get together on price for their TV series "The Third Man", so James bowed out and Michael Rennie bowed in. Rennie recently completed "Man on a Mountain" for Walt Disney in Switzerland.

"Third Man" will consist of 39 episodes and will be made in conjunction with BBC. Twenty episodes will be made in Hollywood and 19 in London. Felix Jackson, who made a reputation for himself with Studio One, goes to London to acquaint himself with the English side of production.

Child Study Conference Ends

Bids Sought For Additional Work At ABL

The Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks is advertising for bids on more construction work at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

Rear Adm. A. J. Fay, officer in charge of the Fifth Naval District, said bids on the miscellaneous work will be received until 2 p. m. December 30 at the District, Norfolk Naval Base.

The work calls for miscellaneous building facilities and exterior services for three existing buildings.

It also includes additions, concrete work, built-up roofing, sprinkler systems, heating and cooling equipment, control apparatus, masonry, hoists, water, electrical and other incidental related work.

The estimated cost range of the group of projects is from $25,000 to $1000,000, according to Adm. Fay.

This rehabilitation work plus the additions is another in the series of construction jobs that have been undertaken at the plant which is operated by Hercules Powder Company for the Navy.

Recently, an addition was made to the main office building. Other structures relating to the highly classified rocket research work have been built in the past year.

Just last month, the Charles Tompkins Company of Washington was named subcontractor on Phase 2 of a new building program.

The bid of $1,886,322 was the lowest one received and the work is in connection with the Polaris project. The Polaris is a Navy submarine-launched missile.

Phase 2 consists of the construction of four buildings with associated service facilities.

ABL produces, among other propellants, the solid fuel that was used for the third stage of the Air Force moon rocket.

Senior Citizens Plan Yule Party

The Senior Citizens Club sponsored by the Recreation Department will hold its annual Christmas party Thursday at 2 p. m. in the home of BPO Elks Lodge 63, South Centre Street.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant recreation director, assisted by Mrs. Maxine Zehrbaugh, volunteer worker, is supervising the program. It will include a number of selections by the "Kingsley-aires" of Kingsley Methodist Church whose appearance was arranged through John Bennett; a Christmas reading by Hattie Bergdoll and group singing with Mrs. Lawrence Middlekamp as pianist.

Holiday games will be played and jingle gifts exchanged. Ladies of the club are to bring homemade cookies and candies and decorations will be in the holiday motif.

Paper Union

for mechanics at Luke. He added that this program is to be worked out at the Luke mill by the company and the union.

The company is not asking for any change in seniority rules at any of the three mills in the bargaining unit, he said.

Four Changes Offered

In response to the union demands, the company offered four contract changes, including call-ins, bumping rights for people on leave of absence, extension of departmental recall rights in certain situations and extension of leaves of absence in sickness and accident cases.

Another change is the elimination of contract coverage of hourly-rated supervision, if the National Labor Relations Board rules that these jobs are to be excluded from the bargaining unit.

The wage increase, Mr. Valentine said, will become effective on the Monday following the day on which the contract is ratified and signed. The contract will run until November 17, 1959.

Officials To Attend Shrine Ceremonial

Officials from nearby temples will be here today to participate in the Fall Ceremonial of Ali Ghan Temple, A.A.O.N.M.S.

Expected are William Jacobs, immediate past president of the Mid-Atlantic Shrine Association, and Latimer Barkley, potentate, from Almas Temple, Washington; Howard Murphy, past potentate, Rajah Temple, Altoona, and Arthur Kromer, Recorder Jesse Nicodemus and Chief Rabban Charles Hendricks, all of Jaffa Temple, Altoona.

Orville F. Rush, imperial captain of the guard, Alexandria, Va., has indicated he hopes to attend.

Some three dozen candidates will be initiated during the festivities at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The class is being named for A. Wayne Reed, Frostburg, grand master of Masons in Maryland.

County Employes Get Pay Dec. 23

On motion of Commissioner William A. Wilson the Allegany yesterday ordered that the payroll of county employes be issued December 23 in time for Christmas.

The board received the reports of the two county dog wardens for November.

Merwin Hast, warden for the eastern section of the county, listed $262.50 receipts for dog tags, $26 for adopted dogs and boarding fees, 192 dogs picked up, 158 dogs destroyed, 17 dogs reclaimed and 17 dogs adopted. He traveled 1,161 miles during the month answering calls.

Burza Hanlin, the warden for the western area, listed $67.25 for dog tags, five dogs killed on highways, 108 dogs picked up and 48 complaints investigated. He traveled 980 miles in his work during the month.

Gamble Attends Baltimore Session

Dr. Frank E. Gamble, supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools, is ending a two-day stay in Baltimore today, where the Board of Control of the Maryland Music Educators Association is beginning to map plans for the 1959 meeting of the State Teachers Association next October.

Dr. Gamble has been designated to head the junior high school and senior high school music section at the State Teachers Convention in October.

Commercial Press Gets Printing Job

The new Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday awarded a contract to Commercial Press for 2,500 letterheads on a low bid of $19.25.

Other bids came from Monarch Printing Company, this city, $21, and Cook Printing Company, Frostburg, $24.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

Just 25 years ago, along about this time of day, Utah became the 36th state to ratify the 21st Amendment to the federal Constitution. Repeal was a legal fact. A majority of the people of the nation and their representatives had decreed what most of them knew all along—that individual tastes cannot effectively be legislated out of existence.

The end of Prohibition came at the end of the nation's disgust with the evils it had occasioned. This 13-year-long drought forced upon the land had been conclusively proved unworkable. No one can compute the amount of taxpayers' money spent on trying to enforce it—though the nation was on the brink of bankruptcy and 12,000,000 were out of work when its life span ended. No electronic brain could tote the extent of the corruption of police, enforcement officers, or the blindness and deaths caused from bad booze, or the untaxed dollars earned by criminals, or the casualty rates among the bootlegging tongs.

The public disgust reached its crest in the St. Valentine's Day massacre in 1929, when a group of Dion O'Banon's lodge members were perforated permanently by some employes of Al Capone. But this was but a publicized skirmish in a war of relentless greed which cost the lives of thousands. It would be difficult to guess at what the toll would be by this time if repeal had not been voted.

The licensed beverages industry is one of the least applauded in our land, yet it is difficult to locate one which has had a more profound influence on the course of our events. Repeal cut corruption, social deterioration, scofflawing and crimes of violence. It eliminated a sagging drain on the federal budget, made jobs, provided breathtaking income.

The industry today directly employs 1,200,000 persons with a payroll of more than $4.4 billion. Its 1,280 producing plants, 7,500 wholesalers and 400,000 retailers represent an investment of $9.3 billion in the country's economy. Last year, producers paid out more than $1 billion to American farmers, container manufacturers, utility companies and allied causes. Wholesalers put $1.5 billion into their home communities, and the people who work in the industry spent about $4 billion for goods and services.

It is taxed up to its ears. Whatever you pay for a bottle, 55 per cent of that sum at least is for taxes. The federal excise tax alone on distilled spirits has leaped 854 per cent since repeal—from $1.10 a gallon to $10.50.

During these past 25 years the industry has paid $62 billion in taxes to federal, state and local governments. That's as much as the U.S. government spent from 1798 through World War I. It is a bigger sum than the cost of all veterans' benefits since World War II PLUS the entire cost of the atomic energy program.

The incredible fact is that the government which has been the beneficiary of this colossal income loses untold additional sums by not cracking down more severely on moonshiners. Industry spokesmen say that at least one out of every four gallons of grog consumed in the U.S. these days was cooked in an illicit still. Some 25,000 of these stills were knocked off last year by the revenooers but thousands more survive as a simmering menace to public health and welfare.

The federal and state governments may be losing at least $1 billion a year through the tax evasions of moonshiners. They peddle their stuff under labels you never heard of, offering the jump—steady at prices no honest producer could hope to match with pure and regulated products.

Twenty-five years after it was a crime to sell or take even a non-poisonous drink, nearly every state depends on its whisky taxes for the partial operation of schools, hospitals, old age assistance, aid to crippled children, blind benefits, pensions for policemen and firemen, veterans' relief, debt retirement, property tax relief and the like.

Jeeves, pour me a light one. It'll make me a humanitarian.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Over night Debbie Reynolds has matured and instead of little Debbie she may be called Deborah Reynolds. Personally, I don't want her to change her name but Bill Perlberg, who signed her for "The Rat Race," the Garson Kanin Broadway play, says it is such a strong dramatic role he feels that "Debbie" sounds too youthful.

He raved over Debbie and thinks she and Tony Curtis will be a great team in the Kanin play. It will be directed by Bob Mulligan, who did Tony Perkins' first picture "Fear Strikes Out."

Now don't for a minute think that the old reliable team of Perlberg-Seaton is breaking up. George will be busy on something else while "The Rat Race" is being brought to the screen. Meanwhile, Debbie first reports Monday morning for wardrobe at 20th for the Bing Crosby picture, "Say One for Me."

Mike Todd Jr., is in town for a few days with Bill Doll who was closely associated with Mike Sr., for many years. Young Todd goes to Spain in March for "Scent of Mystery," his first motion picture, and in this Elizabeth Taylor will be associated only in a financial way.

One thing Mike Jr., refuses to do is discuss the Eddie Fisher-Elizabeth Taylor romance, but he does talk to his father's widow very often and he will see her while he's here. He's a very nice boy, and a very capable one, and he has the good wishes of everyone in his production efforts.

Producer Victor Saville planes out of London this week end for Munich to see Maria Schell about his "Legacy of a Spy", an International espionage thriller.

One thing that will about cinch the deal with Maria is that Saville is asking her husband, Horst Haechler, to do the directing. When Maria and her bridegroom were in Hollywood they were devoted honeymooners and so in love they were separated only when Maria was actually in front of the MGM cameras.

Exteriors on "Legacy of a Spy" will be filmed in Switzerland, a very nice place to be during the winter holidays, another good reason for Maria and Horst to accept.

The name of Dean Martin came up for discussion the other night and it was the consensus that at the close of the year, Dean will be put down as one, if not THE actor, who has made the greatest stride in 1958.

I was sorry to hear that Dean won't be able to appear in "Oceans 11", with Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford. This is the picture the boys were scheduled to make on location in Las Vegas starting April 15. That's how far ahead Dean is tied up. He has a commitment with Columbia for "The Beach Boy", also at that time, and now Frank Sinatra, who was greatly disappointed, put in a bid for Jack Lemmon, to replace Dean.

That reminds me—"Slice of Lemmon," Jack's record, is building and building.

The unexpected trip of Marlon Brando's to New York was to see France Nuyen and her play "The World of Suzy Wong." This friendship is by no means over as has been printed. Even though the very attractive France's friends have begged her to give up Marlon, I am reliably informed that she has refused to end her friendship with the inscrutable Marlon.

He also worked while he was away, on ideas for "One-Eyed Jacks," and came home with so many new ideas, that he promptly called for a secretary to take notes on his new thoughts.

James Mason and National Telefilm Associates couldn't get together on price for their TV series "The Third Man", so James bowed out and Michael Rennie bowed in. Rennie recently completed "Man on a Mountain" for Walt Disney in Switzerland.

"Third Man" will consist of 39 episodes and will be made in conjunction with BBC. Twenty episodes will be made in Hollywood and 19 in London. Felix Jackson, who made a reputation for himself with Studio One, goes to London to acquaint himself with the English side of production.

Selected Stocks Feature Moderately Active Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Selected stocks once again featured in a mixed, moderately active stock market.

Drug shares, in particular, were given a whirl. Merck rose 4½, Smith, Kline & French and Parke Davis around 3 points and Pfizer 2 points.

In the electronics, Zenith ran up 8 points, Raytheon nearly 2 and Cornell-Dubilier over a point.

Emerson Electric rose 2½, Brunswick-Balke nearly 2, Sunshine Biscuit and Deere over 2 points each.

Dow - Jones closing averages, however, showed 30 industrials down 2.35 at 556.75, reflecting ex-dividend adjustment and declines of 2¼ points in DuPont, nearly 2 points in Goodyear, over a point each in Standard Oil of California and Union Carbide, and nearly a point in U.S. Steel.

Most of the selling was in recent favorites where profit-taking was in order.

Volume was moderate, totaling 3,360,000 shares for the session, compared with 3,630,000 Thursday.

Traders seemed content to hold to the sidelines in advance of the weekend. Some market commentators look for a period of further irregularity before the traditional year-end rally.

Most leading issues were little changed Friday. Oils, steels, motors, rails, utilities all had a predominance of small moves either side of the previous.

Parke Davis New topped the active list, followed by Benguet Consolidated and Olin Mathieson, the last up 2 at 43¼.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grains were weak to steady at the close Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to up⅛ cent; corn (old) unchanged to off ⅛ cent; (new) unchanged to up ⅜ cent; oats up ⅜ to off ¼ cent; rye up ¼ to off ⅛; soy beans up 1½ to off ½ cent.

Wheat failed to show much rallying power. Commercial interests did most trading. Liquidation by longs and commission houses featured the market.

Corn was largely bought and sold by commercial houses. Prices for faroff contracts showed some strength. Industries bought some deferred options. Cash grain interests bought old December.

Oats ruled fairly steady. December went to cash houses.

Grains at outside markets were steady. The range:

TAFT GETS REVIEW

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)— A Monongalia County Circuit Court conviction of Burl H. Taft of Morgantown on charges of illegal transportation of liquor will be reviewed by the State Supreme Court. The High court Monday agreed on the action although it had taken the opposite view when Taft asked for a review last last month.

Selected Stocks Feature Moderately Active Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Selected stocks once again featured in a mixed, moderately active stock market.

Drug shares, in particular, were given a whirl. Merck rose 4½, Smith, Kline & French and Parke Davis around 3 points and Pfizer 2 points.

In the electronics, Zenith ran up 8 points, Raytheon nearly 2 and Cornell-Dubilier over a point. Emerson Electric rose 2½, Brunswick-Balke nearly 2, Sunshine Biscuit and Deere over 2 points each.

Dow - Jones closing averages, however, showed 30 industrials down 2.35 at 556.75, reflecting ex-dividend adjustment and declines of 2¼ points in DuPont, nearly 2 points in Goodyear, over a point each in Standard Oil of California and Union Carbide, and nearly a point in U.S. Steel.

Most of the selling was in recent favorites where profit-taking was in order.

Volume was moderate, totaling 3,360,000 shares for the session, compared with 3,630,000 Thursday.

Traders seemed content to hold to the sidelines in advance of the weekend. Some market commentators look for a period of further irregularity before the traditional year-end rally.

Most leading issues were little changed Friday. Oils, steels, motors, rails, utilities all had a predominance of small moves either side of the previous.

Parke Davis New topped the active list, followed by Benguet Consolidated and Olin Mathieson, the last up 2 at 43¾.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) —Grains were weak to steady at the close Friday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed off ½ to up⅛ cent; corn (old) unchanged to off ⅛ cent; (new) unchanged to up ⅜ cent; oats up ⅜ to off ¼ cent; rye up ¼ to off ⅛; soy beans up 1½ to off ½ cent.

Wheat failed to show much rallying power. Commercial interests did most trading. Liquidation by longs and commission houses featured the market.

Corn was largely bought and sold by commercial houses. Prices for faroff contracts showed some strength. Industries bought some deferred options. Cash grain interests bought old December.

Oats ruled fairly steady. December went to cash houses.

Commercial buying of January soybeans firmed the grain somewhat. Japan has purchased 17,000 tons for December-January shipment.

Grains at outside markets were steady. The range:

Paper Union Will Act On 'Final' Offer

UPP, Westvaco End Bargaining Session

After ironing out details at a meeting in Washington yesterday, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company told the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, that its $750,000 package for a new labor contract at its Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., mills would stand as its final offer.

The joint meeting ended at 8:15 p.m. when Harry E. Scott, UPP vice president and chief union spokesman, said the union committee would report the outcome of the meeting to members of the three local unions.

D. C. Valentine, labor relations coordinator and chief spokesman for the company, urged members of the union bargaining committee to "take this offer back to your local unions and work for prompt ratification so your members can begin collecting the extra pay and enjoying the other benefits without further delay."

The contract was slated to go into effect on November 17 had it been ratified promptly.

Conciliator Attends

Gilbert S. McCutcheon, federal conciliator, sat in on the meeting called at Mr. Scott's request.

Mr. Valentine said the purpose of the meeting was to clarify details of the company's offer for "understanding and acceptance." He pointed out that money evidently is not an issue, since the union had stated publicly that it recognizes the wage offer to be a good one.

The company offer is an "outstanding proposal for settlement of our contract—better than the average for the entire paper industry during 1958," Mr. Valentine said.

He added the company has "gone as far as we can go in trying to arrive at a fair and sound settlement. There will be no further concessions. This is our best and final offer."

He said "It makes good sense for the bargaining committee to work and have the contract ratified promptly."

"To drag out settlement longer—for any reason—can only deprive your members of substantial gains which they have coming to them," he said.

He expressed the hope that the union "will not try to strike these mills with an offer like this in your hands. A strike would bring nothing but grief to everyone concerned.

"With the job security of 3,500 men and women, the competitive position of the three going mills and the economic life of three communities at stake, it just doesn't add up to resort to a strike in a situation like this."

Company's Final Offer

The company offer presented to the union as a 'package" on November 15, a company spokesman said, includes a wage increase ranging from four to 11 cents at Luke; an improved vacation plan giving three weeks off for 10 years of service instead of the present 15; hospital insurance in effect now at no increase in employe contribution in spite of increased costs, or a chance to get better hospital benefits by group choice either through the present plan or through Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

The present hospitalization plan at Luke provides $8 a day for hospital room and board and $80 for hospital extras. In spite of increased costs, Mr. Valentine said, this coverage will be continued at no added cost to the employes.

He explained that the company also had offered Luke employes a plan for broadened protection which would provide $10 a day for hospital room and board and $100 for incidental hospital extras. The cost of the premium on this added $2 and $20 would be shared equally by the company and employes.

Insurance Choice Available

Mr. Valentine reported employes at Luke will be given opportunity for a group choice to decide between the $10 and $100 hospital arrangement and Blue Cross-Shield.

Under the latter plan, he said, the company would pay to Blue Cross-Shield the amount of its contributions to the $10-$100 plan and employes would pay the difference.

Mr. Valentine also said the company has offered to initiate an "effective and profitable" training program especially designed

Rock Blocks B&O Traffic

This large rock came plunging down onto the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks in the Narrows last night from Lover's Leap. The impact sprung one set of eastbound tracks and the rock then came to rest near the other eastbound tracks. As a result Train No. 32 had to be rerouted over the westbound track into Cumberland.

Final Tests For Pumping Unit Slated

The City of Cumberland has been advised that the Corps of Engineers will make the final test of the viaduct pumping station next week.

Motors and pumps of the station will be run for one-hour tests Monday through Friday. Controls for the equipment will also be tested.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, said the city will have a representative at the test.

The test, officials said, will give city flood control maintenance workers an opportunity to become familiar with the equipment they will have to operate when the station is turned over to the city for operation.

Like the mill race and Ridgeley pumping stations, the viaduct unit is equipped with powerful pumps which will force storm water over flood walls whenever waters rise over the flap gates which normally allow water to flow into the stream.

Man Slashes Wrists, Arms

A 44-year-old Ridgeley man was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday after the assistant manager of a local theater noticed him bleeding profusely while standing in the outer lobby of the theater.

Donald Tabler was reported in "fair" condition last night at the hospital. Attaches said he was cut on both wrists and arms. Police believe the wounds were self-inflicted.

Wallace Keller Jr., 638 Bedford Street, the assistant manager of the Strand, said he had been standing in the outer lobby talking with the janitor.

He said Mr. Tabler came out of the interior of the theater and asked him for a light for a cigaret. Mr. Keller noticed the man's left hand was covered with blood and asked him what had happened.

The assistant manager rolled the man's left sleeve up to his elbow and noticed a deep gash apparently cut by a razor blade the man had in his possession.

Mr. Keller called an ambulance and city police, and applied pressure to the man's arm until the ambulance arrived.

After an inspection of the theater, the seat where Mr. Tabler had been sitting was located and blood was found. City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey is investigating the case, which was reported to police at 5:16 p.m.

Grill Taken From Playground Stand

City police are investigating a breaking and entering and theft of a large two-burner grill with a built-in warming oven from the Lamont Street playground.

Officer Royce Clayton, who made the initial investigation, said the lock on the door had been broken to gain entrance. A coffee urn was removed from the grill but was not taken. Nothing else was taken, he said. Police received a call from a neighborhood resident who said she noticed the door open Thursday and called police yesterday. Officer Clayton referred the case to City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey.

Will Elect Tonight

Operating Engineers Local 37-B, AFL-CIO, will elect its area steward at a meeting today at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Nominated for the post were William Moore, Mt. Savage; William Carder, LaVale, and Harry Hickle, Bowling Green.

Local 37-B has jurisdiction over 10 counties in Maryland and has about 150 members who operate bulldozers, cranes and other heavy construction equipment.

Large Rock Hits B&O Tracks From Lover's Leap

A large rock, estimated as weighing several tons, took the same plunge from Lover's Leap attributed by legend to an Indian princess. It partially disrupted traffic along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the Narrows for a while last night.

The boulder knocked one eastbound track out of line and came to rest on another eastbound track after the drop of some 700 feet from Wills Mountain.

Eastbound Train No. 32, a mail and express train bound for Baltimore from Chicago, came by the point at 6:36 p.m., apparently just a few minutes after the rock had fallen. The train was required to back up some two miles to Mt. Savage Junction where it was switched over to the westbound track to make the trip into Cumberland.

An electric drill was dispatched from Connellsville, Pa., by the B&O and was expected to have the rock broken up before the next eastbound train was to arrive at that point about 3 a.m. today.

Navy Enlists 2 Area Men

Two men have enlisted in the Navy for four years under the guaranteed high school graduates program, according to Lawrence C. Elliott, recruiter in charge at the local recruiting office.

Vincent Millard Shumaker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Shumaker, 22 Virginia Avenue, is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, class of 1958, and selected the high school seaman recruit field which covers mechanical and clerical trades in the Navy.

James Ronald Pyles, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pyles, 423 West Piedmont Street, Keyser, W. Va., is a graduate of Keyser High School, class of 1958, and selected the field of hospitalman.

These fields and other fields are available to all high school graduates interested in furthering their education. More information can be obtained by contacting the Navy recruiter at the Post Office.

False Alarm Checked

A false alarm was checked yesterday morning when Box 146 at the intersection of Patterson Avenue and Locust Street was pulled. West Side firemen responded at 8:52 a.m.

Knox Street Barriers To Come Down

Barricades protecting the widened section of Knox Street will come down this morning, according to Street Commissioner John J. Long.

The job is virtually complete, except for a 30-foot section of pipe handrail to be placed on the top of a concrete retaining wall at the Klavuhn coal yard.

The street has been widened from 15 to 24 feet from Centre Street to the B&O Railroad tracks under a contract awarded to Orrie Sensabaugh.

The last concrete needed for the work was poured Wednesday.

It is being opened ahead of time only because the contractor used high early strength (quick setting) concrete.

To pour the last two sections Wednesday, the contractor had to thaw the ground by the use of heaters and to cure the pours by using a tent and oil heaters to prevent it from being damaged by frost.

Suit Filed In Fatal Crash

A damage suit seeking $35,000 has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The two-part suit was brought as a result of the death June 7, 1957, of a youth who was fatally injured in an accident on a road in Constitution Park.

Mrs. Helen (Hammond) Harvey, of Baltimore, mother of Robert G. Harvey, seeks $10,000 in her capacity as his surviving mother and $25,000 as administratrix of his estate. Attorney Hugh A. McMullen of the Gunter and Geppert firm filed the two-part suit against John Newcomer, 8 Marion Street, owner of the car in which Harvey was a passenger, and Robert F. Newcomer, same address, who was identified as the unlicensed driver of the car which struck two trees and a drinking fountain in the park. Harvey was a passenger in the car.

Routch Visits Here

Dr. W. Valgene Routch, former supervisor of music education in the Allegany County public schools, made a brief visit to the Board of Education office here this week. He is now music supervisor at Allentown, Pa.

Hi-Y Delegates Register

County Schools' Fire Safety Rating Is Best

Consultant Cites High Standards

Public buildings in Cumberland have the best fire-safety rating in the entire state of Maryland and this high standard is primarily because of the condition of the Allegany County public schools.

That observation was made by Robert E. Barnard Jr. of the Barnes-Barnard-Geare Agency, who serves as insurance consultant for the Allegany County Board of Education.

Mr. Barnes observed that parents could get favorable answers for most of the fire safety questions the National Education Association has suggested they ask about their schools.

Attention on school fire safety was dramatically emphasized this week by the tragic blaze at Our Lady of the Angels School in Chicago, where 87 pupils and three nuns perished.

Mr. Barnard pointed out that there are only four cities in Maryland with Class A fire safety ratings and Cumberland is one of them. Baltimore, Annapolis and Hagerstown are the others.

Annual Inspections

Cumberland got the best rating for its public buildings because of the large number of fire escapes, fire extinguishers, fire drills and fire prevention programs conducted in the homes and schools.

Insurance firms conduct annual inspections of all of the Allegany County public schools for the purposes of safety and evaluation, in order to determine whether the Board of Education carries adequate insurance on these buildings.

All of the public school buildings in Allegany County constructed in the past 20 years have been built as fire-resistant structures. They all have heating plant and fuel rooms separated from other portions of the building by fire-resistant walls and ceilings and by approved fire doors.

Other Safety Features

In all but about ten per cent of the county schools the steam and hot water pipes are covered with heat-resistant material where necessary. Only the newer schools have wastepaper chutes and they are all fire resistant.

All of the exit doors in all of the county public schools open outward and Mr. Barnard stressed that 98 per cent of the county schools are equipped with panic bar locks which permit the doors to open easily from the inside.

There is no window screening on the school windows to make difficult an escape through the windows.

Concerning the final question raised by the NEA, an affirmative answer can be given only insofar as the new schools are concerned. Only the new schools of the past eight or ten years have stairways and other vertical openings in the building enclosed by fire-resistant partitions and self-closing fire doors at each floor level.

Church Notices For Christmas Due Dec. 16

All church news concerning services or programs on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day must be in the office of the Times-News not later than 1 p. m. Tuesday, December 16 in order to assure publication.

So as to avoid confusion news items and church notices should be marked "Christmas Services."

There is no change in deadline for church notices of Sunday, December 21. To be included on the regular Saturday page, they must be in the Times-News office no later than 11 p. m. Thursday, December 18.

Chanukah, Jewish Feast, Opens At Sundown Today

Members of the B'er Chayim and Beth Jacob congregations here will join in the celebration of Chanukah, the eight-day Jewish holiday which begins at sundown today and extends until sundown on December 14.

The holiday commemorates history's first struggle for religious freedom.

Rabbi Max Selinger, spiritual leader of B'er Chayim congregation, said last night the religious festival will begin at the Temple on Union Street this evening.

He will light the first of nine candles which will be lighted during the holiday season. On Sunday, December 14 at 2:30 p. m. the congregational celebration will be held at the Temple.

Sunday School Service

Rabbi Bertram Cohen, spiritual leader of the Beth Jacob congregation, announces that a special program will be presented by the Sunday school tomorrow afternoon.

The program will feature a dramatization, "The Little Candle That Wouldn't." There will also be candle drills, songs and recitations.

The program, which will begin at 4 p. m. in the vestry of the synagogue, will be followed by a box supper.

On Saturday, December 14, a special Chanukah Sabbath service will be held. On that day, Mark Mamolon, of Westernport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mamolon, will become Bar Mitzvah in the Beth Jacob synagogue.

Marks Judean Victory

Originating about 165 years before the Christian era, Chanuka, which means dedication, marks the victory of the ancient Judeans over the huge Grecian army which sought to impose idolatry upon them.

Like all Jewish holidays, Chanukah is hailed both in the home and in the synagogue or temple. A special Chanukah ritual, traditional hoiliday melodies, sermons which emphasize the right to worship God as one sees fit—these mark the devotions.

The Chanukah candelabrum, which is lighted in the home has nine holders. Each night an additional taper is lighted, signifying the added strength which comes to those enlisted in a worthy cause.

Maplehurst Owes County $4,251 Total

The Maplehurst Country Club still owes Allegany County $4,251.58 for a road constructed into its golf course by the County Roads Department, according to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly.

James S. Getty, as a representative of the country club, appeared at yesterday's meeting of the county commissioners to find out how much was still owed the county. He reported that $1,000 had been paid.

Mr. Skelly said that $1,232.20 was spent for labor, $767.89 for equipment, $2,088.56 for stone, $1,661.60 for oil and $241 for pipe, a total cost of $5,991. That was nearly $2,000 more than the $4,000 the club thought would be the maximum cost.

The total cost was later adjusted downward to $5,251.58, leaving $4,251.58 still to be paid. Mr. Getty said he would discuss the matter with his board and see what could be done about paying the balance.

Mr. Skelly was instructed to submit a report on all such funds still owed the County Roads Department.

Fell 58 Feet

Officials of Tidewater - Hazelwood, contractor for the paper mill construction work, said Mr. Morgan fell 58 feet from one of the upper floors in the new paper machine building to the concrete slab below.

The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

Mr. Morgan was fatally injured about 9:30 a.m. while he was at work pouring concrete. He apparently lost his balance and fell.

This was the second fatal accident within a month on the construction project. On November 10, Richard F. DeWitt, 32, of Morgantown, W.Va., employed as a boilermaker, dropped 50 feet from a scaffolding and died.

Officials said Mr. Morgan was working in a crew with W. C. Austin of Cumberland as foreman and Roy Layton and Ollie C. Burns of Bayard as the other members.

They said there were no witnesses to the accident. The accident report said his fellow workers noticed him one moment, and the next time they looked in his direction he had disappeared.

The work crew was putting a curbing on the floor that was 20 feet wide and 228 feet long.

Native Of Mt. Savage

The victim had been employed as a laborer of Tidewater-Hazelwood since August 1957.

Everett Men Arrested For Investigation

Two Rifles, Revolver Found In Possession

Two Everett, Pa., men were arrested here yesterday and are being held for investigation after police learned they had in their possession about 30 dynamite caps, two loaded rifles and ammunition, a .32 caliber automatic revolver and a box of ammunition.

The men were arrested at a local hotel yesterday afternoon by City Police Detective James E. Van who took them to jail, where they are being detained for questioning by Pennsylvania authorities.

Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn said that a car bearing Pennsylvania tags had been illegally parked near Central YMCA for the past couple of days. Lt. Raymond R. Johnston received permission from Chief Flynn to have it towed away.

After the car was towed to a North Centre Street parking area, the proprietor noticed the guns and ammunition in the car and notified police.

Lt. Van said two loaded U.S. Model 17 Eddyston rifles were found under a blanket on the floor of the back of the car where there was also a quantity of canned foodstuff, bread and crackers.

Also found was the automatic revolver, a box of ammunition and the dynamite caps. Van said a thorough search was made of the hotel room where the two men were taken into custody.

One of the prisoners said they registered at the hotel on Wednesday after dark and prior to registering at the hotel had been in Ridgeley.

Toys For Tots Drive To End December 12

There are only a few days left for residents of the Cumberland area to say "Merry Christmas" to less fortunate children.

The area-wide "Toys for Tots" drive must end Friday, December 12, so all toys can be distributed before Christmas, according to Captain Billy C. Menges, commanding officer of the 6th Infantry Company, USMCR.

The Cumberland Marine Corps Reservists are conducting the fifth annual "Toys for Tots" campaign here in cooperation with the Associated Charities.

Capt. Menges said persons wishing to donate toys may do so by placing them in barrels located at Powers Sunoco Service Station, Henderson Avenue, or Hill Toy stores here or in LaVale.

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory workers may deposit their toys in the barrel located at the entrance to the plant.

Arrangements can be made for pick-ups by calling the Marine Corps Reserve Training Center on McKaig's Hill.

Capt. Menges said that distribution of the toys will be made December 15-18 and contributions made from now on should be new toys or toys not needing repair.

Queen City Bus Lines, Inc., has purchased three more good used buses, according to Lawrence L. Grim, secretary-treasurer of the corporation formed here in October to provide transit service in the city.

This makes six good used buses which have been purchased by the bus line to replace worn-out equipment.

All of the buses acquired by the drivers are in good running order and are 31-passenger vehicles. Detroit is replacing them with Diesel-powered buses.

Paper Union Will Act On 'Final' Offer

UPP, Westvaco End Bargaining Session

After ironing out details at a meeting in Washington yesterday, West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company told the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, that its $750,000 package for a new labor contract at its Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., mills would stand as its final offer.

The joint meeting ended at 8:15 p.m. when Harry E. Scott, UPP vice president and chief union spokesman, said the union committee would report the outcome of the meeting to members of the three local unions.

D. C. Valentine, labor relations coordinator and chief spokesman for the company, urged members of the union bargaining committee to "take this offer back to your local unions and work for prompt ratification so your members can begin collecting the extra pay and enjoying the other benefits without further delay."

The contract was slated to go into effect on November 17 had it been ratified promptly.

Conciliator Attends

Gilbert S. McCutcheon, federal conciliator, sat in on the meeting called at Mr. Scott's request.

Mr. Valentine said the purpose of the meeting was to clarify details of the company's offer for "understanding and acceptance." He pointed out that money evidently is not an issue, since the union had stated publicly that it recognizes the wage offer to be a good one.

The company offer is an "outstanding proposal for settlement of our contract—better than the average for the entire paper industry during 1958," Mr. Valentine said.

He added the company has "gone as far as we can go in trying to arrive at a fair and sound settlement. There will be no further concessions. This is our best and final offer."

He said "It makes good sense for the bargaining committee to work and have the contract ratified promptly."

"To drag out settlement longer—for any reason—can only deprive your members of substantial gains which they have coming to them," he said.

He expressed the hope that the union "will not try to strike these mills with an offer like this in your hands. A strike would bring nothing but grief to everyone concerned.

"With the job security of 3,500 men and women, the competitive position of the three going mills and the economic life of three communities at stake, it just doesn't add up to resort to a strike in a situation like this."

Company's Final Offer

The company offer presented to the union as a "package" on November 15, a company spokesman said, includes a wage increase ranging from four to 11 cents at Luke; an improved vacation plan giving three weeks off for 10 years of service instead of the present 15; hospital insurance in effect now at no increase in employe contribution in spite of increased costs, or a chance to get better hospital benefits by group choice either through the present plan or through Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

The present hospitalization plan at Luke provides $8 a day for hospital room and board and $80 for hospital extras. In spite of increased costs, Mr. Valentine said, this coverage will be continued at no added cost to the employes.

He explained that the company also had offered Luke employes a plan for broadened protection which would provide $10 a day for hospital room and board and $100 for incidental hospital extras. The cost of the premium on this added $2 and $20 would be shared equally by the company and employes.

Insurance Choice Available

Mr. Valentine reported employes at Luke will be given opportunity for a group choice to decide between the $10 and $100 hospital arrangement and Blue Cross-Shield.

Under the latter plan, he said, the company would pay to Blue Cross-Shield the amount of its contributions to the $10-$100 plan and employes would pay the difference.

Mr. Valentine also said the company has offered to initiate an "effective and profitable" training program especially designed

16 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Rock Blocks B&O Traffic

This large rock came plunging down onto the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks in the Narrows last night from Lover's Leap. The impact sprung one set of eastbound tracks and the rock then came to rest near the other eastbound tracks. As a result Train No. 32 had to be rerouted over the westbound track into Cumberland.

Final Tests For Pumping Unit Slated

The City of Cumberland has been advised that the Corps of Engineers will make the final test of the viaduct pumping station next week.

Motors and pumps of the station will be run for one-hour tests Monday through Friday. Controls for the equipment will also be tested.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, said the city will have a representative at the test.

The test, officials said, will give city flood control maintenance workers an opportunity to become familiar with the equipment they will have to operate when the station is turned over to the city for operation.

Like the mill race and Ridgeley pumping stations, the viaduct unit is equipped with powerful pumps which will force storm water over flood walls whenever waters rise over the flap gates which normally allow water to flow into the stream.

Man Slashes Wrists, Arms

A 44-year-old Ridgeley man was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday after the assistant manager of a local theater noticed him bleeding profusely while standing in the outer lobby of the theater.

Donald Tabler was reported in "fair" condition last night at the hospital. Attaches said he was cut on both wrists and arms. Police believe the wounds were self-inflicted.

Wallace Keller Jr., 638 Bedford Street, the assistant manager of the Strand, said he had been standing in the outer lobby talking with the janitor.

He said Mr. Tabler came out of the interior of the theater and asked him for a light for a cigaret. Mr. Keller noticed the man's left hand was covered with blood and asked him what had happened.

The assistant manager rolled the man's left sleeve up to his elbow and noticed a deep gash apparently cut by a razor blade the man had in his possession.

Mr. Keller called an ambulance and city police, and applied pressure to the man's arm until the ambulance arrived.

After an inspection of the theater, the seat where Mr. Tabler had been sitting was located and blood was found. City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey is investigating the case, which was reported to police at 5:16 p.m.

Grill Taken From Playground Stand

City police are investigating a breaking and entering and theft of a large two-burner grill with a built-in warming oven from the Lamont Street playground.

Officer Royce Clayton, who made the initial investigation, said the lock on the door had been broken to gain entrance. A coffee urn was removed from the grill but was not taken. Nothing else was taken, he said. Police received a call from a neighborhood resident who said she noticed the door open Thursday and called police yesterday. Officer Clayton referred the case to City Police Detective Kenneth Morrissey.

Will Elect Tonight

Operating Engineers Local 37-B, AFL-CIO, will elect its area steward at a meeting today at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

Nominated for the post were William Moore, Mt. Savage; William Carder, LaVale, and Harry Hickle, Bowling Green.

Local 37-B has jurisdiction over 10 counties in Maryland and has about 150 members who operate bulldozers, cranes and other heavy construction equipment.

Large Rock Hits B&O Tracks From Lover's Leap

A large rock, estimated as weighing several tons, took the same plunge from Lover's Leap attributed by legend to an Indian princess. It partially disrupted traffic along the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in the Narrows for a while last night.

The boulder knocked one eastbound track out of line and came to rest on another eastbound track after the drop of some 700 feet from Wills Mountain.

Eastbound Train No. 32, a mail and express train bound for Baltimore from Chicago, came by the point at 6:36 p.m., apparently just a few minutes after the rock had fallen. The train was required to back up some two miles to Mt. Savage Junction where it was switched over to the westbound track to make the trip into Cumberland.

An electric drill was dispatched from Connellsville, Pa., by the B&O and was expected to have the rock broken up before the next eastbound train was to arrive at that point about 3 a.m. today.

Navy Enlists 2 Area Men

False Alarm Checked

A false alarm was checked yesterday morning when Box 146 at the intersection of Patterson Avenue and Locust Street was pulled. West Side firemen responded at 8:52 a.m.

Knox Street Barriers To Come Down

Barricades protecting the widened section of Knox Street will come down this morning, according to Street Commissioner John J. Long.

The job is virtually complete, except for a 30-foot section of pipe handrail to be placed on the top of a concrete retaining wall at the Klavuhn coal yard.

The street has been widened from 15 to 24 feet from Centre Street to the B&O Railroad tracks under a contract awarded to Orrie Sensabaugh.

The last concrete needed for the work was poured Wednesday.

It is being opened ahead of time only because the contractor used high early strength (quick setting) concrete.

To pour the last two sections Wednesday, the contractor had to thaw the ground by the use of heaters and to cure the pours by using a tent and oil heaters to prevent it from being damaged by frost.

Suit Filed In Fatal Crash

A damage suit seeking $35,000 has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The two-part suit was brought as a result of the death June 7, 1957, of a youth who was fatally injured in an accident on a road in Constitution Park.

Mrs. Helen (Hammond) Harvey, of Baltimore, mother of Robert G. Harvey, seeks $10,000 in her capacity as his surviving mother and $25,000 as administratrix of his estate. Attorney Hugh A. McMullen of the Gunter and Geppert firm filed the two-part suit against John Newcomer, 8 Marion Street, owner of the car in which Harvey was a passenger, and Robert F. Newcomer, same address, who was identified as the unlicensed driver of the car which struck two trees and a drinking fountain in the park. Harvey was a passenger in the car.

County Schools' Fire Safety Rating Is Best

Consultant Cites High Standards

Public buildings in Cumberland have the best fire-safety rating in the entire state of Maryland and this high standard is primarily because of the condition of the Allegany County public schools.

That observation was made by Robert E. Barnard Jr. of the Barnes-Barnard-Geare Agency, who serves as insurance consultant for the Allegany County Board of Education.

Mr. Barnes observed that parents could get favorable answers for most of the fire safety questions the National Education Association has suggested they ask about their schools.

Attention on school fire safety was dramatically emphasized this week by the tragic blaze at Our Lady of the Angels School in Chicago, where 87 pupils and three nuns perished.

Mr. Barnard pointed out that there are only four cities in Maryland with Class A fire safety ratings and Cumberland is one of them. Baltimore, Annapolis and Hagerstown are the others.

Annual Inspections

Cumberland got the best rating for its public buildings because of the large number of fire escapes, fire extinguishers, fire drills and fire prevention programs conducted in the homes and schools.

Insurance firms conduct annual inspections of all of the Allegany County public schools for the purposes of safety and evaluation, in order to determine whether the Board of Education carries adequate insurance on these buildings.

All of the public school buildings in Allegany County constructed in the past 20 years have been built as fire-resistant structures. They all have heating plant and fuel rooms separated from other portions of the building by fire-resistant walls and ceilings and by approved fire doors.

Other Safety Features

In all but about ten per cent of the county schools the steam and hot water pipes are covered with heat - resistant material where necessary. Only the newer schools have wastepaper chutes and they are all fire resistant.

All of the exit doors in all of the county public schools open outward and Mr. Barnard stressed that 98 per cent of the county schools are equipped with panic bar locks which permit the doors to open easily from the inside.

There is no window screening on the school windows to make difficult an escape through the windows.

Concerning the final question raised by the NEA, an affirmative answer can be given only insofar as the new schools are concerned. Only the new schools of the past eight or ten years have stairways and other vertical openings in the building enclosed by fire-resistant partitions and self-closing fire doors at each floor level.

There is no change in deadline for church notices of Sunday, December 21. To be included on the regular Saturday page, they must be in the Times-News office no later than 11 p. m. Thursday, December 18.

Chanukah, Jewish Feast, Opens At Sundown Today

Members of the B'er Chayim and Beth Jacob congregations here will join in the celebration of Chanukah, the eight-day Jewish holiday which begins at sundown today and extends until sundown on December 14.

The holiday commemorates history's first struggle for religious freedom.

Rabbi Max Selinger, spiritual leader of B'er Chayim congregation, said last night the religious festival will begin at the Temple on Union Street this evening.

He will light the first of nine candles which will be lighted during the holiday season. On Sunday, December 14 at 2:30 p. m. the congregational celebration will be held at the Temple.

Sunday School Service

Rabbi Bertram Cohen, spiritual leader of the Beth Jacob congregation, announces that a special program will be presented by the Sunday school tomorrow afternoon.

The program will feature a dramatization, "The Little Candle That Wouldn't." There will also be candle drills, songs and recitations.

The program, which will begin at 4 p. m. in the vestry of the synagogue, will be followed by a box supper.

On Saturday, December 14, a special Chanukah Sabbath service will be held. On that day, Mark Mamolon, of Westernport, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Mamolon, will become Bar Mitzvah in the Beth Jacob synagogue.

Marks Judean Victory

Originating about 165 years before the Christian era, Chanuka, which means dedication, marks the victory of the ancient Judeans over the huge Grecian army which sought to impose idolatry upon them.

Like all Jewish holidays, Chanukah is hailed both in the home and in the synagogue or temple. A special Chanukah ritual, traditional hoiliday melodies, sermons which emphasize the right to worship God as one sees fit—these mark the devotions.

The Chanukah candelabrum, which is lighted in the home has nine holders. Each night an additional taper is lighted, signifying the added strength which comes to those enlisted in a worthy cause.

Maplehurst Owes County $4,251 Total

The Maplehurst Country Club still owes Allegany County $4,251.58 for a road constructed into its golf course by the County Roads Department, according to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly.

James S. Getty, as a representative of the country club, appeared at yesterday's meeting of the county commissioners to find out how much was still owed the county. He reported that $1,000 had been paid.

Mr. Skelly said that $1,232.20 was spent for labor, $767.89 for equipment, $2,088.56 for stone, $1,661.60 for oil and $241 for pipe, a total cost of $5,991. That was nearly $2,000 more than the $4,000 the club thought would be the maximum cost.

The total cost was later adjusted downward to $5,251.58, leaving $4,251.58 still to be paid. Mr. Getty said he would discuss the matter with his board and see what could be done about paying the balance.

Mr. Skelly was instructed to submit a report on all such funds still owed the County Roads Department.

At the same meeting, Commissioner William A. Wilson was designated to make a survey of the filing system of the County Assessing Department.
